Allies Having Difficulty

France Stymies West's Session On Berlin Stand

Parley Set For London Meets Delay

'Big 4' Aides Plan To Continue Talks At Washington Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cancellation of a proposed Western Big Four meeting underlined today the difficulties the Allies will face among themselves if they ever get into negotiations with Russia over Berlin.

The proposed meeting of senior diplomats from the United States, Britain, France and West Germany in London this week to work out a common negotiating position had been tentatively agreed on, a State Department spokesman said Saturday.

Sunday the spokesman said there had been no decision on the high-level parley and, instead, the Big Four ambassadorial group which has been meeting here regularly on the Berlin crisis "will continue here in Washington."

The reason for the switch, informants said, was France, which objected that it would be premature to get into discussions on negotiations when the Kremlin has offered nothing the West can negotiate about.

The future of inter-allied talks remained obscure as the Western diplomats discussed what to do next. The United States had an invitation out to the proposed participants to come to Washington.

In London the Foreign Office said its delegate, Deputy Undersecretary Sir Evelyn Shuckburgh, would go to Washington. A West German spokesman said over the weekend the Bonn delegate, Deputy Foreign Minister Karl Carstens, planned to leave for London Wednesday as scheduled. In Washington, Asst. Secretary of State Foyd Kohler dropped his plan to go to London.

France's Jean Lalois, Director of European Affairs in the Foreign Ministry, apparently was going to no meeting on negotiations —either in London or Washington.

The French stand is that the Allies would weaken their bargaining position by rushing into negotiations with the Reds over a Moscow-caused dispute while the Kremlin is threatening Berlin and has displayed no willingness to negotiate on anything the West can give up.

FATAL CRASH. A shell is all that remains of this hardtop convertible which police say crossed the medial strip of the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Downingtown, Pa., late Sunday night and slammed headon into another auto. Three died and four others were injured. Killed were Domingo Qulies, 26, of Chicago, a passenger in this car, and Carl Schick, 21, of W. Mifflin, Pa., driver of the other auto, and his passenger, Miss Duane Krier, 19, of Hatboro, Pa. (UPI Telephoto)

Taylor Sees Army Use As Last Resort

No U.S. Men Slated In South Viet Nam Unless Great Need

HONOLULU (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor apparently would recommend sending U.S. troops to South Viet Nam only as a last resort to save that key Southeast Asian nation from communism.

This was the indication today as President Kennedy's personal military adviser paused here for a day of conferences before resuming his fact-finding mission taking him halfway around the world.

Taylor, who flew in late Sunday with 15 specialist-aides, planned to talk with Adm. Harry D. Felt about current conditions in South Viet Nam, which is under increasing red guerrilla assault.

Felt, U.S. commander for the Pacific, has just returned from a swing through South Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand, where he attended a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

A decision on whether to recommend the use of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam awaits the results of what may be a two or three-week personal study on the scene.

But it is known that any recommendation by Taylor to send in American GIs would be made unhappily.

If the move did come, support-type troops likely would be landed first. Combat units would go in only if there was an extreme need.

Talking with reporters on his arrival here, Taylor said: "I am not going to Viet Nam to offer American troops. I am going to see whether they are needed.

"I might add that nobody wants to send American troops anywhere."

Taylor is seeking a formula that would bring swift results in stemming an apparently rising Communist threat to the pro-Western regime in South Viet Nam.

Lost Bomber Mars Test Of Air Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The disappearance of a bomber carrying eight men has marred an otherwise highly successful major test of North American air defenses.

The B52G jet was one of more than 2,250 U.S., Canadian and British planes that participated Saturday in the 12-hour mock aerial war, Sky Shield II. The North American Air Defense Command said: "The exercise was 99.9 per cent effective, and the results were as good as we could possibly expect."

The eight-jet bomber, attached to Seymour Johnson Air Force Base at Goldsboro, N.C., was believed to have run out of fuel. Air and surface craft swept a wide area in the Atlantic in search of the plane after it was reported missing early Sunday.

After the defense test ended at midnight Saturday, commercial air travel resumed across the continent. Except for mercy flights and a few other essential ones, no civilian planes were allowed to cross the skies during the mock war.

The exercise began with a simulated mass missile attack. Then more than 200 U.S. Strategic Air Command and British Royal Air Force bombers playing the role of "enemy" planes bored in for a follow-up assault.

Rep. Rayburn Rallies After Weekend Lapse

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn, 79, remained seriously ill with incurable cancer today after a weekend during which he weakened and then rallied.

The Texas Democrat has been at Baylor Hostpial since Oct. 2.

In its morning bulletin Sunday the hospital said Rayburn's condition was "only fair," that he seemed weaker and had "periods of confusion."

Adoula Says Congo Wants Rich Katanga

Premier Protests New Pact; Tshombe Issues A Warning

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula, protesting the new U.N.-Katanga pact strengthens President Moise Tshombe, declared the central Congo government is still determined to take over the rich secessionist province.

The U.N. meanwhile got a warning from Tshombe that unless the U.N. Advisory Committee on the Congo ratifies the agreement, he will hold as hostages the 184 U.N. troops taken prisoner in the recent fighting.

Dr. Sture Linner, head of U.N. operations in the Congo, appeared harried after a heated two-hour conference with Adoula Sunday night.

A U.N. spokesman said Adoula was "not very happy" about the new cease-fire agreement signed Friday that, in effect, recognizes the right of Katanga to defend itself from attack by central government forces.

Adoula declared in a radio address that the Leopoldville government has a right to use "suitable means" to end Katanga's secession. He did not elaborate, but central Congolese forces are already massed on the Katanga border.

A U.N. spokesman said the U.N. was not backing down on its determination to clean out foreign mercenaries in the Katanga forces.

The new agreement, he said, merely supplements the provisional cease-fire reached with Tshombe at Ndola Sept. 20.

The whole agreement must be ratified by the U.N. Advisory Committee on the Congo before becoming permanent. The commitee was expected to meet today in New York.

26 Flee Small Fire In Home For Children

Twenty - six youngsters were evacuated safely from the Hancock County Children's Home at Pughtown Sunday afternoon when a small fire broke out in an electrical appliance in the basement.

Failure of an automatic shutoff device on an electrical clothes dryer caused some garments to catch fire.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Ellen Dailey, supervisor, who heard a muffled explosion when heat from the burning clothing and bed garments blew open the door of the dryer.

The youngsters were evcuated from the building as a safety precaution while the fire was being extinguished. They left in orderly fashion, using one of the fire escapes.

The supervisor and a 17-year-old boy extinguished the flames with buckets of water from a sink in the basement.

The dryer was damaged badly, along with the garments that were inside, but there was no other damage.

Chester and New Cumberland fire departments responded to the alarm at 4 p. m. The fire was out before they arrived.

German Reds Use Tear Gas On Berliners

Grenades Thrown Into Crowd When 5 Flee Border House

BERLIN (AP) — East German police threw tear gas grenades at at West Berlin crowd today after five East Berliners jumped from a second-story window of a border house into a sand-filled truck, West Berlin police said.

The incident occurred at Bernauerstrasse. There, apartment houses on one side of the street are in the Soviet sector, while the sidewalks below are in West Berlin.

At around noon, the truck roared up to one apartment house. Seconds later three men and two women jumped into it. West Berliners standing nearby cheered. The Vopos — East German people's police—were taken by surprise but after realizing what happened tossed several tear gas grenades into the West Berlin crowd.

West Berlin police said the two women suffered minor injuries in the jump.

The East Germans, meanwhile, acknowledged that mobilization of the workers' militia to man the barricades has dealt a serious economic blow.

Red economic chief Alfred Neumann told the party's Central Committee Sunday "the withdrawal of workers from a factory for outside activities not connect-

Chief Jails Brothers For Ohio View Entry

An alleged burglary at Mickey's Place, a tavern at Ohio View, was broken up Sunday at 11:55 p. m. when Police Chief Guy St. Esprit, checking doors, found one unlocked.

He said two men who gave their names as Albert Riley Coffey, 29, and his brother, Jim Robert Coffey, 27, both of Rochester, N. Y., are in Midland Jail waiting a hearing today and transfer to Beaver County Jail.

St. Esprit said he found a door unlocked and walked in on Albert Coffey, who was kneeling near a cigarette machine that had been broken open. The other man was in the back of the tavern, St. Esprit said.

Nehru Visit Seen Eyed By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew back from a weekend on Cape Cod today for conferences with the president of Finland, Russia's western-inclined next-door neighbor.

As he headed for the capital, Kennedy was understood to be planning a quiet conference with Prime Minister Nehru of India at his Hyannis Port haven next month.

Arrangements were being made for Kennedy to exchange views with Nehru both in Washington and in the seclusion of his vacation home the first weekend of November.

Kennedy is known to have been interested for some time in talking personally with the leader of the world's largest uncommitted nation in the cold peace, as he puts it, between the free and Communist worlds. The possibility of a get-together before the year ends has been in the wind since early summer.

President Ayub Khan, the leader of India's neighbor Pakistan, visited Washington in July. Nehru's trip may lack the ceremonial trappings of a state visit but would provide the opportunity for a face-to-face discussion, without formalities, of the Communist threat to Asia as well as the glolal aspects of the fundamental East-West conflict.

Mrs. Kennedy was going back to Washington with the chief executive to be hostess at a White House luncheon for President and Mrs. Kekkonen.

At an afternoon conference, Kennedy and Kekkonen were sure to discuss a third "K" in the family of government chiefs, Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He would naturally figure in the personal exchange over Finland's ties with the West from a position on the Soviet border.

The Kennedys, who may spend one more weekend on the cape, were kept ashore Sunday by dismal weather. Lt. Cmdr. Walter Slye, skipper of the presidential yacht Honey Fitz, reported sighting a few snowflakes in the drizzle and mist that clothed Nantucket Sound.

Driver Fined In 'Fantastic' Traffic Case

Judge Expresses Astonishment At Story Of Defense

A North Side youth was fined and given a suspended jail term today in Municipal Court after a hearing before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who declared the circumstances related by the youth and his uncle, arrested 45 minutes later for drunken driving, were "fantastic."

James E. Sturgill, 20, of Henry Ave. was fined $25 and costs and a 10-day jail term was suspended after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without an operator's license.

A hearing for his uncle, Robert Sturgill, 46, also of Henry Ave., on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor and driving without an operator's permit was continued until Oct. 24 at 9 a. m. at the request of his counsel, Atty. William S. Foulks. His bond was set at $500.

James E. Sturgill was cited at 3 a. m. Saturday on Walnut St. for driving without a license and police warned the uncle not to drive.

However, police said Robert Sturgill drove away when officers left the scene and was arrested at 3:42 a. m. on Gardendale Ave.

They told Judge Chertoff they were hunting milk for James Sturgill's baby and also attempting to locate the home of the unidentified owner of the car they were driving when they were picked up.

Woman Due Hearing After Tavern Arrest

Mrs. Patty Bowers of 2nd St., Chester, a bar maid at Pat's Tavern at Carolina Ave. and 5th St., will be given a hearing tonight before Mayor Ray Collins on a charge of operating the tavern after the legal closing hour of 1 a. m. Sunday.

She was cited Sunday at 1:30 a. m. by Patrolman Clarence Lennens, who reported she unlocked the door of the tavern at 1:28 a. m. and admitted two persons and at 1:30 a. m. to admit him. He said there were six other persons in the tavern.

Carl Amedeo of Railroad St., Chester, operates the tavern.

Ike Assured Kennedy On Jets For Tito

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post said today it had learned President Kennedy was assured by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that the shipment of surplus Saber jet fighters to Yugoslavia was in the national interest.

"Gen. Eisenhower is said to have told President Kennedy," the Post story said, "that the planes shipped to Yugoslavia were obsolescent and and would never be a factor in a major war of the future.

"The decision to ship the planes to Yugoslavia was made before the change of administration last January and explained to the incoming president by the outgoing

Nigerians Protest

Stray Postcard Brings Peace Corps 'Black Eye'

IBADAN, Nigera (AP)—A postcard that went astray has given the American Peace Corps its first black eye in the field.

Nigerian university students demanded Sunday that the corps unit sent to teach Nigerians be expelled because of criticism of primitive living conditions in this year-old African republic written by an enthusiastic—but "thoughtless"—girl in the group.

Her postcard home, dropped accidentally on the campus, stirred 1,000 students at Ibadan University College to an angry demonstration denouncing the American volunteers as "agents of imperialism."

Margery Michelmore, 23, Smith College honor graduate from Foxboro, Mass., quickly apologized to the university authorities for writing the "thoughtless card" and offered to resign from the corps in an attempt to quiet the uproar.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver said in Washington he talked to the Nigerian ambassador and "he did not seem disturbed. He said it was the type of thing you could expect in this kind of operation, and I agreed with him."

The anti-American demonstration was organized after someone reportedly had found on the campus grounds the postcard that Miss Michelmore had written to a friend in Boston telling him: "With all the training we had, we were really not prepared for the squalor and absolutely primitive living conditions rampant both in the cities and the bush.

"We had had no idea about what 'underdeveloped' means. It

45 Cubans Reach Miami After Small Boat Rescue

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Forty-five Cuban refugees, 18 of them children, arrived in Miami today after a Coast Guard rescue off the Bahamas island of Cay Sal with a U.S. destroyer standing by.

The destroyer sped to the scene after reports that a Cuban boat had fired on the small, leaking craft bearing the refugees. But refugee arrivals in Miami said they heard no shots.

"We heard no shots, but later heard rumors that there had been some," was the unanimous report of six women aboard.

The women and children were taken to a Miami hotel. The 21 men aboard were detained by immigration authorities for questioning.

P. S. Willmore, chief immigration official in Key West, and Sir Robert Stapledon, governor of the British Bahamas, issued brief statements.

The British governor, who sent policemen to the tiny island to investigate, said shots had been exchanged between "two Cuban fishing boats" just offshore after the refugees landed.

Willmore told newsmen: "I spoke with the Cuban political refugees, and they said that they were not shot at and that there was no shooting in their vicinity while they were on Cay Sal or while they were in the boat."

Cay Sal is leased by Clarence B. Moody, 63, owner of a Miami dredging business and once a builder of homes on islands near Miami. Moody said that he had notified the Coast Guard Saturday morning to pick up the re-

Neumann said industrial output was up three billion marks—$714 million at the official rate of exchange. But he said over-all production was falling short of targets fixed in the regime's seven-year economic plan.

The brown-uniformed militiamen played a large role in building the wall dividing East and West Berlin when the barricades began going up Aug. 13. But early this month they seemed to disappear—apparently back to the factories.

Despite the close police guard on the Berlin border, Americans were allowed to pass into East Berlin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, in a demonstration of Western rights to move anywhere in the divided city, toured the Communist sector Sunday night. President Kennedy's personal representative here was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commandant. Police made no attempt to interfere with them.

Five women employes of the U.S. mission in Berlin, riding in a private American car bearing Army license plates, were turned back twice at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint when they refused to show their identity papers to East German guards. Lt. Thomas S. Bainbridge of Detroit, Mich., showed up in uniform, took over the wheel of the car with the women as passengers and rode through.

Four other Americans—three civilian teachers and a U.S. State Department official traveling alone—were held up returning from visits to East Germany when they declined to show their papers. Then without explanation, they were allowed to pass.

The Western Allies contend that only the Soviet Union has the right to check cars with Allied military registrations.

Mishap Injures Hancock Driver

A Weirton man is in "good" condition today with injuries received when his car crashed over a hillside between New Cumberland and Weirton Sunday at 8:30 p. m., Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported.

Prior to the crash over a 50-foot embankment, Mike Chaneski, 69, had struck an East Liverpool man's auto on State Route 2, deputies said.

Chaneski suffered a lacerated nose and possible chest injuries. He was to undergo X-rays today at Weirton General Hospital.

Deputies said Chaneski's southbound 1951 car struck the 1950 model auto of Charles R. Hall, 19, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, before he continued south on Route 2 and eventually went over the hillside.

Hall was traveling north. Deputies estimated $75 damage to his vehicle.

Mishap Injures East End Woman

A Glenmoor motorist was fined this morning in Municipal Court as the aftermath of a collision shortly before 9 a. m. on the River Rd. in which an East End woman was hurt.

Augustus A. Baumgarner, 40, was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after pleading guilty to a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way.

Baumgarner was cited by police who said he made a left turn in front of a westbound car operated by Duane L. Wilson, 39, of Calcutta in which Alvera Riggs, 34, of 933 St. George St. was a passenger.

The woman was treated at City Hospital for a bump on the head and an abrasion of the left knee.

According to the drivers, Wilson was trailing a commercial truck on the River Rd. Baumgarner waited until the truck had passed and then pulled in front of Wilson, they said.

Kirkham told Judge Chertoff he was driving a car loaned to him by a friend, but the judge interrupted to declare, "He's no friend of yours; he's an enemy if he allowed you to drive without a license."

Police cited Kirkham at 9:19 p. m. Saturday on E. 5th St. after he crashed a traffic signal at Broadway and E. 5th St. He told police his license had expired and he secured a learner's permit.

However, he failed to pass a new examination for a license because he has an artificial leg, Kirkham told police.

Joseph A. Abbas of Washington, Pa., cited Friday at 3:30 p. m. for passing two cars and a truck over a double yellow line on Route 30, was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty. Abbas pointed out he was from Pennsylvania and under its law was not guilty.

The Idea Is Getting Around

President Kennedy makes it clear to his countrymen they must learn to live with danger because it will be their companion for a long time to come.

Former President Eisenhower makes it clear to them they must do what their pioneer ancestors did—learn to plow a straight furrow with a rifle on their back.

A young opera singer in New York buys space in The New York Times to tell its readers she is not afraid—that her parents came here from Lebanon so she could be born into American citizenship and she does not intend to use her birthright in fear.

The idea is getting around.

Whether it's a president, an opera singer, or someone next door, Americans are beginning to be ashamed of sweaty palms and nervous stomachs.

THEY SEE the mobilization of their own neighbors who have stood by in the reserves to deal with an emergency and they are ashamed of their own misgivings about America's willingness to stand firm.

They comprehend the meaning of "better red than dead" and murmur a plea of forgiveness to the memory of stalwart ancestors who stood resolutely for their beliefs even when it meant death and disgrace.

They flinch at the monstrous irony of a situation in which governments that cannot feed their own people have the effrontery to bluff and bluster well-established nations into asking for negotiation.

And they despise the circumstances that have made it seemingly impossible to speak and act resolutely, lest they give offense to some clique or junta with patches on its pants and duplicity on its conscience.

AMERICANS are sick and weary of waving money in bids for international friendship that is not for sale. Nothing has been bought with dollars but something has been sold—the dignity of the American people.

There is a dynamic national urge to retain the dignity this country had when it carried Teddy Roosevelt's big stick.

Americans yearn to initiate action for a change, instead of reacting to whatever the Communists have done most recently.

They would like to believe just once that Moscow might be as worried over the next move in Washington as Washington chronically is worried about the next move in Moscow — or Peiping, or Havana, or Belgrade.

The idea is getting around.

It is not braggadocio.

It isn't bluster.

It's just a tremendous yearning for the spirit that once dominated America, when the difficult was done immediately and the impossible took a little longer.

Protection For Party Systems

It may be, hopefully, a long time before occasion arises here to use the new state law governing appointments to fill vacancies in county elective offices.

But when the time comes it will prove to be more satisfactory than the old system.

The new statute gives the appointive authority to the county central committee of the political party to which the resigned or deceased elected official belonged. Formerly it was held by the county commissioners, except in the case of vacancies on their own board.

ONE ADVANTAGE of the new system is that it assures the appointee will be of the same party as his predecessor. This provision will end the controversy that cropped up in so often in the past when a vacated office was to be filled by officials of the opposite party.

It also will serve better to protect the will of the voters in our party system of government.

The advantage of giving the appointive power to the party committee is that stronger appointed officials should be the result. When members of one party are required to appoint an officer from another party, their natural political inclination is to select someone who will be a weak official and a weak candidate in the next election, if he becomes a candidate at all.

The party committee, however, desiring to build a reputation for supplying good officials and attractive candidates, will try to pick their best men to fill vacancies.

THIS IS ANOTHER protection for the success of our party system of government.

Because it is impossible to anticipate the circumstances of each instance in which the new law will be used, it is improbable that either party will benefit more than another from its provisions.

The important point is that the two-party system of government, founded on the ultimate prerogative of the electorate, stands to benefit from the new law.

Not An Easy Idea To Grasp

No one can be surprised when a spokesman for South Africa fails to grasp the impropriety of race-baiting in the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Spokesmen for South African have been extreme and hateful in their views on the inferiority of Negroes in Africa. Even longtime friends of South Africa have been shocked at official prejudice.

It is not an easy idea to grasp anywhere that human beings who believe in the dignity of man do not revile men whose condition of life does not compare favorably with that of their critics.

They sympathize with them.

They seek to help them.

They are more concerned with their dignity as human beings than they are with their shortcomings.

And if they think of themselves as citizens of the world they acknowledge that men with white skins are in a minority and no longer can they insult the colored races with impunity. There is a time coming when even South Africans will need the compassion of black-skinned Africans.

Fortunately, South Africa is not represented in its entirety by men like Eric Louw, its foreign minister who affronted the United Nations with a speech that drew a 67-1 vote of censure because it was insulting to the Negro race.

It is not represented in its entirety by Premier Henrik Verwoerd, who has made a political career of race-baiting.

It is misrepresented by these men who have not grasped the idea that they owe respect to all men in the brotherhood of man, even if some men have had no chance to improve their lot. They do not go out of their way to insult them in public speeches because to do so is to insult all mankind.

It has long been the proudest boast of the best of our own southerners that they were aware of the limitations of the Negroes whose ancestors had been brought here as slaves but were equally aware of their right to be treated with respect.

South Africa left the British Commonwealth after it had shocked other members with its race-baiting. Perhaps it is growing restless in another organization that is obligated to put the brotherhood of man ahead of the prejudice of race-baiters.

Reuther Eyes AFL-CIO Presidency

By Victor Riesel

Early in the morning of Monday, Oct. 9, Walter Reuther dispatched telegrams from Detroit to some 35 men sitting behind closed hotel room doors in New York.

Victor Riesel

The wires soon had the small conference hall buzzing with speculation that the auto union chief was preparing to launch a drive to make himself leader of the land's 13 million AFL-CIO unionists.

Those 35 to whom the message came were not alone. They were with more than another hundred labor leaders who make up the influential organization's high command.

It was not so much what was said in the wire to the selected few — but what the recipients read between the lines:

"I regret my involvement at the bargaining table in Ford strike," said Reuther, "will make it impossible for me to be in New York."

"I was looking forward," Reuther also said, "to the opportunity of talking to you during the general board meeting. . . . As soon as negotiations in the auto industry are behind us, I will be in touch with you."

OBVIOUSLY, the wires were not intended by Reuther to be distributed to the 35 men who are leaders of former CIO unions while they were sitting with the rest of the AFL-CIO national leadership. But Western Union (no relative) saw its duty and dumped them in the central temporary AFL-CIO headquarters, Room 102 at the Hotel Commodore.

Just as obviously, Reuther was telling the men whom he considered his bloc that there would be no private "CIO Caucus" during the week-long series of meetings.

At this quiet caucus some of the leaders of former CIO unions would have expected Reuther to talk of his running against George Meany for the presidency of the AFL-CIO — a post which has taken on enormous global prestige and truly vast political influence at home during the last few years.

President Kennedy, for example, promised early in his administration that every important global mission, such as the Lyndon Johnson trek across the world, would include a labor adviser.

REUTHER'S WANTING such a post is therefore understandable —and it is not expected that his absence here will interfere with his campaign, observers said.

There will be another chance to meet and confer. Reuther will have around him most of his supporters in Washington during the weekend of Nov. 16.

At that time a special AFL-CIO division known as the Industrial Union Department, led by Walter Reuther and James Carey, will run its "Fourth Constitutional Convention" at the Statler.

There are 59 major national unions in this "department." Not all of them are devoted to "The Redhead." But most of them are — and they have a treasury running upward of $3½ million.

What will happen at that meeting is not anyone's guess. On this beat, the influential men don't guess or speculate. They predict.

What they predict is news, because what they do affects not only the land and bread and butter and cake but international policies as well.

INFORMED MEN in the AFL-CIO believe Reuther either will ask George Meany privately to step down as AFL-CIO president — which the vigorous, now suddenly good-humored, internationally influential "Mr. Labor" himself will refuse with a few well chosen Anglo-Saxon words.

Or Reuther will decide to run for the labor presidency at the national AFL-CIO convention in December at Bal Harbour, Fla. Reuther will not expect to win—this time.

But by running he can set himself up as the leader of the loyal opposition to Meany. Thus all dissidents will come to him. And he will be waiting for the next convention in 1963.

Once I heard Harry Truman describe Reuther as a young man in a hurry. But there must be gray now amidst the rusty hair of the auto union leader — and with the gray must have come the knowledge there is strength in patience.

Reuther, some of his intimates say, can wait a bit. But he must start sometime. This is it. The stakes are big.

The Grinnies

By Truman Twill

I want to be the first to admit there has been improvement among the grinnies—and I don't mean chipmunks.

I mean the people who were everlastingly grinning when photographers took their pictures. They aren't as earish-to-earish as they were a few years ago when I began to complain about them.

Remember how it used to be? A kidnaper who had buried the little body in a pile of gravel would pose for his picture grinning from ear to ear and with him would be a brace of knucklehead cops similarly overjoyed about getting their "pikshur in the papers."

Everybody in those days was taken in by the photographer's shallow credo that the world was composed of happy people who kept smiling through gunfire, arson, molesting, pilfering and highway robbery.

"Now that great big smile!" was a royal command. Pronto, the smile burst like a sunrise. What were they smiling about? When posterity asks this question a generation hence no one will know.

Football players, baseball players, basketball players, second-stroy men, fallen women, committeewomen, auto race winners, beauty contest losers, rounded-up gamblers, wounded soldiers, sailors, bankers, bridge players, lost children, models, salesmen, politicians and con men all smiled, regardless.

Even the pickpockets smiled behind the hats they held in front of their faces. Having your picture taken was a happy thing; that was the gist of it.

The grinnies grinned through Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin. They flashed their dentures through Haile Selassie, the fracas in Spain and the Chinese agrarians.

Everybody kept smiling right through Austria, Czechoslovakia and Finland.

We grinned through World War II. Even Pearl Harbor didn't wipe off that smiles. Look, ma, no brains but we're happy. Har de har har.

For those of us who aren't laughing boys by inclination, though our hearts are wondrous gay, some of the grinning was so hard to bear we itched to wipe it off with fists. Especially when people who should have been weeping and scowling melted before the camera lens and let the old sunshine through. Ugh.

Some of the worst offenders were in the ads—women who grinned while scrubbing floors, doing the family washing and cleaning up after spoiled kids whose heads should have been bashed in.

The trained seals still do a lot of grinning while fooling with their hair and swallowing stuff good for their insides, but for this they can be forgiven. The hair-foolers are letting their mouths hang open the way a man's mouth gets all awry while he is shaving his face. And the people who take stuff good for their insides are gastro-intestinal cases. What looks like a grin is gas pains.

The grinnies are pulling out of it. Mostly if there's nothing to grin about, they don't grin—not even if they've had their teeth capped. It has occurred to a number of Americans recently that happiness is a state of mind, not a position of the mouth.

U.S. Growth Shackled

By David Lawrence

Taxes, Anti-Trust Laws Seen Restrictive

The biggest problem before the country today is domestic but it can mean the difference between defeat and victory in the contest with the Communist regime in Moscow. It can be described in a phrase - incentives to national growth.

David Lawrence

The truth is that national growth is being impeded, obstructed, retarded, and even discouraged. The greatest obstacle to national growth is the federal government itself, aided and abetted by demagogic politicians and narrow-visioned economic advisers in the government.

Two examples stand out. First, if war broke out tomorrow, the nation's whole transportation system would be inadequate to move troops and supplies. The railroads, for example, are in the worst condition they have ever been in American history.

Who is responsible?

The federal government, of course, and this means the Congress as well as the executive branch. While belated studies at last have been ordered, there still is no sign that the railroad problem will be tackled effectively.

The most antiquated of all laws are those governing the railroads. Mergers are a necessity today yet they are being blocked by local considerations. The national interest is not being given paramount attention.

The consolidation of many small railroads into a few big systems would give the country efficient rail transportation once more under a private enterprise formula.

The government can help by removing impediments and providing certain assistance, particularly to meet national defense needs.

THE NEXT EXAMPLE is in the field of production. If America expects to compete successfully with Soviet production in the next 20 years, there must be an opportunity for American business to expand naturally in the interest of efficiency.

Tax laws on depreciation must be revised. Growth cannot come, moreover, if expansion is retarded by antitrust laws that are more theoretical than practical.

More extensive operations by single companies would mean that prices could be lowered as volume of sales were increased and economies were achieved through large-scale production.

It doesn't make sense to delegate to a bureaucracy of lawyers in the Department of Justice or even to a federal court the solution of economic problems involving growth.

How can such officials decide whether 40 per cent of total production in a given industry is too much or too little for one company to have? Which is more important — to preserve someone's ideas on these theoretical percentages or to give America more growth and more employment by enabling the industries of the United States to bceome more efficient and step up their production?

Things of climactic importance are happening. The Common Market in Europe means stiff competition for America. The rest of the world is moving on while America is lagging.

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS now the Kennedy administration has been hearing that it is considered antibusiness. It wonders how this impression gained currency.

The answer is that it isn't due simply to speeches or comments by administration officials nor is it related solely to any announced policies.

It is the net result of efforts to enforce old antitrust laws that are long out-of-date, ambiguous, confusing and destructive. The politicians fear that to help national growth by sensible policies is to become allied with or too friendly to "big business."

Big unionism, on the other hand, is accepted as a fact of life, the federal government doesn't put any brakes on the growth of unions which set the wage rates in an entire industry and compel employers to accept uniform wage costs that, of course, affect prices.

There are no "antitrust" laws restricting the growth of national unions.

Lots of talk has come from the White House lately about holding down prices, along with some vague talk about urging labor to be moderate in its wage demands. But the big point is being missed.

Profits are being reduced by one-sided policies. Prices are an economic problem and cannot be resolved by a political formula.

National growth will not come by governmental control of wages and prices. It will come by removing restrictions against growth and by revising or repealing many antitrust laws that have been written by the courts—and not by Congress.

IT'S TIME to take a look not only at the whole monopoly situation but also at the outmoded rules and regulations of federal agencies like the Interstate Commerce Commission.

There is need for a reexamination, too, of the functions of the National Labor Relations Board, which, every time an administration changes, reveals a tendency on the part of newly appointed members to regard the board as a quasi-political instead of a quasi-judicial agency.

National growth is America's most urgent need. It is being blocked today. The much - discussed competition with the Soviets is now confined to the field of education or science but extends to the field of production as well.

Unfortunately, production doesn't have a lobby in Washington. What's needed is not just a political secretary of commerce but a secretary of transportation, a secretary of foreign trade and a secretary of national production—each of them nonpolitical, like the secretary of defense. For all this is related to national security.

Red History Hits U.S.

By Preston Grover

MOSCOW

The Soviet Union's newest volume of World War II history derides the British-American war effort in North Africa and the Pacific as directed heavily toward selfish interests of monopolists and not toward winning the war.

The third volume of the proposed six - volume history of the war covers 1942-43 with heavy emphasis on the battle of Stalingrad and the turning back of German forces.

To Westerners used to reading Western - type history, the sections on the Allied activities read more like a propaganda campaign than real history. The volume has sections definitely intended to arouse bitterness between the United States and France over the African campaign and between Britain and the United States over the Middle East.

"U.S. OFFICIALS supported the idea of an invasion of North Africa in order to push Britain out of the Middle East," the book says.

It adds that the Americans also intended by this operation to get their hands on French North African colonies and thus have a dominating influence on France.

The history revives the old debate as to which was the more important Nazi high - water mark in World War II — El Alamein or Stalingrad. It relates that while the Germans had 12 divisions, 510 tanks, 600 pieces of artillery and 300 airplanes in North Africa at the time of El Alamein, they had 266 divisions on the Soviet front.

The book says any attempt to make El Alamein more important or even moderately equal to Stalingrad as the turning point in the war is "distortion of history."

It says, instead, "the outcome at El Alamein was determined by the fighting at Stalingrad" which prevented the Germans from reinforcing Rommel's army in North Africa.

At the same time the book richly illustrated with pictures and maps, pays high tribute to the British 8th Army in Africa.

"THE 8TH Army displayed high spirit and excellent fighting qualities," it says, adding that the El Alamein victory "was of great importance for the British Army and the British people" coming "after a number of heavy defeats."

The United States pursued the North African invasion, the book says, because "it fully and completely corresponded to the interests of American monopolists who strove to take his rich region into their hands."

The book contends the Soviet Stalingrad victory also had a great influence in the Pacific bloc of Fascist states and forced Japan to delay its attack against the Soviet Union.

fugees after receiving a radio-telephone call from a caretaker on the island. Then in the afternoon, Moody said, he received another call from the caretaker, Cleo Sears.

"This time he said to me, 'A Cuban boat is firing on the refugees on shore. We are desperately in need of help.' I notified the Coast Guard," Moody said.

The Coast Guard boat and a destroyer, already en route, were told to wait offshore Saturday night. The pickup was made the next morning. Moody flew to the island—130 miles southeast of Miami—Sunday.

He said he got this story from his caretaker: A boat 40 to 50 feet long flying the Cuban flag and with "Joe Louis" painted on the stern had been fishing in the area two or three days. It was anchored 1,000 feet from the island Saturday morning when a vessel which appeared to be a refugee boat picked up other refugees from a leaking boat and went into an inlet. The refugee boat anchored, and the occupants went ashore.

"At 3 p.m. the boat that appeared to have been fishing pulled up anchor and advised Sears that it was returning to Cuba," Moody related. "But instead it went into the inlet and opened fire with rifles on the refugee boat. The crew returned the fire with a couple of rifles and then jumped overboard and waded and swam to shore. The Cuban boat turned its fire on the refugees waiting on the beach and kept it up for 10 or 15 minutes. Finally it left."

No one was injured. The group comprised 21 men, 6 women and 18 children.

She described the university as "great fun," but added, "I just hope they do not repeat last year's Lumumba riots." This was a reference to antiwhite demonstrations in Lagos, capital of this former British colony of 35 million people, after former Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba was slain in Katanga.

Fire Prevention Program Closes At Midland Plant

As a climax to Fire Prevention Week at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., 11 tri-state area fire departments attended demonstrations at the plant fire brigade training grounds Saturday.

Capt. W. H. MacBurney, chief of plant protection, welcomed the firemen and Lt. J. W. Graham, plant fire marshal, addressed the group on "Operation Fire Control." As operation of different types of extinguishers was explained, demonstration fires were extinguished by visiting firemen using types of extinguishers under discussion.

George Yother and Tom Jones, representatives of the Safety First Products Corp. of Elmsford, N.Y., explained and demonstrated use of dry chemical fire extinguishers on flammable liquid fires and gas fires.

Guest firemen engaged in an extended period of fighting flammable liquid test fires, using their departmental equipment. This phase of the demonstrations is designed to give firemen training and practice in handling many problems connected with industrial fires.

Lunch was served at noon by the Midland Works.

Improved Protection Sought For Crossing

EAST PALESTINE — Mayor Robert Harding today appealed to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for a more adequate warning system at the N. Market St. crossing following an accident Saturday night in which a local car containing four persons crashed the gates and narrowly missed being hit by a fast - moving train.

The mayor said the lights should be larger and more prominently displayed.

A southbound car driven by Mrs. Marie Daniels, 37, of 463 N. Sumner St. crashed both gates Saturday night at 9:25. Witnesses said Mrs. Daniels stepped on the accelerator and speeded up the car or she would have been hit.

In the car with her were her sister, Mrs. Walter Haldiman, and two small children. Mrs. Daniels told police the car windows were clouded and she didn't hear the bell.

She was charged with crossing while the gates were closed. She pleaded guilty and was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs by the mayor.

California Man Cited For Reckless Diving

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) Harold L. Dunnigan may be the first man in history to get a ticket for reckless diving.

Dunnigan, of nearby Santa Monica, took a pleasure dive Sunday in what you might call a 2-boat. It's a miniature submarine that accommodates two people.

He stayed down about 15 minutes. When he surfaced a harbor patrol boat was waiting for him. The officer aboard wrote a citation.

"Endangering surface craft by submerging and returning to the surface in the vicinity of the harbor entrance," it said.

Officer Robert E. Pierce said Dunnigan was warned on at least three previous occasions not to submerge in or at the mouth of the harbor.

Disclosing the transaction last week, the State Department said it was intended to help Yugoslavia stay free of Soviet domination. In connection with the sale of the 135 planes, eight Yugoslav Air Force men are being trained at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

The State Department said the purchase agreement was completed Jan. 15, five days before Kennedy succeeded Eisenhower. Kennedy could have canceled the contract, but decided to let it stand.

There has been criticism of the deal from some Congress members. Saturday, administration officials reported that Kennedy last month had ordered a review of U.S. aid to Yugoslavia.

LISBON — Ralph Donnalley, 62, of 709 E. Lincoln Way was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail Sunday by Mayor Dean Stockman on a charge of driving while intoxicated filed after a traffic mishap Saturday night.

There also was damage to a door of a garage owned by the Carl Co., officers said. Donnalley was halted when a bystander took the ignition keys from his car, police said.

Thelma Everett, 22, of Maple Hill, Salineville, forfeited a $15 bond Sunday in the mayor's court on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. Police said her car was involved in a collision Saturday at W. Chestnut and N. Beaver St. with a car driven by David W. Nicholas, 17, of 116 Summit St. There was $100 damage to each car, officers said.

Ernest James Cozza, 44, of Salem R. D. 3 forfeited a $10 bond Saturday on a charge of driving left of the center line. His truck collided Friday afternoon with a car on Route 164 inside the village limits. The other vehicle was operated by Anna Bowman Faulk, 26, of Lisbon R. D. 5.

First Test Slated Shortly For U.S. 'Saturn' Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Scientists plan to launch this week the first Saturn superrocket on an eight-minute flight which will start the United States on the long road to manned landings on the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reports the firing will take place within a few days if no problems arise. With 1.3 million pounds of thrust —about 30 million horsepower— the first Saturn is three times more powerful than any previous U.S. rocket.

The maiden flight will test the first stage only. Two upper stages will be filled with 23,000 gallons of water to simulate weight of the operational rocket.

The flight plan calls for the 162-foot, 462-ton Saturn to accelerate to a speed of 3,700 miles an hour during the 1 minute 57 seconds burning time of its eight big engines. In that time it will consume 300 tons of fuel.

When the engines cut off, the vehicle will coast upward on a ballistic trajectory to an altitude of 95 miles before plunging back into the Atlantic Ocean 235 miles to the southeast. No recovery attempt will be made.

Saturn is the United States' first entry in the heavy booster field. The Soviet Union has been using for some time an operational space rocket with estimated thrust of one million pounds.

When ready in 1964, the two-stage Saturn C1 will be capable of placing a 10-ton satellite in earth orbit. Advanced C3 rockets will be able to send 40 tons into orbit or 15 tons on probes to the moon, Mars or Venus.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Thoughts Of Death Bother 5-Year-Old

Of her son, five, a New Jersey mother wrote, last spring: "About two months ago he announced that he would miss me when I die. I told him I would still be with him but he couldn't see me and, in any case, I wouldn't die for a long time. He seemed to accept this and I didn't pursue the subject.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Then a few days later he asked when today would come again. I said it wouldn't and he started to cry. I told him that tomorrow would be as nice as today and he could always remember today. He brought the subject up so many times afterwards that I got the feeling that he thought his life was slipping away. It gave me an eerie feeling.

"MEANWHILE, he practically went on a hunger strike. He wouldn't eat because he would never see his potatoes, etc., again. We tried to explain that God gave us food to eat so we could live, that the farmers would grow more potatoes for us to eat, but he would have no part of our explanations.

"He stands and cries when the truck makes our trash collection because he will never see it again.

"Perhaps I'm wrong but it seems to me that all these things are connected with death. If they are or if they are not, what can I do to help him understand and place this kind of thing in as proper a perspective as can be done for a five-year-old?"

He also worried about entering school and leaving his mother in the fall.

Here's how I answered this mother:

—:—

DO ALL YOU can to make this lad more self-reliant physically and emotionally and less dependent on you.

You and Dad should go out together, going more often gradually, leaving him with a dependable baby-sitter, training him to feel comfortable out of your presence.

Seek ways to help him have a lot of fun with other children of his age and lots of outdoor activities.

Dad should read much to him, make things with him, go places with him. Try, both of you, to be cheerful and gay in his presence. Don't let him view many TV programs, none of violence.

When he speaks or acts anxiously in ways you related, act and answer him very casually in a few words with no show of emotion, and then try to turn his attention to something else. I'm sure that you explain too much and that he senses your deep concern about his worries. If you see no improvement after a few weeks, you should consult a psychiatrist.

My bulletins, "Fears in Children" and "Self - Reliance," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Sam Hays will serve as chairman for the assembly, which will open with the flag salute and national anthem.

Student Council officers and members of the election board wil be introduced by Jack Alpern, chairman of the election committee.

Jim Baxter will be the keynote speaker for the Blues with the band playing "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Jim Lang, campaign manager, will present the White party's platform with Bob Gilmore as the keynoter. The band will play "Hey, Look Me Over."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove white stains from the bricks of my house?

A. Sometimes these stains will disappear when washed with water and a wire brush. More often, you'll have to use a solution of one part muriatic acid to seven or eight parts water. Wearing rubber gloves, and being careful not to splash any of the acid on you, scrub the brick thoroughly. After the stains are off, flush the area completely with a hose.

Q. How can I prevent any danger of mold in my collection of books?

A. If a few drops of oil of lavender are scattered here and there throughout your bookcase, you need not fear the formation of mold.

Q. How can I remove lipstick stains from white linens?

A. By soaking the cloth in strong vinegar. If the stain is on colored material, use equal parts of vinegar and water.

Q. How can I prevent the juice from running from between the edges of my fruit pies?

A. You'll stop this juice escapage if the edges of the bottom crust are wet before adding the top crust, and the edges are then pressed firmly together in a good seal.

Soviet Asks 'Friendship'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union published an appeal for friendship with the United States, Britain and France today, within 24 hours of opening the big Communist party congress.

The appeal was one of the many slogans the country publishes each year in advance of the Nov. 7 celebration of the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution. There are 101 slogans this year.

While the congress will adopt a program calling for Soviet economic and cultural development aimed at spreading communism over the world, the party Central Committee not only proposed peace and friendship between East and West but even invited friendship with the people of West Germany.

"Long live friendship and cooperation between the people of Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union in the interests of a stable peace throughout the world," said slogan No. 38.

The slogans occupied the entire first page of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ.

Among major news items was one on the arrival of the Chinese delegation.

The delegation is headed by Premier Chou En-lai. But the Chinese party's No. 1 member, Mao Tze-tung, stayed at home.

The ideological schism of the Soviet and Chinese parties continues and appeared to be reflected in Mao's absence and the cooling of relations between the Soviet Union and little Albania, which these days is taking its principal guidance from China.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist air force today presented $22,500 worth of gold bars to two members of the Chinese Communist air force who defected and brought a small crop-dusting plane with them Oct. 7.

Officers Wound Fleeing Boy Who Killed 2 Friends

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A moody youth—shot by state troopers as he attempted to flee from his Adirondack Mountains hideout—has admitted he killed two former chums, police report.

The youth, Charles E. Warner, 16, seriously wounded by police fire Sunday, is in a hospital here.

"We had a fight a long time ago," he said as he reportedly admitted the fatal shooting Saturday night of Philip Lindroth and Howard Lindstadt, each 17.

The violence began between two banks on the main street of this picturesque resort community—noted as the birthplace of baseball—and ended at an Adirondack cabin on Big Moose Lake.

Warner had driven from Cooperstown to the lakeside cabin, about 110 miles north of Cooperstown, after the shooting. When state police approached, he attempted to drive off, they said.

Warner was shot in the back, leg and shoulder, and the car smashed into trees.

Herbert Warner, father of Charles, said he did not have "the slightest idea what brought this about."

None of the boys had been in trouble previously.

Residents of Cooperstown said the three had been inseparable companions until about a year ago, when Charles left the group. He was described as a loner and moody.

In the wrecked car, police found a pistol, two rifles, a 12-gauge shotgun, all loaded, and hundreds of rounds of ammunition.

Duty Started By Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two National Guard divisions and 249 lesser reserve and guard units have started a stretch of active duty that could last up to 12 months.

Called to duty Sept. 19, the units reported Sunday to Army posts scattered across the country. In all, about 73,000 Army reservists and guardsmen were involved, bringing to 153,000 the number of Army, Navy and Air Force Reserves called to duty to increase U.S. military strength.

Both the 32nd Infantry Division of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored Division of Texas reported Sunday. The 32nd will train at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and the 49th at Ft. Polk, La.

In announcing the callup, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that if world conditions improve, the reserve troops may not have to stay on duty 12 months. That was the time limit congress placed on the callup in authorizing President Kennedy to add 250,000 men to active duty status.

Crowd Inspects Fire Department In 'Open House'

Over 300, the largest number ever recorded at such an event, visited the Wellsville fire station Saturday during open house held in observance of Fire Prevention Week. The day was marred by one emergency call.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the exceptionally large crowd represented the most persons ever to visit the station during such an observance.

The visitors consumed 20 dozen doughnuts and several gallons of coffee. Several parents brought their children and among those touring the station were a Girl Scout troop and a Boy Scout troop.

Displays of small fire fighting equipment were set up on tables. The firemen explained their use to the public.

The firemen were called at 5:45 p. m. to the home of John Powell, 1715 Clark Ave., to extinguish a blaze in the basement.

Firemen said Powell's son, John was attempting to rekindle a fire in a coal furnace. Some hot coals still remained in the fire bowl. The material started smoking and then a smoke explosion followed, blowing bits of burning paper into the cellar.

The boy attempted to extinguish the fire himself before calling the department.

Damage was estimated at $300 to $400. Firemen said the floor joists were charred and there was heavy smoke damage throughout the house.

'Vast Opportunity' Seen

Women's Role In Crisis Aired At BPW Session

"Dimensions In Democracy," this year's theme, was emphasized in several phases of the program at the fall meeting of District 8 of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which attracted 111 members and guests Sunday at Westgate School.

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh, district director, is shown with Miss Frances Jones, local president, and Mrs. Katherine B. Lance of Toledo, state public relations chairman, comparing notes for the all-day session.

In the main address, Mrs. Lance said women's present day role offers vast career opportunities in the business world, with very few professions closed. In this era of sweeping changes with automation and space problems, women are meeting the challenge offered in unlimited fields, she said.

During war times, womanpower is one of the nation's greatest assets and the economy of the country would crumble now if women withdrew from employment, she said. She also mentioned women's increasing leadership in international affairs.

Mrs. Wambaugh presided and introduced Miss Jones, who extended the welcome. Clubs of the district represented were Columbiana, Coshocton, Dover-New Philadelphia, Newcomerstown, Salem, Steubenville, Dennison-Uhrichsville and East Liverpool. New clubs taken into the district were Canton, Sebring and Youngstown.

Registration began at 10:30, followed by a coffee hour. The business session was held in the forenoon, with reports presented by each club. In a discussion on "Women In Politics," Mrs. Nessie Dunlop was introduced as a candidate for the city Board of Education.

Mrs. Wambaugh reminded the group that names of candidates for state offices must be submitted by Jan. 1. District presidents met during the noon recess.

The luncheon was served in the cafeteria. The tables were decorated in a fall and Halloween theme, featuring "scarecrow" dolls holding quotations of advice, fall flowers and black paper cats.

Reports on registration and finance opened the afternoon session. Steubenville had the largest visiting representation.

A humorous skit, "Dimensions in Membership," was presented by a group from the hostess club, Mrs. Virginia Manypenny, Mrs. Martha Blatchford, Mrs. Clara Hall, Mrs. Margaret Wotring, Mrs. Virginia Smith, Miss Gloria Naughton, Mrs. Donna Allison, Miss Joan Witt, Mrs. Pat McKinnon and Miss Rachel Ketchum. Mrs. Wambaugh was narrator.

A discussion period was held on "Club Level Problems and Idea Exchange." Mrs. Lance and Mrs. Margaret Alice Avery of Eaton, state first vice president, answered the questions.

A large number of prizes were awarded visiting members.

The Steubenville club had charge of devotions, which included a sermonette and special music; Columbiana took care of the printed program booklets; Coshocton handled the question box and Salem prepared the reaction questionnaires.

Committee chairmen for the hostess club were: Miss Jones, general chairman; Mrs. Dunlop, federation hostess; Mrs. McKinnon, door hostesses; Mrs. May Hartt, coffee hour; Miss Helen Bibbee, reservations; Miss Olive Williamson and Miss Helen Auld, registration; Mrs. Allison, decorations and favors; Mrs. Manypenny, supplies and prizes; Mrs. Ethel Harvey, luncheon hostess, and Mrs. Mary Jane Frontone and Mrs. Hall, publicity.

The date and place of the spring meeting will be announced following the meeting of the Executive Board in January.

Family Of 4 Dies When Lost Plane Crashes Into Hill

Wreckage found Saturday on a hillside at a Washington, Pa., district farm gave up the bodies of a Massachusetts family of four killed Friday night when their plane crashed while wandering lost in a heavy storm.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zakany of Williamstown, Mass., and their children, David, one month, and Thomas, 2. The Zakanys formerly resided at Columbus.

The Cessna 150 apparently was the same airplane that was reported lost over the northern Jefferson County area Friday night after the pilot radioed for landing instructions at the Ohio County Airport at Wheeling.

The Zakanys were en route to visit relatives at Columbus. The plane took off from North Adams, Mass., Friday morning and landed at Binghampton, N. Y., for refueling. Its next fuel stop was to have been at Wheeling.

Pennsylvania state police said the plane apparently crashed as the pilot circled looking for an emergency landing spot.

Tax Payments Rush Deputies In Hancock

Payment of 1961 property tax bills by Hancock County residents has been keeping busy the staff workers of Ed Mayhew, chief tax deputy in the tax department of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny in New Cumberland.

The tax deputy said payments have been "coming in rapidly" since 27,560 statements were mailed Oct. 5.

Mayhew reminded residents that a 2½ per cent discount is granted if payments are made this month. The flat rate prevails in November and a nine per cent per annum interest rate is charged after November.

Mayhew said first half statements are due now, while the second half statements are due in April. Some residents are paying both statements now in taking advantage of discount rates, he said.

Mayhew's office in the Courthouse is open for collections Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and Saturdays from 9 a. m. until noon.

White Will Lighten Around Window Wall

Since the window wall gets less natural illumination than the rest of a room, it will look darker even though the same shade of paint is used throughout the room.

For this season, many decorators add a bit of white to the paint that will be used on the window wall.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove ink stains from polished or bare wood surfaces?

A. For a polished or varnished surface, mix powdered pumice stone and linseed oil to a light, creamy mass, and rub the spots with a piece of felt or heavy-bodied cloth dipped in the mixture. Always rub with the grain and continue until all ink disappears. On a bare wood floor, apply repeated coatings of liquid oxalic acid with a brush. The liquid is made by dissolving a tablespoon of oxalic acid with a brush. The liquid is made by dissolving a tablespoon of oxalic acid granules in one pint of hot water, and is used cold. Caution: This acid is poisonous in large doses!

Q. Can you suggest a good treatment for hair that is excessively oily?

A. Beat the white of an egg as stiff as possible, and rub into your hair until it is wet all over. Allow to dry, after which the egg will brush out like fine, white powder and leave your hair fluffy and bright.

No-Attention Screen

Lorain Man Dies After Holdup Try

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Lorain County man died in University Hospital Sunday a few hours after police said he tried to rob a movie house here and was shot by the theater manager.

Alan Sebert, 30, of Avon Lake collapsed on the sidewalk Saturday night after getting only about a block from the State Theater opposite the Ohio State University law school. He was shot twice, once in the head and twice in the neck, by the theater's manager, Dominic Suriano, 25, police said.

The acting county coroner ruled the shooting justifiable homocide.

The $292 taken in the holdup was recovered.

Fisherman Stumbles Onto Mammoth Tooth

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Earl Faucett said he was walking along a creek bed fishing when he stepped on a hard object.

University of Alabama geologists examined the object and said it was a tooth from a mammoth—an animal that lived before the ice age and resembled an elephant.

The age of the huge tooth was estimated as between 12,000 and 500,000 years.

Most mammoth remains have been found in Alaska and Siberia.

Faucett, of nearby Bradford, Ala., isn't saying where he found the tooth. He said he caught 12 bass that day, and he doesn't want a good fishing spot spoiled.

'Choose To Lose' Answers Diet Needs

The great American search for a magic diet or reducing formula goes madly on. Every fourth person you meet is either on a diet, has just been on a diet or is going on a diet —tomorrow.

Ida Jean Kain

With all this preoccupation with diet, why are so many Americans seriously overweight? The truth is that crash diets are not the way out of our fattening fix. Such diets deal with the effect, the fat, but ignore the cause, for they do nothing to change our everyday ways of eating. "Creeping overweight" is proof that our food habits no longer match our way of life.

It's not that food is more fattening today, or that we are eating more, but simply that we are using less fuel. This push-button way of life has markedly lowered our calorie needs.

FOR SPECIFIC example, in washing clothes by hand the homemaker burned approximately 250 calories per hour, and then went on to hang the clothes on the line, stretching and bending in the process.

When the energy in electricity does the work and we setp on the gas pedal for transportation, it doesn't take much food to cover the cost of the energy expended. So the excess fuel furnished in our food is stored as fat.

The homely expression "cut the pattern to fit the cloth," applies here. Let's stop this diet-dallying and proceed in a mature way to cut the food pattern to fit our lessened energy requirements. Thank heaven for the science of nutrition — with it we can cut our calories down to size without going hungry.

Friends, the hardest part of my role as a dietitian is to sell you on the idea that on-again-off-again dieting is futile and that reducing need not take the fun out of eating.

To lose weight, calories must be lowered, but you can choose and lose. Understand that a reducing diet has no magic in it, whatever its combination of food or mysterious formula. It's the grand total of calories compared to the fuel used that determine weight.

To help you rule the diet and lose weight, I have prepared a new leaflet entitled "Choose To Lose Diet."

ACTUALLY, IT isn't a set diet. There is no reason why you should follow set menus planned by someone who cannot know your likes and dislikes, your food budget or your particular circumstances.

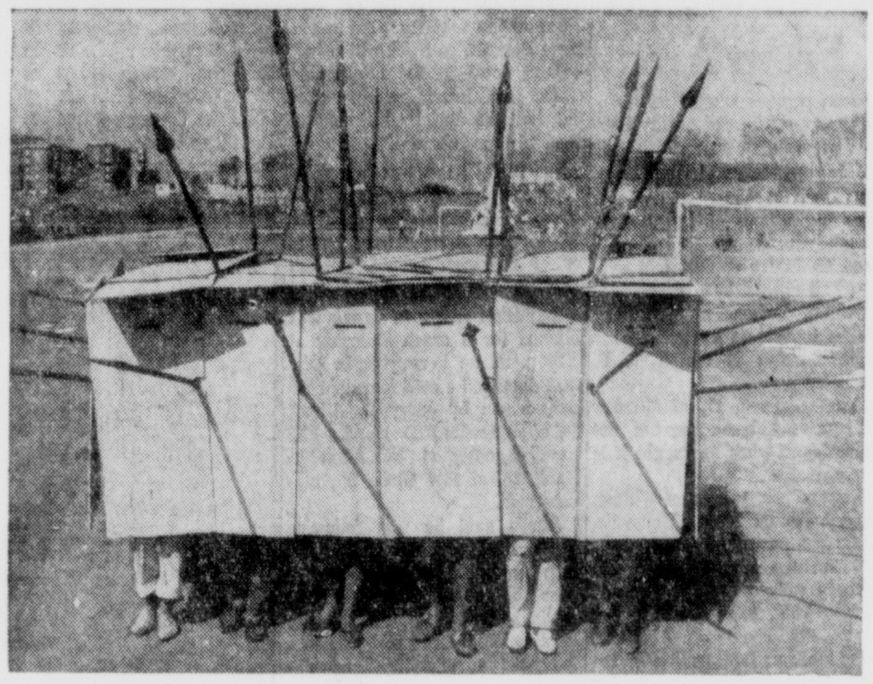

With this pattern you have freedom of choice, and the plan by which you can eat to build slimness. Being able to choose and lose should take the resistance out of calorie curbing. Try it!

Send a stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for the new leaflet, "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Post cards cannot be answered.

Columbus Buses Roll With End Of Walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—City buses rolled on Columbus streets today for the first time in two weeks.

The bus-riding public heaved a sigh of relief as a strike by some 550 bus drivers, mechanics and maintenance men came to an end.

But there was one bleak omen possibly looming — a chance the Columbus Transit Co. may ask for an increase in its 25-cent fare.

Harness Racing Site May Get OK In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15 (AP) — commission was reported ready to issue one, or possibly two, parimutuel track licenses at today's meeting.

An authoritative source, who declined to be identified, said a license would be issued to the Bucks County Racing Association headed by Daniel C. Parish, Pittsburgh contractor, and Arthur J. Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Another license might be issued, the source added, to the Washington Trotting Association headed by Del Miller, a horse breeder. The group proposes to operate a track in Washington County.

The source said, however, action on the Miller application might be put off until later. The Miller group still is considered the frontrunning contender for a license among three other Washington County groups which applied.

Should one be granted for that county, the track would be the first to operate with pari-mutuel betting in Western Pennsylvania. Washington County voters are the only ones to have approved tracks in that part of the state.

Warm Weather Seen For District Tuesday

The chilly weather that descended on the district almost without warning Saturday should ease today and vanish by Tuesday, the Ohio forecaster said.

Today's high will be 50-58. Tonight will be clear and cool, with a low of 38-44. But Tuesday will be fair and warmer, the weatherman said.

Saturday's weather, the coolest of the season, brought thoughts of radiator anti-freeze and topcoats. It was accompanied by a cold rain. The Stratton Dam registered a high of 46 yesterday, with only a trace of precipitation.

Bear Hurts 3 In Ohio Park

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa. (AP)—A park attendant and two other people were mauled by a 250-pound black bear Sunday before it was shot to death by the attendant's 15-year-old son.

The incident occurred at Fairyland Forest, a wild animal park operated commercially near this northwestern Pennsylvania community.

John Hohl Sr., 35, of Conneaut Lake R. D. 2, the park's caretaker, and Ida Mae Kemp, 35, of McKees Rocks, near Pittsburgh, were reported in fair condition at a Meadville hospital.

Robert A. Mahoney, 12, of Coraopolis, was treated at the hospital and released.

State police said John Hohl Jr. killed the animal with two shotgun blasts.

Police gave this account:

The park attendant went to check the bear's cage, as young Mahoney watched. The bear suddenly grabbed the boy's right arm.

Hohl unlocked the cage door and put his hand in the bear's mouth. The bear released the boy's arm and started clawing and mauling Hohl on the head, chest and back.

Hohl's son then struck the bear on the head with a stick, stunning the animal and allowing the caretaker to escape.

While the Hohls went for a shotgun, the bear got out of the unlocked cage and attacked Miss Kemp, knocking her down and clawing at her neck and back.

Labor Dinner Speaker Hits Sen. Lausche

U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche is a "poor excuse" for a representative, Charles P. Lipsen of Washington, director of the Active Ballot Club of the Retail Clerks International Association, told 175 union representatives at the annual Trades and Labor Council banquet Saturday night at St. Aloysius School Hall.

Lipsen told his audience the unions disagree with Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona but said he "is more dangerous because he's more effective."

"No one pays any attention to Lausche," he declared.

The union official had high praise for Ohio's junior senator, Stephen Young, declaring the Cleveland man "wears no man's collar." "He is one of the most respected senators in Washington," Lipsen said.

The Washington official told union members to participate more actively in politics, urging them to register and vote.

Recalling President Kennedy's address to the United Nations in which the President referred to free trade unions as one of the bulwarks of democracy and one of the differences between democracy and communism, Lipsen said:

"Some people wrap themselves around the American flag but still try to destroy the union movement," apparently referring to those favoring the right - to - work laws.

Pamphlets were distributed outlining the aim and purposes of the ABC. The organization is sponsored by the Retail Clerks union to disseminate facts on issues and candidates.

Elmer Robinson, Trades Council president, was program chairman.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. Wilbur Beaver, pastor of the Glendale Nazarene Church near Newell. Organ music by Hal Green preceded the program.

Turkish Voting Close, Coalition Bid Waited

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's two major parties were running neck and neck today for control of Parliament, indicating that the nation faced a new political crisis.

At least 10 million Turks turned out for Sunday's parliamentary elections to restore civil government after 17 months of rule by a military junta.

The new right-wing Justice party was pressing former President Ismet Inonu's Peoples Republican party hard.

With neither major party near a majority in the assembly and the two not likely to get together to form a government, a weak coalition with the minor parties appeared likely.

Poll Officials' Class Set Tuesday At Salem

Precinct officials who will serve at the Nov. 7 general election will attend a school of instruction Tuesday night at 8 in the Salem Memorial building.

The class was set up by the County Election Board because of the large number of new precinct officials in Salem and the creation of new precincts in Salem and Perry Townships, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

However, the school is not limited to those in the northern half of the county. Any poll worker may attend, he emphasized.

Camel Driver Set For Plush Tour Of Johnson Farm

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson plans today to give a Pakistan camel cart driver the same gilt-edge treatment that has charmed heads of nations.

Bashir Ahmad, 44, who sports a flowing black mustache, and Johnson arrived at the latter's central Texas ranch Sunday night.

The camel driver then was whisked to the ranch house in a jeep flying the Pakistan flag.

The vice president planned to take Bashir on a tour similar to sightseeing trips given President Kennedy, German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Pakistan President Ayub Khan, and Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. Bashir's trip originally was scheduled for July 4 but was delayed until after the visit of the Pakistan President.

Johnson—to whom Bashir refers as "the deputy king"—first met the camel driver while the vice president was touring Pakistan last spring. As he shook hands with Bashir, Johnson said, "Come over and see me." and Bashir accepted. American business men made the trip possible under the People-to-People program.

Senate Group Opens Hearings On Drug Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate group opens hearings today on the patent provisions of a disputed drug industry bill.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., subcommittee chairman and author of the bill, has described the patent provisions as its most controversial part.

Among other things, they would require compulsory licensing of patents on prescription drugs after three years.

Officers List 4 Crashes On City's Streets

Four mishaps marred weekend traffic in East Liverpool, damaging six autos, but no one was injured, police reported.

A collision in the 1000 block of Dresden Ave. Saturday at 1:11 p. m. involved a 1961 four-door sedan driven by Charles H. Brewster, 50, of St. Albans, W. Va., and a 1955 two-door sedan operated by Keith Kirbaugh, 28, of Hammondsville, officers reported.

Brewster told police he was driving north on Dresden when he was forced to apply his brakes for an auto in front of him that suddenly turned off the road. Then Kirbaugh's car hit Brewster's auto in the rear, he said.

The rear of Brewster's car was damaged. There was no damage to Kirbaugh's auto.

A mishap on Park Way at 11:22 a. m. Saturday involved a 1953 two-door sedan driven by Russell W. Carnes, 33, of Grimms Bridge and a 1959 four-door sedan operated by John Barringer, 31, of 500 Princeton Ave.

Carnes told police his car was hit from the rear when he halted for a Post Office truck which had broken down in the northbound traffic lane. Barringer apparently did not see the Carnes car in time to stop, he said.

The postal truck was driven by Tom Hebron, officers said. The crash damaged the rear of Carnes' car and the front bumper of Barringer's auto, officers said.

Confusion over turn signals was blamed for a crash Saturday at 2:24 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. that damaged a 1955 four-door sedan driven by Jerry L. Alford, 24, of Wellsville R.D. 1 and a 1960 hardtop operated by Alvin T. Babb, 53, of 1547 Globe St., officers said.

Alford said he was following Babb, who switched on his left turn signal. He said he started to pass Babb on the right when Babb made a right turn and the two cars collided. Babb told police he indicated a right turn and was turning into an alley when his car was struck.

There was damage to the right front fender and right side of Babb's auto and the left front fender of Alford's car, police said.

Charles A. Bole, 34, of 130 W. 3rd St. told police the left rear of his 1953 auto was damaged Sunday about 12:20 a. m. while parked in Green Ln. An unidentified auto pulled from a parking space, hit Bole's car and continued without stopping, he said.

Sierra Leone, which recently became a country, had been an English Crown Colony since 1808.

Nation Gets Snows, Heat

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather blew hot and cold today, with freezing and snow in sections of the Northeast and summer-like temperatures in the far West.

Cool air extended across northern border areas from the Central Rockies into New England. Snow ranged up to six inches in Houlton, Maine, and four inches in Caribou, Maine. Temperatures were in the 20s and 30s in the Central Rockies, the Lake Superior district and from the Eastern Lower Great Lakes into New England.

But in the far West, it was sweltering in sections of California Sunday, with the mercury soaring to 111 degrees in Long Beach. It was a hot 102 in Los Angeles for the second straight day and San Francisco had an unseasonable reading of 94.

Generally fair weather covered most of the nation. Snow flurries and showers hit the Lower Great Lakes and the Northern Appalachians. Fog was reported along the Pacific Coast. Mostly clear skies prevailed in other areas.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers. My problem is too personal to discuss with my mother so I am writing to you for an answer.

I've been dating since I was 16. I'm almost 19 now and my boy friend is 20. We've been going steady for three months. It's becoming awfully hard to keep our emotions in check.

Several weeks ago my face began to break out. I've tried not using soap, as my girl friend suggested. but it didn't help. My steady told me last night that my pent-up emotions are making my skin break out. He says female prudishness is unnatural and that my glands are rebelling.

It sounds very logical. Is this true or false?—MISS MESS.

Dear Miss: Are the fellows still using that one? I thought it went out with the Stutz Bearcat. If your boy friend's theory was correct, I'd have to be worried about all the girls with lovely complexions.

See a dermatologist. And while you're there ask HIM if what your boy friend has in mind will help your complexion. You can then set the guy straight with the information you get from the physician.

And by all means thank him for offering himself up for purely medicinal purposes. It was indeed noble.

Another Go Round

Dear Ann: You make me sick. That letter from "Doc's Old Doll" who was married to a man younger than herself was just darling. And then you came along with that crummy answer and spoiled everything.

I happen to know of several cases where the woman is older and the marriages are wonderful. Your statement that "some women at 40 look like 50 and their young husbands are running like 60" was downright mean. Are you implying the men don't age?

I attended a 25-year high school reunion in June and I recognized every woman there. But the men had changed so much I had a hard time figuring out who was who. Women may put on a little weight, but at least they don't get bald. These men are all in their early 40s and I was shocked at the billiard-ball heads.

And by the way, Buttercup, how old is that picture of YOU at the top of your column?—FORMER FAN.

Dear Former: I made it abundantly clear in my letter to "Doc's Old Doll" that I, too, knew of some exceptions and that she and Doc certainly sounded content. As a rule, however, I don't recommend marriage between a man and an older woman.

As for me, I don't know which picture you're looking at because the newspapers change them around but no picture is more than two years old. And incidentally, I'm 43, Petunia. Any more questions?

Rugged Bumbler

Dear Ann: My husband operates a business from our home. I work in an office and I'm excellent at detailed bookkeeping. I've offered dozens of times to set up an efficient system for him. I even bught ledger cards, but he insists on doing things his own way.

"His own way" is half-baked and it takes forever. His accountant has told him his methods are sloppy and that he ought to let me help him. But the man is plain stubborn. How can I get him to change his mind?—W.B.S.

Dear W.B.S.: You can't, so give up. You and your husband sound plenty competitive and I suspect he'd prefer to stumble around forever rather than allow you to show him how to do something. Ask his accountant to help him set up an efficient system. And stay out of the act yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rocket Launch Slated To Probe Ionosphere

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Scout rocket designed to climb 4,500 miles in one hour will be fired this week. Its aim: to explore the ionosphere and send back important data for radio communications and for the tracking and guidance of space craft.

The solid fuel Scout, a four-stage rocket 72 feet high and weighing more than 18 tons, will be launched from Wallops Island, Va. It will carry aloft a 94-pound package of instruments.

The rocket's final stage will remain attached to the eight-sided scientific package. They are expected to fall into the South Atlantic, 3,900 miles from the launch site. No recovery attempt will be made.

Area Church Women Hold Newell Sessions

The theme was "The Household of God." Mrs. M. C. Houghton, hostess president, extended greetings and Mrs. Paul Daugherty, district secretary of spiritual life, conducted devotions.

Following lunch, Mrs. George Gray of Pittsburgh, district president, led discussions on various subjects. The afternoon session also featured leadership training.

Polls Boost Democratic Drive In East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Encouraged by their private polls, Democrats are putting new punch into efforts to defeat Republican nominee James P. Mitchell in the New Jersey governor's race.

Mitchell, former secretary of labor in the Eisenhower Cabinet, generally is regarded as the favorite over Democrat Richard J. Hughes in one of the few contests that hold national significance in this year's elections. Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner has held the office since 1953 and was not eligible to run again this year.

Democrats at national headquarters here are talking more and more confidently about the possibility of a Nov. 7 victory which would be a blow to Republican revival hopes in the industrial East. They say their polls show Hughes making significant gains.

If Mitchell can win the New Jersey governorship, the Republicans hope to go into the 1964 presidential election with New York and New Jersey state house control, which carries with it organizational benefits denied to the outs.

The Republicans already have the Massachusetts governorship, which they will seek to hold next year. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York also will be a candidate for reelection next year. There will be strong Republican bids in 1962 to turn the Democrats out in Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

In 1960 President Kennedy carried Massachusetts by more than a half million votes. But he won New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, representing 101 electoral votes, by relatively narrow margins. All had Democratic governors except New York, where Kennedy got 52.6 per cent of the popular vote. His total in New Jersey was only 50.4 per cent of the vote. It was 51.2 per cent in Pennsylvania and 53.7 per cent in Connecticut.

The average engagement ring costs a prospective bridegroom about $400.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I improvise some finger paint for my children?

A. Boil some laundry starch and a few soap chips to a paste, tint this with some food coloring, and add a small quantity of glycerin to keep the mixture moist. Place each color in a separate bowl or dish — being sure, of course, that the paint has cooled before tiny fingers are dipped into it.

Q. How can I mend a mirror that has a scratch in the coating on its back?

A. You can usually effect a very good repair by smoothing a piece of aluminum foil over the back of the mirror, a piece the size of the scratch, then coating with plain shellac.

Q. How can I prevent dripping fat from flaring up and ruining a steak or chicken while I am doing some of my outdoor charcoal broiling?

A. By placing a few lettuce leaves over the hot coals of your fire.

Q. How can I clean some soiled photographs?

A. By sponging very lightly with a small piece of cotton dipped in alcohol, and allowing to dry by evaporation.

Governors Didn't Want To Take Chance

ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia legislature in January will take up a bill to let the attorney general appoint his 23 assistants.

The governor appoints them now, under an old law letting the executive name all but one of the assistants paid out of the attorney general's appropriation.

The theory behind the system, oldtimers say, was that governors didn't want to take a chance on the attorney general building up backing for a governor's race.

Taking Water Trail

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Every month, large numbers of house trailers and cargo vans float down the Columbia River into the Pacific Ocean — and it isn't because of a flood. The trailers and vans are part of a monthly cargo shipped from Portland to Anchorage, Alaska, by barge.

Ford Slates Full Output By Midweek

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. aimed today at having its 120,000 production workers back at their jobs by Wednesday, the United Auto Workers Sunday having ordered local unions to call off strikes at all but two of Ford's 85 plants.

There was doubt, however, just how far Ford could go without settlement at one of the two plants still struck — the Walton Hills stamping plant outside Cleveland, Ohio, which employs 3,300 and makes pressed metal parts for all of Ford's car divisions.

A strike at Walton Hills a year ago began to take Ford assembly lines down in six days, and a union spokesman predicted today that if this plant were not back working in nine days, all Ford assembly lines would be affected.

Beside authorizing workmen at Walton Hills to continue their strike in support of local-level demands, the UAW's international executive board told the 1,700 employes Sunday it represents in an engine factory at Wayne, Mich., they could continue their walkout for an at-the-plant settlement to supplement the national contract.

Ford and the UAW reached agreement last Thursday on a new three-year national contract that carried wage and fringe improvements which the union estimated worth more than 12 cents hourly in take-home pay. Similar benefits had been won earlier at American Motors Corp. and General Motors Corp.

Chrysler Corp. is the next target for UAW bargainers. Chrysler negotiations, as had Ford's, have been allowed to slide while the union hammered away elsewhere.

On the strength of its national contract and a series of local settlements Ford summoned about a third of its 120,000 production workers back today. It said maintenance workers would be recalled to others, that most production workers would be back on the job Tuesday and all by Wednesday, it hoped.

Patrol Arrests 2 In Road Mishaps

Two motorists were cited in traffic mishaps investigated over the weekend by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Dorothy M. Lease, 44, of Lisbon R. D. 4 was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way when she pulled from a private drive onto County Rd. 410 into the path of the car of Ileana Mae Briceland, 34, of Lisbon R. D. 4.

The mishap occurred Saturday at 6:35 p. m. in the Guilford Lake area, the patrol reported.

Harold C. Durk, 20, of New Waterford R. D. 1 was cited on a speeding charge after he rammed the rear of the car of Troy D. Boylan, 34, of Painesville Sunday at 10:35 p. m.

The patrol said Durk's car struck the rear of Boylan's auto which had stopped in the northbound lane on Route 30, seven-tenths mile south of the junction with Route 7. There were no injuries in either mishap, the patrol said.

Tips On How To Get Room For Storage

Whether it's spring, summer, fall or winter, storage chores are admittedly unending for America's average homeowner family. For fly rods or fans, slip covers or shovels, overcoats or overnight bags, storing-away time has become one of the most difficult-to-cope-with periods during any season. It admittedly isn't easy to find space for storage when, physically, your home has a square footage problem. Yet many homeowners have found that there are innumerable ways to ease the storage strain.

A good way to start on the road to solving your storage problem is to carefully ascertain what your storage needs actually are. If you've more than two children for example, you must consider space for their clothes over and above the average space available in a typical home.

If you do lots of gardening or have a half-acre of ground you call your own, then, as a general rule, you require additional space, over and above what you normally have. Lots of furniture means lots of slip covers to many homeowners and, in addition to proper mothproofing, storage space should be ample to contain such material in a less-than-jam-packed condition.

A good way to start solving the where-to-store dilemma is by breaking down the types of storage you require into the following six categories: Exterior implements and tools; luggage; summer furniture and related items; clothes; slip covers and related (fabric) items; game or play products; miscellaneous.

In addition to closets, there are many areas in the home which can be used to service your storage requirements. Turn your eyes to the basement, the attic, under-the-stair "dead" space, end-of-the-hall unused space, exterior sheds, over-the-carport space, garage space.

Most important of all of these are the basement and the attic. In fact, the basement has recently been authorized as accredited storage space under FHA requirements.

Making space isn't nearly as difficult or time - consuming as you may have thought, for there are enough labor saving devices now available to you to make even the unhandiest handyman a professional. First off, space can be created by partitioning.

If the area partitioned is one which gets very little traffic or one which is nearly inaccessible or simply out of the way, sliding doors or folding panels can frame in a sizeable area in which shelves will hold stored items.

Hardware such as the rocket has been made expressly for just such sliding partitions and will efficiently carry either ¾-inch or 1⅜-inch doors. Shelves can be mounted on drawer slides, enabling you to get to areas otherwise completely inaccessible. Built-in wall unit designs, broken down into step-by-step patterns are available through such sources as the Space Saving Institute.

These built-in plans are remarkable in that they find space where space did not appear to exist and they create space in areas where you would have thought it impossible to do so.

While partitioning may, in some cases, answer the storage question, other times the saving grace can turn up in the most unexpected locations. The garage or carport, for example, where a level can be constructed eight feet above the floor and more than ample storage obtained in the crawl or walk-in space above.

Usually the best provider of storage space is the basement—but the trick is not to use basement space indiscriminately — crowding items into exposed areas.

Try to partition in modular space units if possible for most attractive appearance and functional service. Whether the divisions are created by sliding doors, folding jalousie panels or even by draperies on 2200 hardware, basement space can have clean, uncluttered lines and fit comfortably with the decor of the balance of the basement.

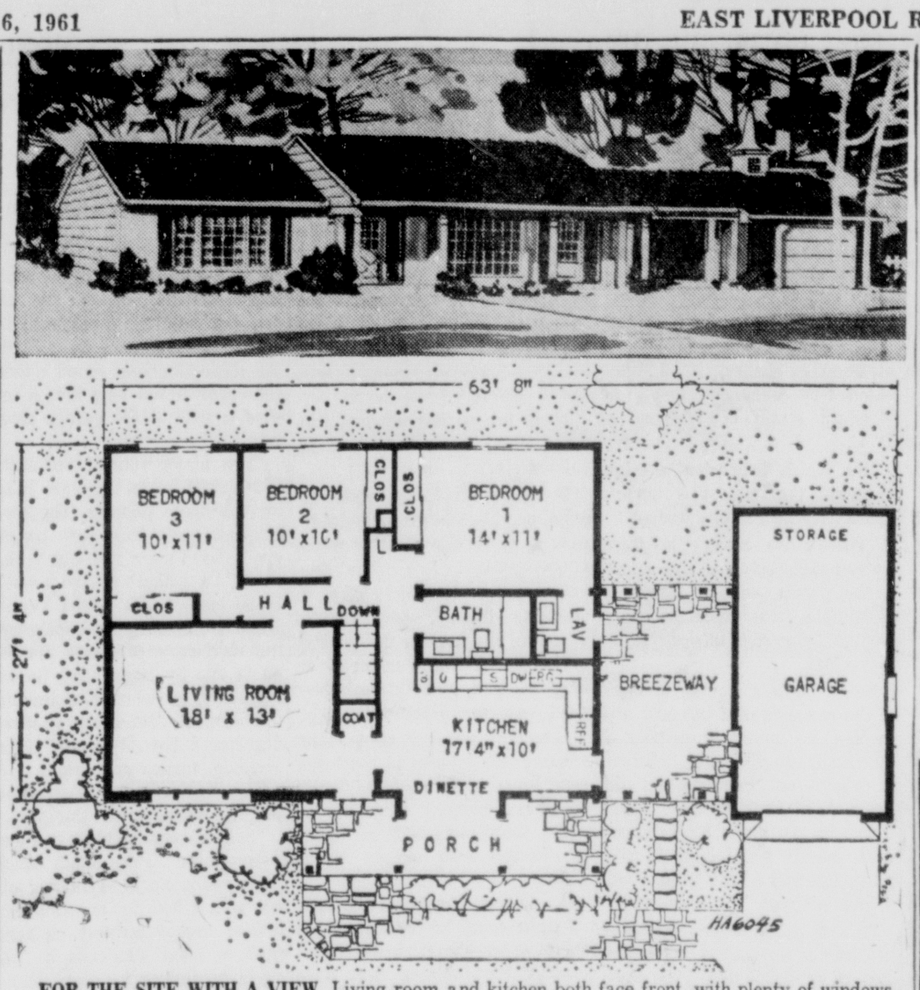

Direct access via a basement door will allow you to store exterior materials as well in your partitioned basement space and allow quick, easy access to and from the basement as well.

Attics too, are one of the prime storage locales, and here partitioning is again the prime means of capitalization. Whether it be in the form of building cabinets with fronts and sides (but without rear sides) or constructing full-size sliding door closets, there usually is enough space in the attic to even sub-divide closets for different categories of storage items.

Thus you can have one closet for summer furniture covers and other fabric items, another for clothes, yet a third for winter clothes, implements, sleds and skis.

Whether it is at the end of a hall, in the basement or attic, above your car in the garage, above kitchen cabinets, attached to the inside of a closet door, even in an exterior — but insulated shed, storage space isn't as difficult to find as you might believe at first glance. You've just got to look for it.

The Space Saving Institute of 18 E. 60th St., New York, N. Y. has a 24-page color booklet available free titled, "Space Saving Ideas," which will make the "deciding" chore decidedly easier!

FOR THE SITE WITH A VIEW. Living room and kitchen both face front, with plenty of windows for all-day outdoor viewing. Three bedrooms are in back for privacy. The 1,100-square-foot house, which also has attached breezeway and garage, was designed by Derick R. Kipp, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y. Plan HA6045.

Size Of Home Is Increased Almost Without Even Trying

Homeowners have been able to add as much as 100 or 200 square feet of living space to their home without so much as investing more than a few hours labor.

The trick is in being able to ascertain where the "dead" or "non-working" areas are located. Home designers at the Space Saving Institute suggest that the following home areas be checked: Under-the-stair space which, if now unused, can easily be converted to closet storage space; end-of-corridor areas which can be partioned off, again for storage space; and there's no better spot for bed linen storage than under the bed itself (mount a shelf on slides!)

If you haven't already done so, you might put a false front on the area above your kitchen shelves, but below the ceiling and use that space for storing rarely used kitchen implements, dishes, etc.

Bantam hardware will move these small sliding doors most efficiently. If you've a swinging door walk-in closet, you might put shelves on the inside of the door; or if you've given an entire wall to just one piece of furniture you can build around it and create a "framing" of sliding storage units.

"Built-In" blueprints on space saving Wall Desk, Work-Shop or Children's room wall storage unit designed by Bill Baker are available at 10c each from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60th Street, New York 22, New York.

Nail Polish Helps Remove Paint Spots

While turpentine or odorless paint thinner will remove oil or alkyd paint spots while they still are damp or soft — and water will do the same for latex paints — these solvents will not always work after the paint has dried on hands, clothing or other surfaces.

Ordinary nail polish remover often works well on such spots. Let soak for a minute or two, then wipe off. Be sure to test on a corner of the material to be sure the remover does not damage the fabric or color.

Improve Window

Streamline an old bay window by replacing old-fashioned, small-paneled windows with two sliding windows (the size of the bay opening remains the same). A black marble slab, supported by a steel beam, makes a sturdy, wide bench for plants, accessories, or seating. Curtain material is matchstick bamboo.

Painting Is Possible For Aluminum Siding

When you get tired of the color on factory-finished aluminum siding, the easiest way to bring new interest to this material is with a coat of quality house paint.

And it's easy. If the old finish is in good condition, just brush or hose off any surface dirt, dull areas of high gloss with steel wool or sandpaper. Now apply a coat of quality house paint; you have your choice of hundreds of colors in oil-based, alkyd-based or latex house paint.

Use Outdoor Fountain

Outdoor drinking fountain saves muss and fuss where children gather. A 4-foot clay bell-tile is set one foot into the ground. It acts both as support for the supply pipe and as a dry well for the waste water. Slip the tile over the water pipe, then fill with gravel.

Metals Show Price Boosts

CLEVELAND (AP)—Prices are creeping up in the metalworking industry "despite pressures from the government, foreign and domestic competition, and customers," Steel Magazine reported today.

The metalworking weekly said 30 per cent of the metalworking executives contacted in a nationwide survey reported they have raised prices in the last six months Sixty per cent plan increases in the near future.

Nearly 75 per cent of the executies polled said that if the cost of steel goes up they'll boost their prices. The 75 per cent included many who already have announced price increases.

Steel said practically all the upward pressure on prices was blamed on wage costs, which have climbed 11 per cent in the metalworking industry in the last three years.

Labor costs rose in the steel industry Oct. 1 with an automatic pay boost to members of the United steelworkers Union, and it has been widely predicted that steel prices will be increased as a result. Steel Magazine said any price increase probably will be "selective, modest and as unobtrusive as possible."

The publication forecast October shipments of finished steel will approach 6.5 million tons — an 18-month high—despite strikes in the auto industry.

"There's little doubt that automotive steel demand will accelerate later this month when Ford and General Motors are in full production," Steel said. "Until then, steelmakers expect the market to hold at its present level —sustained by requirements of the construction industry, appliance makers, shipbuilders, and capital equipment producers."

The forecast for this week was a slight increase over the estimated 2,080,000 ingot tons of steel produced last week.

You can move a wall on center-hung, continuous ball bearing heavy duty sliding door hardware.

Small cans of paint, enamel or varnish are often messy to use because the coating runs down the sides more frequently than on large containers when the brush is tapped against the inner side to remove excess paint.

Accent Wall For Kitchen

Kitchens with a table or dining nook should be decorated so that this area stands apart from the food preparation section.

One of the best ways to achieve this effect is to panel the wall behind the table to contrast with the general decor in the kitchen. For example, if the kitchen is done in a light pastel, the accent wall can be finished with planks in a light woodgrain.

This paneling, which comes in plain colors as well as woodgrains, can be put up right over old walls, solid backing, or framing. It has a permanent plastic surface, which can be damp-wiped clean. Heat, moisture, grease and other stains will not mar plastic-surfaced hardboard.

If this type of paneling is used throughout the kitchen, only an occasional damp wiping is necessary to retain the original finish. It never needs painting or refinishing, so future redecorating bills are eliminated.

To accent the woodgrain accent wall in the dining section, choose curtains and accessories that complement the paneling.

For Sliding Lights

For general lighting in workshop, making a sliding fluorescent fixture. Use two wooden hangers and a length of conduit. Hang the cord from clip - type cafe curtain rings. Warning: these lights can cause moving tools to appear stopped.

Woman's 'Dream Home'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If the average woman designed a dream house what would it look like?

It's a fair guess that she might dream along the lines of a house at Franklin Lakes, N. J., just planned by architect Clothiel Woodard Smith of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Smith denies that she has designed the almost - perfect house because she is a woman.

"There's no reason to think women architects are any smarter than men when it comes to planning a house that pleases a woman," she says modestly. "Or vice versa."

But it takes a woman to think of the romance of a balcony, and to plan one for every member of the family; to give each occupant a private entrance; to put the boy's room next to the laundry where he can dump his salamanders, insects and fossils, to give a teen-age girl a little garden with a fountain pool.

"It's a house where everyone can live as an individual and not step on another's toes," she says, "and when the children go off to college the lower half of the house may be closed off to ease maintenance costs and the parents can use their own floor. People don't want to move away from a house they love, just because they are left alone with it."

"The house is an upside down house," she explains. Living room, master bedroom, dining room and kitchen are upstairs. The children live below.

"There is an arrangement so that groceries can be taken out of the car and put directly into the kitchen; an enormous closet "warehouse" for cumbersome storage and paraphernalia." The architect adds, "The house is functional although that's a nasty word in these traditionally minded times."

The house was planned for an imaginary family of five — a college boy who brings his friends home to the guest room at vacation time, a 16-year-old high school girl and a 12-year-old boy who raises hamsters, designs bird houses and builds model cars. The house plan would not be good if the children were younger, Mrs. Smith points out.

There are no conventional windows. Window walls are of insulated glass.

The living and dining room become one for a large party by removing a divider of transparent cane screens.

A vacuum cleaning system sucks dirt through wall outlets to a central disposal in the garage.

The roof of Terne metal — an aloy of lead and tin on sheet steel — is maintenance free.

A motor - powered dumbwaiter connects the kitchen to the lower level where chlidren, family-guest room and laundry room are located. Guest room beds fold away into double door closets in the walls.

A compact kitchen in the family-guest room serves for snacks on the lower - level. Refrigerator, counter top burners, sink and preparation surfaces are in a small unit.

An 18-foot polished terazzo circle off the lower level of the house is for outdoor dancing. The garden and patio are landscaped for minimum maintenance. Plants are chosen for year round beauty, slow growth and long life. A tool shed is part of the garage structure.

"The major role of the architect should be to translate space for the home planner. The most frequent wails from new owners are 'I didn't know it would be that small,' or 'I didn't realize it would be so big,' " Mrs. Smith says.

She had no difficulty coping with the imaginary problems presented to her by House and Garden Magazine, for whom she designed the home, its 1962 House of Ideas. She has a boy 14, a girl 19, an airedale, turtles and fish.

The Smiths live in a five-story house in downtown Washington.

"Shoemakers children never have shoes," Mrs. Smith laughingly points out in explaining why one with a love for contemporary houses and functional existence lives in what she calls a "1922 verticle rambler."

Ceramic Tile Best Bet For Colorful Fireplace

If you want to give your living room a "new look," then look at the entire fireplace wall first — rather than the room itself.

By simplifying the design of the fireplace such as removing a protruding mantel or modernization bookcases or possibly even paneling over any existing small windows, you can give the whole room a modern appearance.

Determine whether you want to actually "modernize" or just simplify the design of your room.

Easy to install pre-finished wood wall paneling is available in Early American "pegged board" effects as well as contemporary wide-panel strips. The warmth and texture of wood will contrast beautifully with existing plaster walls in the room.

Your best bet for a colorful and practical resurfacing material for hearth and fireplace is ceramic tile.

Safety Check List Offered To Avert Tragedy At Home

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

A high percentage of the nearly 4 million deaths and disabling injuries in American homes each year can be traced to carelessness while indulging in hobbies around the house.

Most of these accidents occur in and around the workshop and the garden, two places which ordinarily contribute so much to enjoyment of leisure. In order to help cut the toll from some hobbies, Dr. John Henderson has issued a safety check list in connection with "Emergencies Don't Wait Week." (Oct. 8-15). Here are his suggestions:

Make certain there is plenty of room for equipment, tools. . .and the hobbyist. Cramped quarters lead to accidents.

Keep workshops free of litter at all times. Floors, particularly, should be cleared of scrap, oil, shavings and any obstacles that could cause tripping or uncertain footing, or fire. Sweep or mop up refuse as you go along and dispose of it safely in metal covered containers.

Keep all tools in a specific, planned, easily identified place when not in use. . .and replace them after use.

Disconnect all power tools when not in use and padlock them if possible. Workshops with power tools should be definitely out of bounds to children unless an adult is on hand to supervise.

Locate power outlets convenient to the user — but out of the easy reach of children.

Paints, acids and other inflammables should be locked safely away in clean, dry cupboards when not in use. . .and should be non-accessible to children.

Any loose clothing — particularly neckties, flowing or loose sleeves and cuffs, should be removed or roled up before workshop tools are used. Clothing caught in power tools can cause fatal accidents.

Goggles should always be used when there is danger of flying splinters or metal shavings.

Never reach toward cutting edges of any tool until power has been turned off and the machine stopped. Don't stand in front of a power saw when cutting.

Read all directions — and follow them. Never try to experiment by using tools for jobs which they were not designed to do.

Vary tasks to avoid fatigue. Monotony leads to carelessness—the prim ecause of accidents.

Take advantage of every built-in safeguard which comes with your equipment — and add more if necessary.

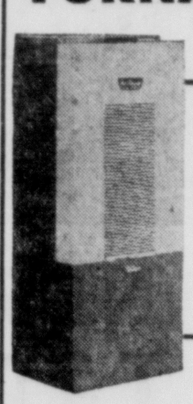

Be certain to have immediately available — in the workshop itself — a first-aid emergency kit.

Garden tools, no less than workshop tools, should have a specific place for storage when not in use. . .and should always be returned to that place after use.

All power tools — such as mowers — have safe operating instructions attached. These should be read and not deviated from. In particular, children and pets should be kept safely out of the area where power mowers are being used.

All insecticides, fertilizers and the like should be locked in storage compartments when not in use — and guarded when in use. Poisons should be plainly labeled with written or printed instructions listing specific antidotes.

Lavatory's Not A Sink

Don't call a "lavatory" a "sink" and vice versa when you phone your plumbing contractor.

The importance of using the correct terminology for plumbing fixtures is pointed out by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau in Chicago.

It will help your plumbing contractor to give you quicker and more efficient service if you will use the terms generally used in the industry, the bureau explains.

The "lavatory" is the fixture installed in bathrooms and powder rooms for washing the hands and face. It should not be confused with the fixture in the kitchen which is properly known as a "sink."

The fixture in the bathroom and powder room has two names, both of which are correct. You may call it a "toilet" or a "water closet."

Your plumbing contractor will appreciate it very much if you will use the correct name in calling him for service. Especially if there is an emergency, your correct identification of the location of the trouble may save precious minutes. It will give your contractor a better idea of what tools he will need and what service is required.

Regardless of whether you are calling for service or other information, make sure you contact a reliable plumbing contractor. Keep the name and telephone number of your contractor handy at all times, the Bureau advises.

Home Entertainment Center Easy To Make

More and more homeowners are finding that it's wise to have an entertainment center in their home, from which they can conveniently serve their guests. If you're handy, there's no doubt but that you'll be able to construct a built-in center from plans designed by Bill Baker, nation's leading authority on built-in designs.

The magic feature of this unit will amaze your guests when you open the folding doors and slide out the serving counter. With full access in the back, you can be bartender with more than 12 cu. ft. of storage space for bottles, glasses and mixing supplies.

The upper back bar unit has sliding glass doors and a light fixture installed above it which adds a dramatic touch. The complete plan is available from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60th Street, New York 22, N. Y. Charge is 10c.

Drapery Hardware Types Are Different

A recently conducted survey by design engineers of Grant Pulley & Hardware Corporation indicates that many homeowners do not realize that there's a world of difference between drapery hardware types, and many a window is serviced by drapery hardware which is simply too light and flimsy to do an adequate job.

A 16 page color brochure showing the wide range of drapery hardware styles is available free from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60 Street, New York 22, N. Y.

Draperies Will Cut Window Heat Loss

Did you know that large expanses of window walls may be increasing upkeep due to loss of heat in the winter?

This can be avoided and the solution is easy. Draperies should be installed on these windows because they amply insulate against heat loss in the winter, hide the reflecting glass surface at night and add a decorative touch as well. A 16-page booklet on drapery hardware and its uses is available from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60th Street, New York 11, N. Y.

Paint White Stripe For Safety On Stairs

Here's a way to make those treacherous cellar and attic stairs safer:

Paint a one inch white strip off the edge of each tread. This will make missteps less likely.

For a neat job, use masking tape to mark off the one-inch strip and then apply a quality white floor enamel to the area. When the paint is dry, pull off the tape—there are the strips.

One thing more, be sure to provide adequate illumination.

Beautiful Cabinet

Kitchen cabinets can be as handsome as furniture. Natural finished walnut gives the dressed-up look. Suare steel tubing makes legs of contemporary design. Durability comes from the use of laminated plastic for the counter and scuff-free sliding doors on bottom cabinets.

Ever have an otherwise perfect paint job spoiled by wrinkles in the surface? The cause was probably that you applied too heavy a coat. To prevent wrinkles from forming, always brush out fully.

Surprises Plentiful In Latest Grid Action

By The Associated Press

Don't go away...the fun's just started. A college football season already replete with its fair quota of excitement and surprises steams toward the midway point, picking up momentum like a sprung-loose fullback.

This Saturday's program, for example, offers a number of highlights. Notre Dame, returned to elite status in a hurry, takes on Michigan State in a meeting of all-winning teams. Texas carries its perfect record into Arkansas, where the giant-killing Razorbacks are waiting.

Mississippi's rebels, rated first nationally, play Tulane. Third-ranked Alabama meets Tennessee in another Southeastern Conference feature, and Iowa-Wisconsin and Ohio State-Northwestern top the Big Ten card.

Michigan State and Notre Dame had impressive victories Saturday. The Spartans smothered Michigan 28-0 behind Pete Smith's smart quarterbacking. The Irish, eighth nationally, used 22 backs in rolling over and around Southern California 30-0.

Arkansas tripped ninth-ranked Baylor 23-13.

Texas' fourth-ranked Longhorns clouted Oklahoma for the fourth successive year, 28-7. Ole Miss, showing off its platoons of talent crushed Houston 47-7. Pat Trammell guided 'Bama to its 26-7 victory over North Carolina State.

Iowa, second in the nation although riddled by injuries, managed a 27-8 decision over Indiana. Ohio State overwhelmed Illinois 44-0.

In the upset category Saturday—Dick Heydt's placekicking provided Army's margin of victory in its 10-6 conquest of Penn State. California topped Washington 21-14. Two third quarter touchdowns by Roger Holdinsky enabled West Virginia to overcome Pitt 20-6.

Duke, Florida and Nebraska all suffered their first setbacks of the season. A second half surge carried Georgia Tech over Duke 21-0. Rice came from behind twice for a 19-10 victory over Florida. Syracuse beat Nebraska 28-6.

Dartmouth remained undefeated, swamping Brown 34-0. The Indians have registered 92 points to three for the opposition in three starts.

Wellsville Blanks Madonna, 21-0

★ ★ ★ Leyda Scores On 82-Yard Run; Salem Next Foe ★ ★ ★

Invigorated by halfback Mark Leyda's 82-yard touchdown run from scrimmage on the opening play of the game, Wellsville High went on to brush aside Weirton Madonna, 21-0, before a rain-soaked crowd of less than 1,000 Saturday night at Weirton.

The Tigers used long runs and a stiff defense as keys to the victory, their third in six games, in prepping for the annual battle with Salem High this week at Wellsville.

Performing in a steady downpour, Coach Ken Woods' charges struck for two first-period touchdowns and added another in the final quarter to gain the triumph.

The defeat was the fifth in six games for Coach Joe Krivak's young Madonna eleven. Madonna quarterback Stanley Zgurski suffered a broken arm early in the action.

Leyda, 135 - pound junior halfback, hoisted Wellsville ahead on its first play from scrimmage when he cut off left tackle at his own 18 and outran the opposition for an 82-yard scoring run.

Quarterback Roger Ours fired a pass to end Andy Dash for the conversion, one point under West Virginia rules.

Wellsville scored again with 7:06 left in the opening quarter as senior Dave Hall, 140 - pound center, intercepted a Madonna pass and raced it back to the Weirton 23 to provide the opportunity.

A buck moved the ball to the Weirton 21 and the next play found Wellsville halfback Alvin Thompson, 157-pound junior standout, racing 21 yards around right end for a touchdown. Leyda dashed over for the conversion.

Wellsville's third score came with 9:49 left in the game, after regular tackle Alvin Jackson, moved to fullback, sparked a drive to the Madonna 13 on runs of 10 and three yards.

Regular fullback John Euill, operating at halfback, raced around right end for the touchdown. Jackson, 200-pound senior, boomed through the line for the conversion.

Wellsville's defense, anchored by Jackson, tackle Gene Delposen, end Jack Culp, and guard Roger Miller, limited Madonna to 121 yards on the muddy turf. Madonna never threatened seriously the entire game.

Woods used substitutes liberally during the second half and most all the Tiger roster saw action. Ours, injured in the New Philly game, was used sparingly.

Leyda picked up 110 yards in six carries to lead the squad in the ground gaining department. Thompson gained 57 yards in six carries, Euill 41 in six attempts, and Jackson 13 in three charges.

Sub quarterback Jim Reed, 140-pound sophomore, gained 21 yards in four carries for the Tigers.

Canton McKinley Receives 1-Year Football Suspension

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—"Canton McKinley stole one of our football players."

This opening sentence in a letter of complaint from Portsmouth's superintendent of schools has led to a football scandal at Canton McKinley High School.

The letter from Portsmouth Supt. H. W. McKelvey went to the Ohio High School Athletic Association. The OHSAA investigated, apparently found the complaint had some basis of act, and Saturday suspended McKinley from interscholastic football for the 1962-63 school year.

The association's board of control also declared two McKinley football players permanently ineligible for interscholastic athletics at the school.

The two, brothers James and Larry Brown Austin, started practice with the Portsmouth High School football squad last August, then transferred to McKinley.

The OHSAA said the transfer involved a violation of "the undue influence rule."

But Supt. McKelvey was more direct. He said McKinley stole James Austin from right under Portsmouth's nose.

McKelvey, in his letter of Aug. 29, said the alleged theft was accomplished by offering the brothers' unemployed stepfather, Joseph Austin, a job in Canton.

"A couple of weeks ago," the letter said, "two men from Canton McKinley went to their (the Austin's Portsmouth) home and talked to the boy (James) and his stepfather. Mrs. Austin said one of the men was a football coach.

"They offered the father a job and said they would find a place for them to live in Canton. The father wanted to go as he was out of work but the mother did not want to move.

"These men had the father and boy come to Canton. They showed the boy about town, especially the high school and football facilities. They got the father a job and a place to live. The family moved to Canton last Saturday (Aug. 26)."

The OHSAA's investigation, however, showed that three men from Canton met with the Austins. Two were Don Iden Sr. and Don Iden Jr., members of the McKinley Booster Club, and the third was Joseph Cochran, McKinley's assistant football coach and a 1950 graduate of Portsmouth High School.

The text of the OHSAA's investigative report was made public by Paul A. Schott, McKinley principal. He said he plans to appeal the school's suspension "'as soon as possible or as soon as permission is granted me by the superintendent (of Canton schools) or the board of education."

Schott maintained there was no undue influence and "at the worst there can only be claimed there was influence of some type.

"Actually," he went on, "I submit there was no influence of any type exerted and the moving of the parents was a bonafide one."

He labeled the ruling by the OHSAA board of control as "unduly harsh."

Canton's Mayor Charles L. Babock, also thought the suspension was "far too severe." He said he will try to meet today with OHSAA Commissioner William J. McConnell in Columbus "in an effort to have the board lessen its penalty."

The board report summed up the case like this:

A Portsmouth man who knew Cochran told the assistant McKinley coach that Joseph Austin was out of a job and the family was going to move to Canton. The meeting with the stepfather was then set up in late July or early August.

On Aug. 10, Mr. and Mrs. Austin and her sons, James, 15, and Larry, 17, went to Canton and stayed at the home of the McKinley school custodian.

The next day was the all-star high school football game in Canton and James wanted to go. One reason he didn't, the report said, was because it was felt he might be spotted there by Howard Baughman, head football coach at Portsmouth, who was known to be at the game.

The Austin family was shown around town, then returned to Portsmouth where the two brothers started football practice Aug. 18. They worked out for the next week except for two days, when Portsmouth Supt. McKelvey said they were in Canton again. James claimed he and his brother were sick those two days.

On Aug. 26 a truck from Canton arrived at the Austin home, the OHSAA report continued, loaded up most of the family's furniture and took it to Canton. The Austins followed with the rest of their belongings in a trailer.

The report said Joseph Austin was told to seek employment at the Kempthorn Motor Co. in Canton, but it did not say who told him. On Aug. 28 Austin went to the company and was hired as a mechanic at $1.25 an hour.

John Quinn, president of the McKinley Booster Club, had a sales job at Kempthorn's. James Austin said his stepfather was promised a job by Quinn. (However, McKinley Principal Schott said James later denied this.)

The two brothers subsequently enrolled at McKinley. James a sophomore, became a fourth stringer on the football team, and Larry, a senior, became a fifth stringer, according to McKinley Coach Pete Ankney.

But Ankney said neither of the boys played in any games this year. He said James was dressed for the first game, but Larry was not in uniform for any game.

Canton Mayor Goes Before Athletic Assn.

Mayor Charles L. Babcock of Canton went to Columbus this morning to ask the Ohio High School Athletic Association to lessen the one-year suspension on Canton McKinley High School. The board of control of the athletic group Saturday handed down a one - year suspension for the 1962 season to McKinley for the "undue influence rule."

Waterford Ready To Open 43-Day Meeting Saturday

Racing returns to the area Saturday when Waterford Park opens its 43-day fall meeting.

A new post time of 1 p. m. will be observed at Waterford Park for the meeting.

Assuming cold weather during the meeting which runs into December, Waterford has installed overhead heaters in the grandstand area and the clubhouse will be heated.

Racing will be under the direction of Harry Bell, the new racing secretary, who was named to the post after Horace Wade, resigned following this year's summer meeting. Bell had served as an assistant to Wade until he was appointed to the post by President James F. Edwards.

Bell reports the stable area is filling rapidly and a good supply of horses should be on hand for the meeting.

Howard Craig, one of the nation's leading riders, has returned to Waterford Park. He hasn't ridden at the West Virginia track for several years.

Racing fans of this area will remember Craig who was Waterford Park's leading jockey when the plant opened in 1951. He booted home 91 riders in the inaugural meeting.

Craig performed one of the greatest riding feats at Waterford Park. On July 2, 1951, he rode six winners and came back to boot home the first two the following day.

Craig finished the season at River Downs as the leading jockey with a total of 92 wins.

Taylor Leads 49-17 Rout Of Browns

Packers' Fullback Nets 4 TD's, 145 Yards: Steelers Win 1st

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Taylor won his head-to-head duel with Jimmy Brown, and there won't be many dissenting opinions today as to who is the best fullback in the National Football League.

Taylor scored four touchdowns, picked up 145 yards and stretched his lead as the NFL's leading ground gainer as he led the Green Bay Packers to a 49-17 beating of the Cleveland Browns Sunday.

Brown, who has been undisputed king of the NFL rushers the past four years, didn't score and gained only 72 yards in 16 tries. He has now gained 387 yards in 96 carries, while Taylor has rolled up 581 in 81 tries.

But as much as the former Louisiana State star meant to Green Bay, Bill Kilmer did just as much for the San Francisco 49ers, also scoring four times in a 38-24 slugfest over the Minnesota Vikings. The Packers and 49ers are tied for the Western Conference lead with 4-1 records.

New York and Philadelphia are deadlocked for the lead in the East after the Giants routed Dallas 31-10 and Philadelphia won over St. Louis 20-7. Both have 4-1 records as Dallas and Cleveland dropped to second place with 3-2 marks.

Pittsburgh won its first game, 20-0 over Washington, the only NFL club without a win, while Detroit eased by Los Angeles 14-13, and Chicago's resurgent Bears clipped Baltimore 24-10.

Green Bay scored touchdowns the first four times it had the ball, and Taylor got three of them on runs of 25, 7 and 45 yards. Paul Hornung, the NFL's leading scorer, got the other and upped his point totals to 77 with six extra points.

The Browns had not allowed a touchdown on a ground play until Green Bay's tremendous offense rolled in before 75,042 at Cleveland Stadium, the day's largest NFL crowd. When it was finished, the Packers had ground out 216 yards, nailing down the triumph with three third-period touchdowns that were set up by a pass interception and two recovered Browns' fumbles.

The Giants, tied 10-10 at the half, stormed home in the second half behind its great defense. Erich Barnes 101-yard run with an interception of one of Eddie LeBaron's passes paced the assault, while Y. A. Tittle tossed a pair of touchdown passes to Alex Webster and Kyle Rote.

United Just Fails In 14-8 Defeat To League Leaders

SALEM — United made a vain attempt to pull the game out of the fire before falling to West Branch, 14-8, here Saturday night.

West Branch picked up its third straight victory in the Turnpike Conference game and shows a 5-1 record for the season.

United held an 8-6 lead late in the fourth quarter but a 13-yard pass play from West Branch quarterback Chuck Wilson to Norm Wallace netted a touchdown and Wallace tacked on the 2-point conversion.

This gave West Branch a 14-8 lead but United came back strong on a brilliant 70-yard pass play from Larry Marks to Bruce Hoyt which put United on the West Branch 10-yard line with 21 seconds remaining in the game.

Two passes failed and a third was intercepted, with only a few seconds remaining, to end any United hope.

West Branch drew first blood when Dave Knoedler went over from one-yard out in the opening period but the conversion was stopped.

United marched back to take an 8-6 lead in the third quarter. John Hanna from his quarterback position wedged his way over from one-yard out after an intercepted pass had put the Eagles deep in West Branch territory. Marks ran for the two-point conversion that gave United its lead.

The loss was the second straight for the Golden Eagles which had won its first four contests of the season.

United meets Warren St. Mary's in its homecoming game Saturday at 2 p. m.

Plum May Be Out

Brown Didn't Seem Upset

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns lost a game, the league lead and their top quarterback Sunday in a humiliating 49-17 decision to the Green Bay Packers.

But Coach Paul Brown didn't appear too upset by the triple tragedy.

"We took a pretty good shellacking—but in the standings it counts as only one game," was his reaction. "We've won a lot of 'em like that, but they don't count any more than the one-pointers."

And a shellacking it was. The Green Bays scored the first four times they had the ball; they counted six touchdowns rushing—the first this year allowed by the Browns by that method; fullback Jim Taylor scored four times and piled up 158 yards in 21 carries to run off from Cleveland's Jim Brown in the rushing race; and the Browns gave the Packers the last three scores via the pass interception and fumble route.

Milt Plum threw a 21-yard scoring pass to Gern Nagler and a 13-yarder to Ray Renfro—but that came long after Green Bay had the tussle tucked away. Lou Groza booted a 27-yard field goal and missed another from 42, giving him 8 for 10 this season—and that was the extent of the Browns' offense.

Plum, the league's No. 1 passer with 75 completions in 131 tries for 934 yards and 9 touchdowns, suffered a dislocated thumb late in the fray and probably will not see action against Pittsburgh next Sunday. Milt pulled the thumb back in place as he came off the field.

Kannal, Campbell Score In Crestview's 16-0 Win

SALINEVILLE — Crestview punched across touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters while holding Salineville scoreless in a 16-0 victory here Saturday.

Gary Kannal scored from one-yard away in the first period and Skip Campbell raced 26 yards to tally Crestview's second touchdown in the fourth quarter.

On both TD's, Rupert added the two-point conversions on runs.

Crestview realized its second victory in six games. Salineville lost its fourth straight encounter and shows one tie for the season.

W. Va.'s Win Over Pitt 'Most Rewarding'-Corum

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia University's football team took a well-earned rest today following the Mountaineers second victory in a row, a 20-6 beating of old rival Pitt.

Coach Gene Corum said the day off was given because the season now is half over and the team could use the rest. He said it had nothing to do with beating Pitt.

A motorcycle escort met the Mountaineers at the Mason-Dixon line, about 10 miles north of here, and escorted them back to town Saturday evening.

Corum, elated by the victory, kept repeating, "I'm a happy man." He said it was the "most rewarding" game he had coached in his season-and-a-half at the WVU helm.

But Corum warned against a possible letdown at Boston University next Saturday.

The Terriers are having their troubles and own a 1-3 record, having lost to Army, Penn State and Holy Cross after an opening victory over Buffalo.

"I would rather play Boston when they have a perfect record than when they are going badly," Corum said. Last year, the two teams played to a deadlock.

Fred Colvard, one of the stars of the Pitt victory had seven stitches taken in a cut under his left eye. He was injured when tackled just before the end of the game. He had been shaken up earlier, but returned to action.

Colvard passed to Roger Holdinsky for one Mountaineer touchdown. Holdinsky, a senior speedster from Moundsville, sprinted 31 yards for another TD and Paul Gray recovered a fumble in the Pitt end zone for another.

It was the Mountaineers second straight victory after having gone 18 contests without a win. They now are 2-3 for the season.

Dallas, Buffalo Brawl Marks Action In AFL

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The oldie that "winning isn't everything—it is the only thing" seems to be working in the American Football League for San Diego and K.S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the two-frequently losing Houston Oilers.

San Diego just goes out and wins them all so there'll be no doubt about it.

Adams demands that his team win or else there's a new coach—a tie won't get the job done.

Not even if it's a 31-31 tie that turns into about the wildest, most thrilling offensive struggle of the year.

Adams reportedly told his coach, Lou Rymkus, that he had to beat Boston last Friday night or he was through. Hence the firing of Rymkus since there was only a tie.

Another coach, Frank Filchock of Denver, may have escaped the axe when Jack Hill kicked two field goals in the final three minutes, the last with eight seconds to go, and the Broncos beat Oakland 27-24. Filchock reportedly had been in the same situation as Rymkus.

Dallas had a couple of good ones while losing to Buffalo 27-24 Sunday. It was enough for the Texans to fight about—losing to the likes of Buffalo when a victory could have put Dallas back solidly in the race.

Anyway, twice in the last minutes the benches emptied at Buffalo, and once the linemen just stood across from each other and tried to see how hard and whom they could hit.

San Diego rolled merrily onward with a 25-10 victory over New York. It was San Diego's sixth straight and was achieved like most of the others—on the passing of Jack Kemp and the running of Paul Lowe.

New York's loss did not drop the Titans out of first place in the Eastern Division, but it did cut to a half-game its margin over second-place Buffalo.

Allies Having Difficulty

France Stymies West's Session On Berlin Stand

Parley Set For London Meets Delay

'Big 4' Aides Plan To Continue Talks At Washington Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cancellation of a proposed Western Big Four meeting underlined today the difficulties the Allies will face among themselves if they ever get into negotiations with Russia over Berlin.

The proposed meeting of senior diplomats from the United States, Britain, France and West Germany in London this week to work out a common negotiating position had been tentatively agreed on, a State Department spokesman said Saturday.

Sunday the spokesman said there had been no decision on the high-level parley and, instead, the Big Four ambassadorial group which has been meeting here regularly on the Berlin crisis "will continue here in Washington."

The reason for the switch, informants said, was France, which objected that it would be premature to get into discussions on negotiations when the Kremlin has offered nothing the West can negotiate about.

The future of inter-allied talks remained obscure as the Western diplomats discussed what to do next. The United States had an invitation out to the proposed participants to come to Washington.

In London the Foreign Office said its delegate, Deputy Undersecretary Sir Evelyn Shuckburgh, would go to Washington. A West German spokesman said over the weekend the Bonn delegate, Deputy Foreign Minister Karl Carstens, planned to leave for London Wednesday as scheduled. In Washington, Asst. Secretary of State Foyd Kohler dropped his plan to go to London.

France's Jean Lalois, Director of European Affairs in the Foreign Ministry, apparently was going to no meeting on negotiations —either in London or Washington.

The French stand is that the Allies would weaken their bargaining position by rushing into negotiations with the Reds over a Moscow-caused dispute while the Kremlin is threatening Berlin and has displayed no willingness to negotiate on anything the West can give up.

FATAL CRASH. A shell is all that remains of this hardtop convertible which police say crossed the medial strip of the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Downingtown, Pa., late Sunday night and slammed headon into another auto. Three died and four others were injured. Killed were Domingo Qulies, 26, of Chicago, a passenger in this car, and Carl Schick, 21, of W. Mifflin, Pa., driver of the other auto, and his passenger, Miss Duane Krier, 19, of Hatboro, Pa. (UPI Telephoto)

Taylor Sees Army Use As Last Resort

No U.S. Men Slated In South Viet Nam Unless Great Need

HONOLULU (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor apparently would recommend sending U.S. troops to South Viet Nam only as a last resort to save that key Southeast Asian nation from communism.

This was the indication today as President Kennedy's personal military adviser paused here for a day of conferences before resuming his fact-finding mission taking him halfway around the world.

Taylor, who flew in late Sunday with 15 specialist-aides, planned to talk with Adm. Harry D. Felt about current conditions in South Viet Nam, which is under increasing red guerrilla assault.

Felt, U.S. commander for the Pacific, has just returned from a swing through South Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand, where he attended a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

A decision on whether to recommend the use of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam awaits the results of what may be a two or three-week personal study on the scene.

But it is known that any recommendation by Taylor to send in American GIs would be made unhappily.

If the move did come, support-type troops likely would be landed first. Combat units would go in only if there was an extreme need.

Talking with reporters on his arrival here, Taylor said: "I am not going to Viet Nam to offer American troops. I am going to see whether they are needed.

"I might add that nobody wants to send American troops anywhere."

Taylor is seeking a formula that would bring swift results in stemming an apparently rising Communist threat to the pro-Western regime in South Viet Nam.

Lost Bomber Mars Test Of Air Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The disappearance of a bomber carrying eight men has marred an otherwise highly successful major test of North American air defenses.

The B52G jet was one of more than 2,250 U.S., Canadian and British planes that participated Saturday in the 12-hour mock aerial war, Sky Shield II. The North American Air Defense Command said: "The exercise was 99.9 per cent effective, and the results were as good as we could possibly expect."

The eight-jet bomber, attached to Seymour Johnson Air Force Base at Goldsboro, N.C., was believed to have run out of fuel. Air and surface craft swept a wide area in the Atlantic in search of the plane after it was reported missing early Sunday.

After the defense test ended at midnight Saturday, commercial air travel resumed across the continent. Except for mercy flights and a few other essential ones, no civilian planes were allowed to cross the skies during the mock war.

The exercise began with a simulated mass missile attack. Then more than 200 U.S. Strategic Air Command and British Royal Air Force bombers playing the role of "enemy" planes bored in for a follow-up assault.

Rep. Rayburn Rallies After Weekend Lapse

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn, 79, remained seriously ill with incurable cancer today after a weekend during which he weakened and then rallied.

The Texas Democrat has been at Baylor Hostpial since Oct. 2.

In its morning bulletin Sunday the hospital said Rayburn's condition was "only fair," that he seemed weaker and had "periods of confusion."

Adoula Says Congo Wants Rich Katanga

Premier Protests New Pact; Tshombe Issues A Warning

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula, protesting the new U.N.-Katanga pact strengthens President Moise Tshombe, declared the central Congo government is still determined to take over the rich secessionist province.

The U.N. meanwhile got a warning from Tshombe that unless the U.N. Advisory Committee on the Congo ratifies the agreement, he will hold as hostages the 184 U.N. troops taken prisoner in the recent fighting.

Dr. Sture Linner, head of U.N. operations in the Congo, appeared harried after a heated two-hour conference with Adoula Sunday night.

A U.N. spokesman said Adoula was "not very happy" about the new cease-fire agreement signed Friday that, in effect, recognizes the right of Katanga to defend itself from attack by central government forces.

Adoula declared in a radio address that the Leopoldville government has a right to use "suitable means" to end Katanga's secession. He did not elaborate, but central Congolese forces are already massed on the Katanga border.

A U.N. spokesman said the U.N. was not backing down on its determination to clean out foreign mercenaries in the Katanga forces.

The new agreement, he said, merely supplements the provisional cease-fire reached with Tshombe at Ndola Sept. 20.

The whole agreement must be ratified by the U.N. Advisory Committee on the Congo before becoming permanent. The commitee was expected to meet today in New York.

26 Flee Small Fire In Home For Children

Twenty - six youngsters were evacuated safely from the Hancock County Children's Home at Pughtown Sunday afternoon when a small fire broke out in an electrical appliance in the basement.

Failure of an automatic shutoff device on an electrical clothes dryer caused some garments to catch fire.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Ellen Dailey, supervisor, who heard a muffled explosion when heat from the burning clothing and bed garments blew open the door of the dryer.

The youngsters were evcuated from the building as a safety precaution while the fire was being extinguished. They left in orderly fashion, using one of the fire escapes.

The supervisor and a 17-year-old boy extinguished the flames with buckets of water from a sink in the basement.

The dryer was damaged badly, along with the garments that were inside, but there was no other damage.

Chester and New Cumberland fire departments responded to the alarm at 4 p. m. The fire was out before they arrived.

Grenades Thrown Into Crowd When 5 Flee Border House

BERLIN (AP) — East German police threw tear gas grenades at at West Berlin crowd today after five East Berliners jumped from a second-story window of a border house into a sand-filled truck, West Berlin police said.

The incident occurred at Bernauerstrasse. There, apartment houses on one side of the street are in the Soviet sector, while the sidewalks below are in West Berlin.

At around noon, the truck roared up to one apartment house. Seconds later three men and two women jumped into it. West Berliners standing nearby cheered. The Vopos — East German people's police—were taken by surprise but after realizing what happened tossed several tear gas grenades into the West Berlin crowd.

West Berlin police said the two women suffered minor injuries in the jump.

The East Germans, meanwhile, acknowledged that mobilization of the workers' militia to man the barricades has dealt a serious economic blow.

Red economic chief Alfred Neumann told the party's Central Committee Sunday "the withdrawal of workers from a factory for outside activities not connect-

Chief Jails Brothers For Ohio View Entry

An alleged burglary at Mickey's Place, a tavern at Ohio View, was broken up Sunday at 11:55 p. m. when Police Chief Guy St. Esprit, checking doors, found one unlocked.

He said two men who gave their names as Albert Riley Coffey, 29, and his brother, Jim Robert Coffey, 27, both of Rochester, N. Y., are in Midland Jail waiting a hearing today and transfer to Beaver County Jail.

St. Esprit said he found a door unlocked and walked in on Albert Coffey, who was kneeling near a cigarette machine that had been broken open. The other man was in the back of the tavern, St. Esprit said.

Nehru Visit Seen Eyed By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew back from a weekend on Cape Cod today for conferences with the president of Finland, Russia's western-inclined next-door neighbor.

As he headed for the capital, Kennedy was understood to be planning a quiet conference with Prime Minister Nehru of India at his Hyannis Port haven next month.

Arrangements were being made for Kennedy to exchange views with Nehru both in Washington and in the seclusion of his vacation home the first weekend of November.

Kennedy is known to have been interested for some time in talking personally with the leader of the world's largest uncommitted nation in the cold peace, as he puts it, between the free and Communist worlds. The possibility of a get-together before the year ends has been in the wind since early summer.

President Ayub Khan, the leader of India's neighbor Pakistan, visited Washington in July. Nehru's trip may lack the ceremonial trappings of a state visit but would provide the opportunity for a face-to-face discussion, without formalities, of the Communist threat to Asia as well as the global aspects of the fundamental East-West conflict.

Mrs. Kennedy was going back to Washington with the chief executive to be hostess at a White House luncheon for President and Mrs. Kekkonen.

At an afternoon conference, Kennedy and Kekkonen were sure to discuss a third "K" in the family of government chiefs, Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He would naturally figure in the personal exchange over Finland's ties with the West from a position on the Soviet border.

The Kennedys, who may spend one more weekend on the cape, were kept ashore Sunday by dismal weather. Lt. Cmdr. Walter Slye, skipper of the presidential yacht Honey Fitz, reported sighting a few snowflakes in the drizzle and mist that clothed Nantucket Sound.

Driver Fined In 'Fantastic' Traffic Case

Judge Expresses Astonishment At Story Of Defense

A North Side youth was fined and given a suspended jail term today in Municipal Court after a hearing before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who declared the circumstances related by the youth and his uncle, arrested 45 minutes later for drunken driving, were "fantastic."

James E. Sturgill, 20, of Henry Ave. was fined $25 and costs and a 10-day jail term was suspended after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without an operator's license.

A hearing for his uncle, Robert Sturgill, 46, also of Henry Ave., on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor and driving without an operator's permit was continued until Oct. 24 at 9 a. m. at the request of his counsel, Atty. William S. Foulks. His bond was set at $500.

James E. Sturgill was cited at 3 a. m. Saturday on Walnut St. for driving without a license and police warned the uncle not to drive.

However, police said Robert Sturgill drove away when officers left the scene and was arrested at 3:42 a. m. on Gardendale Ave.

They told Judge Chertoff they were hunting milk for James Sturgill's baby and also attempting to locate the home of the unidentified owner of the car they were driving when they were picked up.

Woman Due Hearing After Tavern Arrest

Mrs. Patty Bowers of 2nd St., Chester, a bar maid at Pat's Tavern at Carolina Ave. and 5th St., will be given a hearing tonight before Mayor Ray Collins on a charge of operating the tavern after the legal closing hour of 1 a. m. Sunday.

She was cited Sunday at 1:30 a. m. by Patrolman Clarence Lennens, who reported she unlocked the door of the tavern at 1:28 a. m. and admitted two persons and at 1:30 a. m. to admit him. He said there were six other persons in the tavern.

Carl Amedeo of Railroad St., Chester, operates the tavern.

Nigerians Protest

Stray Postcard Brings Peace Corps 'Black Eye'

IBADAN, Nigera (AP)—A postcard that went astray has given the American Peace Corps its first black eye in the field.

Nigerian university students demanded Sunday that the corps unit sent to teach Nigerians be expelled because of criticism of primitive living conditions in this year-old African republic written by an enthusiastic—but "thoughtless"—girl in the group.

Her postcard home, dropped accidentally on the campus, stirred 1,000 students at Ibadan University College to an angry demonstration denouncing the American volunteers as "agents of imperialism."

Margery Michelmore, 23, Smith College honor graduate from Foxboro, Mass., quickly apologized to the university authorities for writing the "thoughtless card" and offered to resign from the corps in an attempt to quiet the uproar.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver said in Washington he talked to the Nigerian ambassador and "he did not seem disturbed. He said it was the type of thing you could expect in this kind of operation, and I agreed with him."

The anti-American demonstration was organized after someone reportedly had found on the campus grounds the postcard that Miss Michelmore had written to a friend in Boston telling him: "With all the training we had, we were really not prepared for the squalor and absolutely primitive living conditions rampant both in the cities and the bush.

"We had had no idea about what 'underdeveloped' means. It

Ike Assured Kennedy On Jets For Tito

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post said today it had learned President Kennedy was assured by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that the shipment of surplus Saber jet fighters to Yugoslavia was in the national interest.

"Gen. Eisenhower is said to have told President Kennedy," the Post story said, "that the planes shipped to Yugoslavia were obsolescent and and would never be a factor in a major war of the future.

"The decision to ship the planes to Yugoslavia was made before the change of administration last January and explained to the incoming president by the outgoing

45 Cubans Reach Miami After Small Boat Rescue

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Forty-five Cuban refugees, 18 of them children, arrived in Miami today after a Coast Guard rescue off the Bahamas island of Cay Sal with a U.S. destroyer standing by.

The destroyer sped to the scene after reports that a Cuban boat had fired on the small, leaking craft bearing the refugees. But refugee arrivals in Miami said they heard no shots.

"We heard no shots, but later heard rumors that there had been some," was the unanimous report of six women aboard.

The women and children were taken to a Miami hotel. The 21 men aboard were detained by immigration authorities for questioning.

P. S. Willmore, chief immigration official in Key West, and Sir Robert Stapledon, governor of the British Bahamas, issued brief statements.

The British governor, who sent policemen to the tiny island to investigate, said shots had been exchanged between "two Cuban fishing boats" just offshore after the refugees landed.

Willmore told newsmen: "I spoke with the Cuban political refugees, and they said that they were not shot at and that there was no shooting in their vicinity while they were on Cay Sal or while they were in the boat."

Cay Sal is leased by Clarence B. Moody, 63, owner of a Miami dredging business and once a builder of homes on islands near Miami. Moody said that he had notified the Coast Guard Saturday morning to pick up the re-

Neumann said industrial output was up three billion marks—$714 million at the official rate of exchange. But he said over-all production was falling short of targets fixed in the regime's seven-year economic plan.

The brown-uniformed militiamen played a large role in building the wall dividing East and West Berlin when the barricades began going up Aug. 13. But early this month they seemed to disappear—apparently back to the factories.

Despite the close police guard on the Berlin border, Americans were allowed to pass into East Berlin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, in a demonstration of Western rights to move anywhere in the divided city, toured the Communist sector Sunday night. President Kennedy's personal representative here was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commandant. Police made no attempt to interfere with them.

Five women employes of the U.S. mission in Berlin, riding in a private American car bearing Army license plates, were turned back twice at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint when they refused to show their identity papers to East German guards. Lt. Thomas S. Bainbridge of Detroit, Mich., showed up in uniform, took over the wheel of the car with the women as passengers and rode through.

Four other Americans—three civilian teachers and a U.S. State Department official traveling alone—were held up returning from visits to East Germany when they declined to show their papers. Then without explanation, they were allowed to pass.

The Western Allies contend that only the Soviet Union has the right to check cars with Allied military registrations.

Mishap Injures Hancock Driver

A Weirton man is in "good" condition today with injuries received when his car crashed over a hillside between New Cumberland and Weirton Sunday at 8:30 p. m., Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported.

Prior to the crash over a 50-foot embankment, Mike Chaneski, 69, had struck an East Liverpool man's auto on State Route 2, deputies said.

Chaneski suffered a lacerated nose and possible chest injuries. He was to undergo X-rays today at Weirton General Hospital.

Deputies said Chaneski's southbound 1951 car struck the 1950 model auto of Charles R. Hall, 19, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, before he continued south on Route 2 and eventually went over the hillside.

Hall was traveling north. Deputies estimated $75 damage to his vehicle.

Mishap Injures East End Woman

A Glenmoor motorist was fined this morning in Municipal Court as the aftermath of a collision shortly before 9 a. m. on the River Rd. in which an East End woman was hurt.

Augustus A. Baumgarner, 40, was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after pleading guilty to a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way.

Baumgarner was cited by police who said he made a left turn in front of a westbound car operated by Duane L. Wilson, 39, of Calcutta in which Alvera Riggs, 34, of 933 St. George St. was a passenger.

The woman was treated at City Hospital for a bump on the head and an abrasion of the left knee.

According to the drivers, Wilson was trailing a commercial truck on the River Rd. Baumgarner waited until the truck had passed and then pulled in front of Wilson, they said.

Oliver W. Kirkham, 304 Maplewood Ave., also was fined $25 and costs and given a suspended 10-day jail term by Judge Chertoff after pleading guilty to a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

Kirkham told Judge Chertoff he was driving a car loaned to him by a friend, but the judge interrupted to declare, "He's no friend of yours; he's an enemy if he allowed you to drive without a license."

Police cited Kirkham at 9:19 p. m. Saturday on E. 5th St. after he crashed a traffic signal at Broadway and E. 5th St. He told police his license had expired and he secured a learner's permit.

However, he failed to pass a new examination for a license because he has an artificial leg, Kirkham told police.

Joseph A. Abbas of Washington, Pa., cited Friday at 3:30 p. m. for passing two cars and a truck over a double yellow line on Route 30, was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty. Abbas pointed out he was from Pennsylvania and under its law was not guilty.

The Idea Is Getting Around

President Kennedy makes it clear to his countrymen they must learn to live with danger because it will be their companion for a long time to come.

Former President Eisenhower makes it clear to them they must do what their pioneer ancestors did—learn to plow a straight furrow with a rifle on their back.

A young opera singer in New York buys space in The New York Times to tell its readers she is not afraid—that her parents came here from Lebanon so she could be born into American citizenship and she does not intend to use her birthright in fear.

The idea is getting around.

Whether it's a president, an opera singer, or someone next door, Americans are beginning to be ashamed of sweaty palms and nervous stomachs.

THEY SEE the mobilization of their own neighbors who have stood by in the reserves to deal with an emergency and they are ashamed of their own misgivings about America's willingness to stand firm.

They comprehend the meaning of "better red than dead" and murmur a plea of forgiveness to the memory of stalwart ancestors who stood resolutely for their beliefs even when it meant death and disgrace.

They flinch at the monstrous irony of a situation in which governments that cannot feed their own people have the effrontery to bluff and bluster well-established nations into asking for negotiation.

And they despise the circumstances that have made it seemingly impossible to speak and act resolutely, lest they give offense to some clique or junta with patches on its pants and duplicity on its conscience.

AMERICANS are sick and weary of waving money in bids for international friendship that is not for sale. Nothing has been bought with dollars but something has been sold—the dignity of the American people.

There is a dynamic national urge to retain the dignity this country had when it carried Teddy Roosevelt's big stick.

Americans yearn to initiate action for a change, instead of reacting to whatever the Communists have done most recently.

They would like to believe just once that Moscow might be as worried over the next move in Washington as Washington chronically is worried about the next move in Moscow — or Peiping, or Havana, or Belgrade.

The idea is getting around.

It is not braggadocio.

It isn't bluster.

It's just a tremendous yearning for the spirit that once dominated America, when the difficult was done immediately and the impossible took a little longer.

Protection For Party Systems

It may be, hopefully, a long time before occasion arises here to use the new state law governing appointments to fill vacancies in county elective offices.

But when the time comes it will prove to be more satisfactory than the old system.

The new statute gives the appointive authority to the county central committee of the political party to which the resigned or deceased elected official belonged. Formerly it was held by the county commissioners, except in the case of vacancies on their own board.

ONE ADVANTAGE of the new system is that it assures the appointee will be of the same party as his predecessor. This provision will end the controversy that cropped up in so often in the past when a vacated office was to be filled by officials of the opposite party.

It also will serve better to protect the will of the voters in our party system of government.

The advantage of giving the appointive power to the party committee is that stronger appointed officials should be the result. When members of one party are required to appoint an officer from another party, their natural political inclination is to select someone who will be a weak official and a weak candidate in the next election, if he becomes a candidate at all.

The party committee, however, desiring to build a reputation for supplying good officials and attractive candidates, will try to pick their best men to fill vacancies.

THIS IS ANOTHER protection for the success of our party system of government.

Because it is impossible to anticipate the circumstances of each instance in which the new law will be used, it is improbable that either party will benefit more than another from its provisions.

The important point is that the two-party system of government, founded on the ultimate prerogative of the electorate, stands to benefit from the new law.

Not An Easy Idea To Grasp

No one can be surprised when a spokesman for South Africa fails to grasp the impropriety of race-baiting in the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Spokesmen for South African have been extreme and hateful in their views on the inferiority of Negroes in Africa. Even longtime friends of South Africa have been shocked at official prejudice.

It is not an easy idea to grasp anywhere that human beings who believe in the dignity of man do not revile men whose condition of life does not compare favorably with that of their critics.

They sympathize with them.

They seek to help them.

They are more concerned with their dignity as human beings than they are with their shortcomings.

And if they think of themselves as citizens of the world they acknowledge that men with white skins are in a minority and no longer can they insult the colored races with impunity. There is a time coming when even South Africans will need the compassion of black-skinned Africans.

Fortunately, South Africa is not represented in its entirety by men like Eric Louw, its foreign minister who affronted the United Nations with a speech that drew a 67-1 vote of censure because it was insulting to the Negro race.

It is not represented in its entirety by Premier Henrik Verwoerd, who has made a political career of race-baiting.

It is misrepresented by these men who have not grasped the idea that they owe respect to all men in the brotherhood of man, even if some men have had no chance to improve their lot. They do not go out of their way to insult them in public speeches because to do so is to insult all mankind.

It has long been the proudest boast of the best of our own southerners that they were aware of the limitations of the Negroes whose ancestors had been brought here as slaves but were equally aware of their right to be treated with respect.

South Africa left the British Commonwealth after it had shocked other members with its race-baiting. Perhaps it is growing restless in another organization that is obligated to put the brotherhood of man ahead of the prejudice of race-baiters.

Suddenly, He Was In The Parade

Reuther Eyes AFL-CIO Presidency

By Victor Riesel

Early in the morning of Monday, Oct. 9, Walter Reuther dispatched telegrams from Detroit to some 35 men sitting behind closed hotel room doors in New York.

Victor Riesel

The wires soon had the small conference hall buzzing with speculation that the auto union chief was preparing to launch a drive to make himself leader of the land's 13 million AFL-CIO unionists.

Those 35 to whom the message came were not alone. They were with more than another hundred labor leaders who make up the influential organization's high command.

It was not so much what was said in the wire to the selected few — but what the recipients read between the lines:

"I regret my involvement at the bargaining table in Ford strike," said Reuther, "will make it impossible for me to be in New York."

"I was looking forward," Reuther also said, "to the opportunity of talking to you during the general board meeting. . . . As soon as negotiations in the auto industry are behind us, I will be in touch with you."

OBVIOUSLY, the wires were not intended by Reuther to be distributed to the 35 men who are leaders of former CIO unions while they were sitting with the rest of the AFL-CIO national leadership. But Western Union (no relative) saw its duty and dumped them in the central temporary AFL-CIO headquarters, Room 102 at the Hotel Commodore.

Just as obviously, Reuther was telling the men whom he considered his bloc that there would be no private "CIO Caucus" during the week-long series of meetings.

At this quiet caucus some of the leaders of former CIO unions would have expected Reuther to talk of his running against George Meany for the presidency of the AFL-CIO — a post which has taken on enormous global prestige and truly vast political influence at home during the last few years.

President Kennedy, for example, promised early in his administration that every important global mission, such as the Lyndon Johnson trek across the world, would include a labor adviser.

REUTHER'S WANTING such a post is therefore understandable —and it is not expected that his absence here will interfere with his campaign, observers said.

There will be another chance to meet and confer. Reuther will have around him most of his supporters in Washington during the weekend of Nov. 16.

At that time a special AFL-CIO division known as the Industrial Union Department, led by Walter Reuther and James Carey, will run its "Fourth Constitutional Convention" at the Statler.

There are 59 major national unions in this "department." Not all of them are devoted to "The Redhead." But most of them are — and they have a treasury running upward of $3½ million.

What will happen at that meeting is not anyone's guess. On this beat, the influential men don't guess or speculate. They predict.

What they predict is news, because what they do affects not only the land and bread and butter and cake but international policies as well.

INFORMED MEN in the AFL-CIO believe Reuther either will ask George Meany privately to step down as AFL-CIO president — which the vigorous, now suddenly good-humored, internationally influential "Mr. Labor" himself will refuse with a few well chosen Anglo-Saxon words.

Or Reuther will decide to run for the labor presidency at the national AFL-CIO convention in December at Bal Harbour, Fla. Reuther will not expect to win—this time.

But by running he can set himself up as the leader of the loyal opposition to Meany. Thus all dissidents will come to him. And he will be waiting for the next convention in 1963.

Once I heard Harry Truman describe Reuther as a young man in a hurry. But there must be gray now amidst the rusty hair of the auto union leader — and with the gray must have come the knowledge there is strength in patience.

Reuther, some of his intimates say, can wait a bit. But he must start sometime. This is it. The stakes are big.

The Grinnies

By Truman Twill

I want to be the first to admit there has been improvement among the grinnies—and I don't mean chipmunks.

I mean the people who were everlastingly grinning when photographers took their pictures. They aren't as earish-to-earish as they were a few years ago when I began to complain about them.

Remember how it used to be? A kidnaper who had buried the little body in a pile of gravel would pose for his picture grinning from ear to ear and with him would be a brace of knucklehead cops similarly overjoyed about getting their "pikshur in the papers."

Everybody in those days was taken in by the photographer's shallow credo that the world was composed of happy people who kept smiling through gunfire, arson, molesting, pilfering and highway robbery.

"Now that great big smile!" was a royal command. Pronto, the smile burst like a sunrise. What were they smiling about? When posterity asks this question a generation hence no one will know.

Football players, baseball players, basketball players, second-stroy men, fallen women, committeewomen, auto race winners, beauty contest losers, rounded-up gamblers, wounded soldiers, sailors, bankers, bridge players, lost children, models, salesmen, politicians and con men all smiled, regardless.

Even the pickpockets smiled behind the hats they held in front of their faces. Having your picture taken was a happy thing; that was the gist of it.

The grinnies grinned through Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin. They flashed their dentures through Haile Selassie, the fracas in Spain and the Chinese agrarians.

Everybody kept smiling right through Austria, Czechoslovakia and Finland.

We grinned through World War II. Even Pearl Harbor didn't wipe off that smiles. Look, ma, no brains but we're happy. Har de har har.

For those of us who aren't laughing boys by inclination. though our hearts are wondrous gay, some of the grinning was so hard to bear we itched to wipe it off with fists. Especially when people who should have been weeping and scowling melted before the camera lens and let the old sunshine through. Ugh.

Some of the worst offenders were in the ads—women who grinned while scrubbing floors, doing the family washing and cleaning up after spoiled kids whose heads should have been bashed in.

The trained seals still do a lot of grinning while fooling with their hair and swallowing stuff good for their insides, but for this they can be forgiven. The hair-foolers are letting their mouths hang open the way a man's mouth gets all awry while he is shaving his face. And the people who take stuff good for their insides are gastro-intestinal cases. What looks like a grin is gas pains.

The grinnies are pulling out of it. Mostly if there's nothing to grin about, they don't grin—not even if they've had their teeth capped. It has occurred to a number of Americans recently that happiness is a state of mind, not a position of the mouth.

U.S. Growth Shackled

By David Lawrence

Taxes, Anti-Trust Laws Seen Restrictive

The biggest problem before the country today is domestic but it can mean the difference between defeat and victory in the contest with the Communist regime in Moscow. It can be described in a phrase - incentives to national growth.

David Lawrence

The truth is that national growth is being impeded, obstructed, retarded, and even discouraged. The greatest obstacle to national growth is the federal government itself, aided and abetted by demagogic politicians and narrow-visioned economic advisers in the government.

Two examples stand out. First, if war broke out tomorrow, the nation's whole transportation system would be inadequate to move troops and supplies. The railroads, for example, are in the worst condition they have ever been in American history.

Who is responsible?

The federal government, of course, and this means the Congress as well as the executive branch. While belated studies at last have been ordered, there still is no sign that the railroad problem will be tackled effectively.

The most antiquated of all laws are those governing the railroads. Mergers are a necessity today yet they are being blocked by local considerations. The national interest is not being given paramount attention.

The consolidation of many small railroads into a few big systems would give the country efficient rail transportation once more under a private enterprise formula.

The government can help by removing impediments and providing certain assistance, particularly to meet national defense needs.

THE NEXT EXAMPLE is in the field of production. If America expects to compete successfully with Soviet production in the next 20 years, there must be an opportunity for American business to expand naturally in the interest of efficiency.

Tax laws on depreciation must be revised. Growth cannot come, moreover, if expansion is retarded by antitrust laws that are more theoretical than practical.

More extensive operations by single companies would mean that prices could be lowered as volume of sales were increased and economies were achieved through large-scale production.

It doesn't make sense to delegate to a bureaucracy of lawyers in the Department of Justice or even to a federal court the solution of economic problems involving growth.

How can such officials decide whether 40 per cent of total production in a given industry is too much or too little for one company to have? Which is more important — to preserve someone's ideas on these theoretical percentages or to give America more growth and more employment by enabling the industries of the United States to bcome more efficient and step up their production?

Things of climactic importance are happening. The Common Market in Europe means stiff competition for America. The rest of the world is moving on while America is lagging.

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS now the Kennedy administration has been hearing that it is considered antibusiness. It wonders how this impression gained currency.

The answer is that it isn't due simply to speeches or comments by administration officials nor is it related solely to any announced policies.

It is the net result of efforts to enforce old antitrust laws that are long out-of-date, ambiguous, confusing and destructive. The politicians fear that to help national growth by sensible policies is to become allied with or too friendly to "big business."

Big unionism, on the other hand, is accepted as a fact of life, the federal government doesn't put any brakes on the growth of unions which set the wage rates in an entire industry and compel employers to accept uniform wage costs that, of course, affect prices.

There are no "antitrust" laws restricting the growth of national unions.

Lots of talk has come from the White House lately about holding down prices, along with some vague talk about urging labor to be moderate in its wage demands. But the big point is being missed.

Profits are being reduced by one-sided policies. Prices are an economic problem and cannot be resolved by a political formula.

National growth will not come by governmental control of wages and prices. It will come by removing restrictions against growth and by revising or repealing many antitrust laws that have been written by the courts—and not by Congress.

IT'S TIME to take a look not only at the whole monopoly situation but also at the outmoded rules and regulations of federal agencies like the Interstate Commerce Commission.

There is need for a reexamination, too, of the functions of the National Labor Relations Board, which, every time an administration changes, reveals a tendency on the part of newly appointed members to regard the board as a quasi-political instead of a quasi-judicial agency.

National growth is America's most urgent need. It is being blocked today. The much - discussed competition with the Soviets is now confined to the field of education or science but extends to the field of production as well.

Unfortunately, production doesn't have a lobby in Washington. What's needed is not just a political secretary of commerce but a secretary of transportation, a secretary of foreign trade and a secretary of national production—each of them nonpolitical, like the secretary of defense. For all this is related to national security.

Red History Hits U.S.

By Preston Grover

MOSCOW

The Soviet Union's newest volume of World War II history derides the British-American war effort in North Africa and the Pacific as directed heavily toward selfish interests of monopolists and not toward winning the war.

The third volume of the proposed six - volume history of the war covers 1942-43 with heavy emphasis on the battle of Stalingrad and the turning back of German forces.

To Westerners used to reading Western - type history, the sections on the Allied activities read more like a propaganda campaign than real history. The volume has sections definitely intended to arouse bitterness between the United States and France over the African campaign and between Britain and the United States over the Middle East.

"U.S. OFFICIALS supported the idea of an invasion of North Africa in order to push Britain out of the Middle East," the book says.

It adds that the Americans also intended by this operation to get their hands on French North African colonies and thus have a dominating influence on France.

The history revives the old debate as to which was the more important Nazi high - water mark in World War II — El Alamein or Stalingrad. It relates that while the Germans had 12 divisions, 510 tanks, 600 pieces of artillery and 300 airplanes in North Africa at the time of El Alamein, they had 266 divisions on the Soviet front.

The book says any attempt to make El Alamein more important or even moderately equal to Stalingrad as the turning point in the war is "distortion of history."

It says, instead, "the outcome at El Alamein was determined by the fighting at Stalingrad" which prevented the Germans from reinforcing Rommel's army in North Africa.

At the same time the book richly illustrated with pictures and maps, pays high tribute to the British 8th Army in Africa.

"THE 8TH Army displayed high spirit and excellent fighting qualities," it says, adding that the El Alamein victory "was of great importance for the British Army and the British people" coming "after a number of heavy defeats."

The United States pursued the North African invasion, the book says, because "it fully and completely corresponded to the interests of American monopolists who strove to take his rich region into their hands."

The book contends the Soviet Stalingrad victory also had a great influence in the Pacific bloc of Fascist states and forced Japan to delay its attack against the Soviet Union.

fugees after receiving a radio-telephone call from a caretaker on the island. Then in the afternoon, Moody said, he received another call from the caretaker, Cleo Sears.

"This time he said to me, 'A Cuban boat is firing on the refugees on shore. We are desperately in need of help.' I notified the Coast Guard," Moody said.

The Coast Guard boat and a destroyer, already en route, were told to wait offshore Saturday night. The pickup was made the next morning. Moody flew to the island—130 miles southeast of Miami—Sunday.

He said he got this story from his caretaker: A boat 40 to 50 feet long flying the Cuban flag and with "Joe Louis" painted on the stern had been fishing in the area two or three days. It was anchored 1,000 feet from the island Saturday morning when a vessel which appeared to be a refugee boat picked up other refugees from a leaking boat and went into an inlet. The refugee boat anchored, and the occupants went ashore.

"At 3 p.m. the boat that appeared to have been fishing pulled up anchor and advised Sears that it was returning to Cuba," Moody related. "But instead it went into the inlet and opened fire with rifles on the refugee boat. The crew returned the fire with a couple of rifles and then jumped overboard and waded and swam to shore. The Cuban boat turned its fire on the refugees waiting on the beach and kept it up for 10 or 15 minutes. Finally it left."

No one was injured. The group comprised 21 men, 6 women and 18 children.

Fire Prevention Program Closes At Midland Plant

As a climax to Fire Prevention Week at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., 11 tri-state area fire departments attended demonstrations at the plant fire brigade training grounds Saturday.

Capt. W. H. MacBurney, chief of plant protection, welcomed the firemen and Lt. J. W. Graham, plant fire marshal, addressed the group on "Operation Fire Control." As operation of different types of extinguishers was explained, demonstration fires were extinguished by visiting firemen using types of extinguishers under discussion.

George Yother and Tom Jones, representatives of the Safety First Products Corp. of Elmsford, N.Y., explained and demonstrated use of dry chemical fire extinguishers on flammable liquid fires and gas fires.

Guest firemen engaged in an extended period of fighting flammable liquid test fires, using their departmental equipment. This phase of the demonstrations is designed to give firemen training and practice in handling many problems connected with industrial fires.

Lunch was served at noon by the Midland Works.

Improved Protection Sought For Crossing

EAST PALESTINE — Mayor Robert Harding today appealed to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for a more adequate warning system at the N. Market St. crossing following an accident Saturday night in which a local car containing four persons crashed the gates and narrowly missed being hit by a fast - moving train.

The mayor said the lights should be larger and more prominently displayed.

A southbound car driven by Mrs. Marie Daniels, 37, of 463 N. Sumner St. crashed both gates Saturday night at 9:25. Witnesses said Mrs. Daniels stepped on the accelerator and speeded up the car or she would have been hit.

In the car with her were her sister, Mrs. Walter Haldiman, and two small children. Mrs. Daniels told police the car windows were clouded and she didn't hear the bell.

She was charged with crossing while the gates were closed. She pleaded guilty and was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs by the mayor.

California Man Cited For Reckless Diving

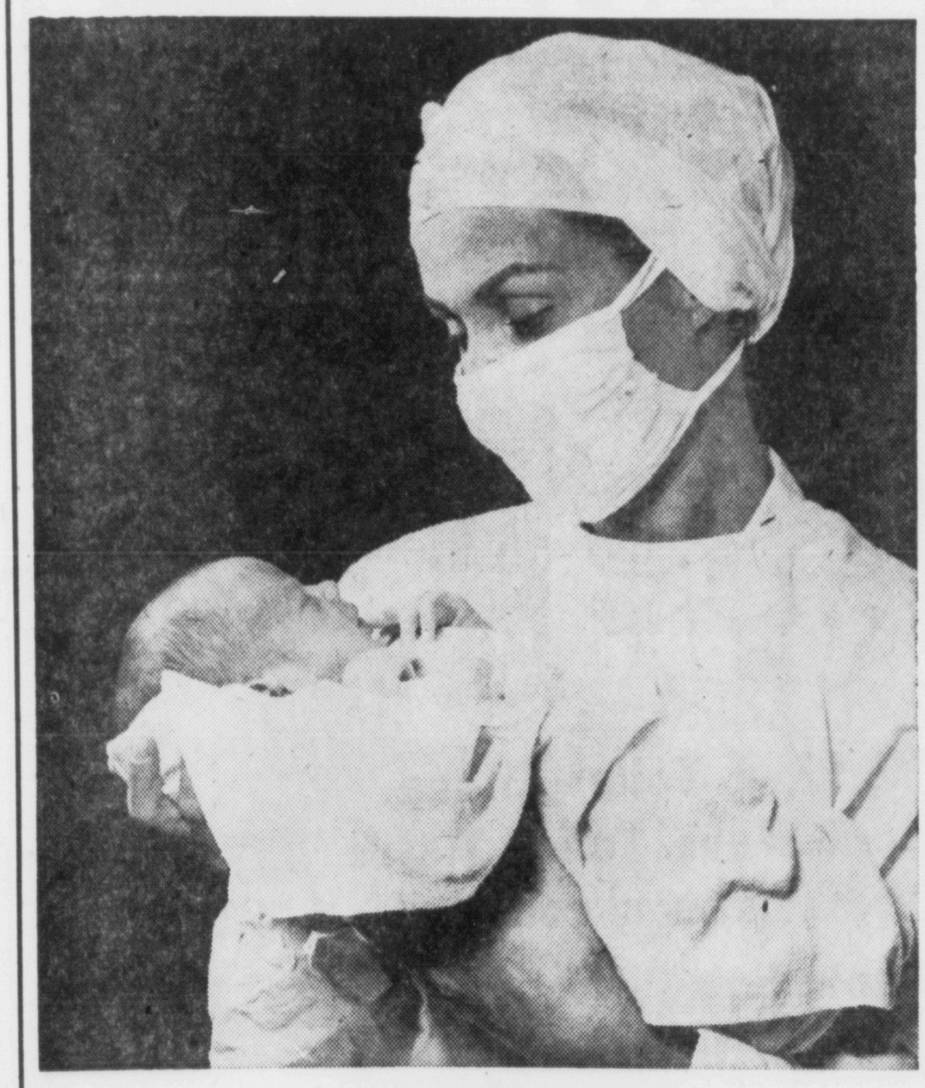

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) Harold L. Dunnigan may be the first man in history to get a ticket for reckless diving.

Dunnigan, of nearby Santa Monica, took a pleasure dive Sunday in what you might call a 2-boat. It's a miniature submarine that accommodates two people.

He stayed down about 15 minutes. When he surfaced a harbor patrol boat was waiting for him. The officer aboard wrote a citation.

"Endangering surface craft by submerging and returning to the surface in the vicinity of the harbor entrance," it said.

Officer Robert E. Pierce said Dunnigan was warned on at least three previous occasions not to submerge in or at the mouth of the harbor.

LISBON — Ralph Donnalley, 62, of 709 E. Lincoln Way was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail Sunday by Mayor Dean Stockman on a charge of driving while intoxicated filed after a traffic mishap Saturday night.

Police said Donnalley backed out of the parking lot at the Lisbon Hotel on S. Market St., crossing the street and hitting a parked car. Then he drove back onto the lot, hitting a porch post at the hotel and another car owned by Maude Hunter, 41, of 228 Pritchard Ave., officers said.

There also was damage to a door of a garage owned by the Carl Co., officers said. Donnalley was halted when a bystander took the ignition keys from his car, police said.

Thelma Everett, 22, of Maple Hill, Salineville, forfeited a $15 bond Sunday in the mayor's court on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. Police said her car was involved in a collision Saturday at W. Chestnut and N. Beaver St. with a car driven by David W. Nicholas, 17, of 116 Summit St. There was $100 damage to each car, officers said.

Ernest James Cozza, 44, of Salem R. D. 3 forfeited a $10 bond Saturday on a charge of driving left of the center line. His truck collided Friday afternoon with a car on Route 164 inside the village limits. The other vehicle was operated by Anna Bowman Faulk, 26, of Lisbon R. D. 5.

First Test Slated Shortly For U.S. 'Saturn' Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Scientists plan to launch this week the first Saturn superrocket on an eight-minute flight which will start the United States on the long road to manned landings on the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reports the firing will take place within a few days if no problems arise. With 1.3 million pounds of thrust —about 30 million horsepower— the first Saturn is three times more powerful than any previous U.S. rocket.

The maiden flight will test the first stage only. Two upper stages will be filled with 23,000 gallons of water to simulate weight of the operational rocket.

The flight plan calls for the 162-foot, 462-ton Saturn to accelerate to a speed of 3,700 miles an hour during the 1 minute 57 seconds burning time of its eight big engines. In that time it will consume 300 tons of fuel.

When the engines cut off, the vehicle will coast upward on a ballistic trajectory to an altitude of 95 miles before plunging back into the Atlantic Ocean 235 miles to the southeast. No recovery attempt will be made.

Saturn is the United States' first entry in the heavy booster field. The Soviet Union has been using for some time an operational space rocket with estimated thrust of one million pounds.

When ready in 1964, the two-stage Saturn C1 will be capable of placing a 10-ton satellite in earth orbit. Advanced C3 rockets will be able to send 40 tons into orbit or 15 tons on probes to the moon, Mars or Venus.

president, according to a source informed about the background of the affair."

Disclosing the transaction last week, the State Department said it was intended to help Yugoslavia stay free of Soviet domination. In connection with the sale of the 135 planes, eight Yugoslav Air Force men are being trained at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

The State Department said the purchase agreement was completed Jan. 15, five days before Kennedy succeeded Eisenhower. Kennedy could have canceled the contract, but decided to let it stand.

There has been criticism of the deal from some Congress members. Saturday, administration officials reported that Kennedy last month had ordered a review of U.S. aid to Yugoslavia.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Thoughts Of Death Bother 5-Year-Old

Of her son, five, a New Jersey mother wrote, last spring: "About two months ago he announced that he would miss me when I die. I told him I would still be with him but he couldn't see me and, in any case, I wouldn't die for a long time. He seemed to accept this and I didn't pursue the subject.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Then a few days later he asked when today would come again. I said it wouldn't and he started to cry. I told him that tomorrow would be as nice as today and he could always remember today. He brought the subject up so many times afterwards that I got the feeling that he thought his life was slipping away. It gave me an eerie feeling.

—:—

"MEANWHILE, he practically went on a hunger strike. He wouldn't eat because he would never see his potatoes, etc., again. We tried to explain that God gave us food to eat so we could live, that the farmers would grow more potatoes for us to eat, but he would have no part of our explanations.

"He stands and cries when the truck makes our trash collection because he will never see it again.

"Perhaps I'm wrong but it seems to me that all these things are connected with death. If they are or if they are not, what can I do to help him understand and place this kind of thing in as proper a perspective as can be done for a five-year-old?"

He also worried about entering school and leaving his mother in the fall.

Here's how I answered this mother:

—:—

DO ALL YOU can to make this lad more self-reliant physically and emotionally and less dependent on you.

You and Dad should go out together, going more often gradually, leaving him with a dependable baby-sitter, training him to feel comfortable out of your presence.

Seek ways to help him have a lot of fun with other children of his age and lots of outdoor activities.

Dad should read much to him, make things with him, go places with him. Try, both of you, to be cheerful and gay in his presence. Don't let him view many TV programs, none of violence.

When he speaks or acts anxiously in ways you related, act and answer him very casually in a few words with no show of emotion, and then try to turn his attention to something else. I'm sure that you explain too much and that he senses your deep concern about his worries. If you see no improvement after a few weeks, you should consult a psychiatrist.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove white stains from the bricks of my house?

A. Sometimes these stains will disappear when washed with water and a wire brush. More often, you'll have to use a solution of one part muriatic acid to seven or eight parts water. Wearing rubber gloves, and being careful not to splash any of the acid on you, scrub the brick thoroughly. After the stains are off, flush the area completely with a hose.

Q. How can I prevent any danger of mold in my collection of books?

A. If a few drops of oil of lavender are scattered here and there throughout your bookcase, you need not fear the formation of mold.

Q. How can I remove lipstick stains from white linens?

A. By soaking the cloth in strong vinegar. If the stain is on colored material, use equal parts of vinegar and water.

Q. How can I prevent the juice from running from between the edges of my fruit pies?

A. You'll stop this juice escapage if the edges of the bottom crust are wet before adding the top crust, and the edges are then pressed firmly together in a good seal.

Miss Janice L. Smith Weds Melvin Welling At Lisbon

Miss Janice Lee Smith and Melvin Graydon Welling pledged their marriage vows Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock in St. George Catholic Church at Lisbon. Fr. William Hohman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Smith of Lisbon R. D. and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Welling, also of Lisbon R. D. Miss Jo-Ann Klug was at the organ.

Smith escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her ballerina length gown of embroidered tulle was styled with a basque bodice, scalloped sabrina neckline and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt was formed by multiple tiers, each edged with scallops.

A coronet of orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her grandmother, the late Mrs. William Wilkin. It was topped with a white orchid on tulle with cascading satin wedding streamers. She observed all the familiar traditions.

Miss Marie Welling, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She was attired in silk organza of rose shade. The dress was street length with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and a full skirt. Her matching headpiece was attached to a theater veil. She carried a hand bouquet of yellow carnations.

Stanley Macuich of Salineville was best man and Donald Smith, brother of the bride, and Richard Welling, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Mrs. Smith chose for her daughter's wedding a blue wool dress with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise jersey ensemble. Each complemented her attire with a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Irene Davner of Leetonia, maternal grandmother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Ward of East Liverpool, paternal grandmother of the bridegroom, had corsages of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was served to the bridal party and members of the immediate families at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana.

An open reception was held in the evening for 300 guests in St. George Parish Hall, where music was furnished for dancing. The bride's table was laid in white and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake surrounded with yellow carnations. Bouquets of roses completed the decorations.

Miss Sandra Shaw and Mrs. Alfred Cook served the cake, Mrs. David Pannier presided at the punch bowl and Miss Dorthea Slack and Mrs. Robert McCluskey served coffee.

Mrs. Thomas Washam registered guests from Hanoverton, Amsterdam, Leetonia, Youngstown, Cleveland, East Liverpool, Cadiz, Salem and Lisbon.

The bride, a 1958 graduate of Lisbon David Anderson High School, is employed at City Loan Co. in Lisbon. Her husband was graduated from Fairfield High School in the class of 1955 and is employed at Heim Sheet Metal, Inc., of Lisbon.

For the honeymoon, the bride wore a red wool ensemble with black accessories and an orchid corsage. Upon their return, the couple will reside on Route 30 west, where they have recently purchased and furnished a home.

Rehearsal was held at the church Friday night.

Soviet Asks 'Friendship'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union published an appeal for friendship with the United States, Britain and France today, within 24 hours of opening the big Communist party congress.

The appeal was one of the many slogans the country publishes each year in advance of the Nov. 7 celebration of the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution. There are 101 slogans this year.

While the congress will adopt a program calling for Soviet economic and cultural development aimed at spreading communism over the world, the party Central Committee not only proposed peace and friendship between East and West but even invited friendship with the people of West Germany.

"Long live friendship and cooperation between the people of Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union in the interests of a stable peace throughout the world," said slogan No. 38.

The slogans occupied the entire first page of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ.

Among major news items was one on the arrival of the Chinese delegation.

The delegation is headed by Premier Chou En-lai. But the Chinese party's No. 1 member, Mao Tze-tung, stayed at home.

The ideological schism of the Soviet and Chinese parties continues and appeared to be reflected in Mao's absence and the cooling of relations between the Soviet Union and little Albania, which these days is taking its principal guidance from China.

Officers Wound Fleeing Boy Who Killed 2 Friends

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A moody youth—shot by state troopers as he attempted to flee from his Adirondack Mountains hideout—has admitted he killed two former chums, police report.

The youth, Charles E. Warner, 16, seriously wounded by police fire Sunday, is in a hospital here.

"We had a fight a long time ago," he said as he reportedly admitted the fatal shooting Saturday night of Philip Lindroth and Howard Lindstadt, each 17.

The violence began between two banks on the main street of this picturesque resort community—noted as the birthplace of baseball—and ended at an Adirondack cabin on Big Moose Lake.

Warner had driven from Cooperstown to the lakeside cabin, about 110 miles north of Cooperstown, after the shooting. When state police approached, he attempted to drive off, they said.

Warner was shot in the back, leg and shoulder, and the car smashed into trees.

Herbert Warner, father of Charles, said he did not have "the slightest idea what brought this about."

None of the boys had been in trouble previously.

Residents of Cooperstown said the three had been inseparable companions until about a year ago, when Charles left the group. He was described as a loner and moody.

In the wrecked car, police found a pistol, two rifles, a 12-gauge shotgun, all loaded, and hundreds of rounds of ammunition.

Duty Started By Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two National Guard divisions and 249 lesser reserve and guard units have started a stretch of active duty that could last up to 12 months.

Called to duty Sept. 19, the units reported Sunday to Army posts scattered across the country. In all, about 73,000 Army reservists and guardsmen were involved, bringing to 153,000 the number of Army, Navy and Air Force Reserves called to duty to increase U.S. military strength.

Both the 32nd Infantry Division of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored Division of Texas reported Sunday. The 32nd will train at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and the 49th at Ft. Polk, La.

In announcing the callup, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that if world conditions improve, the reserve troops may not have to stay on duty 12 months. That was the time limit congress placed on the callup in authorizing President Kennedy to add 250,000 men to active duty status.

Crowd Inspects Fire Department In 'Open House'

Over 300, the largest number ever recorded at such an event, visited the Wellsville fire station Saturday during open house held in observance of Fire Prevention Week. The day was marred by one emergency call.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the exceptionally large crowd represented the most persons ever to visit the station during such an observance.

The visitors consumed 20 dozen doughnuts and several gallons of coffee. Several parents brought their children and among those touring the station were a Girl Scout troop and a Boy Scout troop.

Displays of small fire fighting equipment were set up on tables. The firemen explained their use to the public.

The firemen were called at 5:45 p. m. to the home of John Powell, 1715 Clark Ave., to extinguish a blaze in the basement.

Firemen said Powell's son, John was attempting to rekindle a fire in a coal furnace. Some hot coals still remained in the fire bowl. The material started smoking and then a smoke explosion followed, blowing bits of burning paper into the cellar.

The boy attempted to extinguish the fire himself before calling the department.

Damage was estimated at $300 to $400. Firemen said the floor joists were charred and there was heavy smoke damage throughout the house.

'Vast Opportunity' Seen

Women's Role In Crisis Aired At BPW Session

"Dimensions In Democracy," this year's theme, was emphasized in several phases of the program at the fall meeting of District 8 of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which attracted 111 members and guests Sunday at Westgate School.

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh, district director, is shown with Miss Frances Jones, local president, and Mrs. Katherine B. Lance of Toledo, state public relations chairman, comparing notes for the all-day session.

In the main address, Mrs. Lance said women's present day role offers vast career opportunities in the business world, with very few professions closed. In this era of sweeping changes with automation and space problems, women are meeting the challenge offered in unlimited fields, she said.

During war times, womanpower is one of the nation's greatest assets and the economy of the country would crumble now if women withdrew from employment, she said. She also mentioned women's increasing leadership in international affairs.

Mrs. Wambaugh presided and introduced Miss Jones, who extended the welcome. Clubs of the district represented were Columbiana, Coshocton, Dover-New Philadelphia, Newcomerstown, Salem, Steubenville, Dennison-Uhrichsville and East Liverpool. New clubs taken into the district were Canton, Sebring and Youngstown.

Registration began at 10:30, followed by a coffee hour. The business session was held in the forenoon, with reports presented by each club. In a discussion on "Women In Politics," Mrs. Nessie Dunlop was introduced as a candidate for the city Board of Education.

Mrs. Wambaugh reminded the group that names of candidates for state offices must be submitted by Jan. 1. District presidents met during the noon recess.

The luncheon was served in the cafeteria. The tables were decorated in a fall and Halloween theme, featuring "scarecrow" dolls holding quotations of advice, fall flowers and black paper cats.

Reports on registration and finance opened the afternoon session. Steubenville had the largest visiting representation.

A humorous skit, "Dimensions in Membership," was presented by a group from the hostess club, Mrs. Virginia Manypenny, Mrs. Martha Blatchford, Mrs. Clara Hall, Mrs. Margaret Wotring, Mrs. Virginia Smith, Miss Gloria Naughton, Mrs. Donna Allison, Miss Joan Witt, Mrs. Pat McKinnon and Miss Rachel Ketchum. Mrs. Wambaugh was narrator.

A discussion period was held on "Club Level Problems and Idea Exchange." Mrs. Lance and Mrs. Margaret Alice Avery of Eaton, state first vice president, answered the questions.

A large number of prizes were awarded visiting members.

The Steubenville club had charge of devotions, which included a sermonette and special music; Columbiana took care of the printed program booklets; Coshocton handled the question box and Salem prepared the reaction questionnaires.

Committee chairmen for the hostess club were: Miss Jones, general chairman; Mrs. Dunlop, federation hostess; Mrs. McKinnon, door hostesses; Mrs. May Hartt, coffee hour; Miss Helen Bibbee, reservations; Miss Olive Williamson and Miss Helen Auld, registration; Mrs. Allison, decorations and favors; Mrs. Manypenny, supplies and prizes; Mrs. Ethel Harvey, luncheon hostess, and Mrs. Mary Jane Frontone and Mrs. Hall, publicity.

The date and place of the spring meeting will be announced following the meeting of the Executive Board in January.

White Will Lighten Around Window Wall

Since the window wall gets less natural illumination than the rest of a room, it will look darker even though the same shade of paint is used throughout the room.

For this season, many decorators add a bit of white to the paint that will be used on the window wall.

Family Of 4 Dies When Lost Plane Crashes Into Hill

Wreckage found Saturday on a hillside at a Washington, Pa., district farm gave up the bodies of a Massachusetts family of four killed Friday night when their plane crashed while wandering lost in a heavy storm.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zakany of Williamstown, Mass., and their children, David, one month, and Thomas, 2. The Zakanys formerly resided at Columbus.

The Cessna 150 apparently was the same airplane that was reported lost over the northern Jefferson County area Friday night after the pilot radioed for landing instructions at the Ohio County Airport at Wheeling.

The Zakanys were en route to visit relatives at Columbus. The plane took off from North Adams, Mass., Friday morning and landed at Binghampton, N. Y., for refueling. Its next fuel stop was to have been at Wheeling.

Pennsylvania state police said the plane apparently crashed as the pilot circled looking for an emergency landing spot.

Tax Payments Rush Deputies In Hancock

Payment of 1961 property tax bills by Hancock County residents has been keeping busy the staff workers of Ed Mayhew, chief tax deputy in the tax department of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny in New Cumberland.

The tax deputy said payments have been "coming in rapidly" since 27,560 statements were mailed Oct. 5.

Mayhew reminded residents that a 2½ per cent discount is granted if payments are made this month. The flat rate prevails in November and a nine per cent per annum interest rate is charged after November.

Mayhew said first half statements are due now, while the second half statements are due in April. Some residents are paying both statements now in taking advantage of discount rates, he said.

Mayhew's office in the Courthouse is open for collections Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and Saturdays from 9 a. m. until noon.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove ink stains from polished or bare wood surfaces?

A. For a polished or varnished surface, mix powdered pumice stone and linseed oil to a light, creamy mass, and rub the spots with a piece of felt or heavy-bodied cloth dipped in the mixture. Always rub with the grain and continue until all ink disappears. On a bare wood floor, apply repeated coatings of liquid oxalic acid with a brush. The liquid is made by dissolving a tablespoon of oxalic acid with a brush. The liquid is made by dissolving a tablespoon of oxalic acid granules in one pint of hot water, and is used cold. Caution: This acid is poisonous in large doses!

Q. Can you suggest a good treatment for hair that is excessively oily?

A. Beat the white of an egg as stiff as possible, and rub into your hair until it is wet all over. Allow to dry, after which the egg will brush out like fine, white powder and leave your hair fluffy and bright.

Fisherman Stumbles Onto Mammoth Tooth

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Earl Faucett said he was walking along a creek bed fishing when he stepped on a hard object.

University of Alabama geologists examined the object and said it was a tooth from a mammoth—an animal that lived before the ice age and resembled an elephant.

The age of the huge tooth was estimated as between 12,000 and 500,000 years.

Most mammoth remains have been found in Alaska and Siberia.

Faucett, of nearby Bradford, Ala., isn't saying where he found the tooth. He said he caught 12 bass that day, and he doesn't want a good fishing spot spoiled.

'Choose To Lose' Answers Diet Needs

The great American search for a magic diet or reducing formula goes madly on. Every fourth person you meet is either on a diet, has just been on a diet or is going on a diet —tomorrow.

Ida Jean Kain

With all this preoccupation with diet, why are so many Americans seriously overweight? The truth is that crash diets are not the way out of our fattening fix. Such diets deal with the effect, the fat, but ignore the cause, for they do nothing to change our everyday ways of eating. "Creeping overweight" is proof that our food habits no longer match our way of life.

It's not that food is more fattening today, or that we are eating more, but simply that we are using less fuel. This push-button way of life has markedly lowered our calorie needs.

FOR SPECIFIC example, in washing clothes by hand the homemaker burned approximately 250 calories per hour, and then went on to hang the clothes on the line, stretching and bending in the process.

When the energy in electricity does the work and we setp on the gas pedal for transportation, it doesn't take much food to cover the cost of the energy expended. So the excess fuel furnished in our food is stored as fat.

The homely expression "cut the pattern to fit the cloth," applies here. Let's stop this diet-dallying and proceed in a mature way to cut the food pattern to fit our lessened energy requirements. Thank heaven for the science of nutrition — with it we can cut our calories down to size without going hungry.

Friends, the hardest part of my role as a dietitian is to sell you on the idea that on-again-off-again dieting is futile and that reducing need not take the fun out of eating.

To lose weight, calories must be lowered, but you can choose and lose. Understand that a reducing diet has no magic in it, whatever its combination of food or mysterious formula. It's the grand total of calories compared to the fuel used that determine weight.

To help you rule the diet and lose weight, I have prepared a new leaflet entitled "Choose To Lose Diet."

ACTUALLY, IT isn't a set diet. There is no reason why you should follow set menus planned by someone who cannot know your likes and dislikes, your food budget or your particular circumstances.

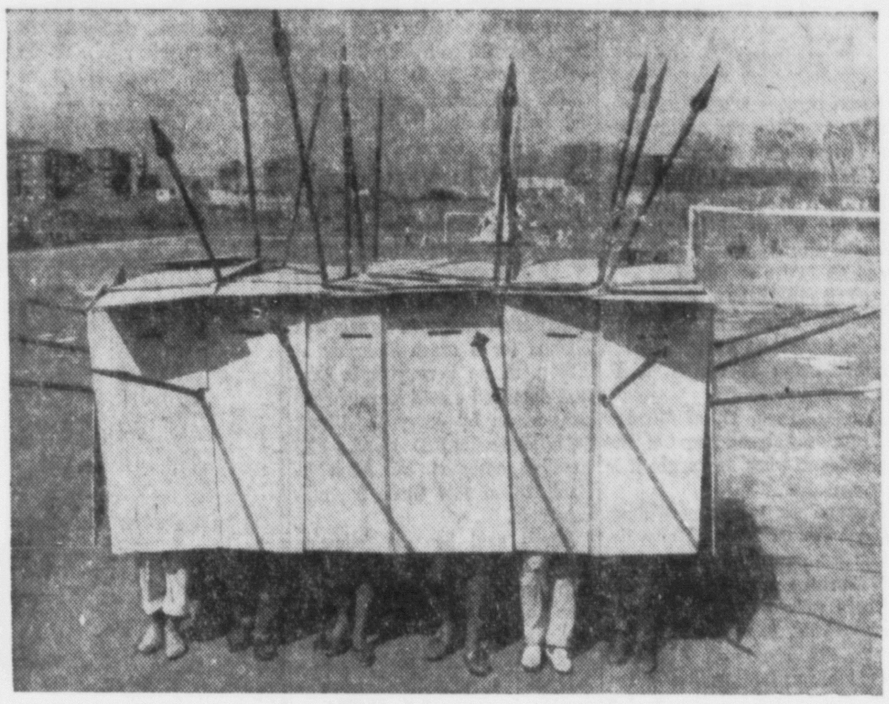

With this pattern you have freedom of choice, and the plan by which you can eat to build slimness. Being able to choose and lose should take the resistance out of calorie curbing. Try it!

Send a stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for the new leaflet, "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Post cards cannot be answered.

Columbus Buses Roll With End Of Walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—City buses rolled on Columbus streets today for the first time in two weeks.

The bus-riding public heaved a sigh of relief as a strike by some 550 bus drivers, mechanics and maintenance men came to an end.

But there was one bleak omen possibly looming — a chance the Columbus Transit Co. may ask for an increase in its 25-cent fare.

Harness Racing Site May Get OK In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15 (AP) — commission was reported ready to issue one, or possibly two, pari-mutuel track licenses at today's meeting.

An authoritative source, who declined to be identified, said a license would be issued to the Bucks County Racing Association headed by Daniel C. Parish, Pittsburgh contractor, and Arthur J. Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Another license might be issued, the source added, to the Washington Trotting Association headed by Del Miller, a horse breeder. The group proposes to operate a track in Washington County.

The source said, however, action on the Miller application might be put off until later. The Miller group still is considered the frontrunning contender for a license among three other Washington County groups which applied.

Should one be granted for that county, the track would be the first to operate with pari-mutuel betting in Western Pennsylvania. Washington County voters are the only ones to have approved tracks in that part of the state.

Warm Weather Seen For District Tuesday

The chilly weather that descended on the district almost without warning Saturday should ease today and vanish by Tuesday, the Ohio forecaster said.

Today's high will be 50-58. Tonight will be clear and cool, with a low of 38-44. But Tuesday will be fair and warmer, the weatherman said.

Saturday's weather, the coolest of the season, brought thoughts of radiator anti-freeze and topcoats. It was accompanied by a cold rain. The Stratton Dam registered a high of 46 yesterday, with only a trace of precipitation.

Bear Hurts 3 In Ohio Park

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa. (AP)—A park attendant and two other people were mauled by a 250-pound black bear Sunday before it was shot to death by the attendant's 15-year-old son.

The incident occurred at Fairyland Forest, a wild animal park operated commercially near this northwestern Pennsylvania community.

John Hohl Sr., 35, of Conneaut Lake R. D. 2, the park's caretaker, and Ida Mae Kemp, 35, of McKees Rocks, near Pittsburgh, were reported in fair condition at a Meadville hospital.

Robert A. Mahoney, 12, of Coraopolis, was treated at the hospital and released.

State police said John Hohl Jr. killed the animal with two shotgun blasts.

Police gave this account:

The park attendant went to check the bear's cage, as young Mahoney watched. The bear suddenly grabbed the boy's right arm.

Hohl unlocked the cage door and put his hand in the bear's mouth. The bear released the boy's arm and started clawing and mauling Hohl on the head, chest and back.

Hohl's son then struck the bear on the head with a stick, stunning the animal and allowing the caretaker to escape.

Labor Dinner Speaker Hits Sen. Lausche

U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche is a "poor excuse" for a representative, Charles P. Lipsen of Washington, director of the Active Ballot Club of the Retail Clerks International Association, told 175 union representatives at the annual Trades and Labor Council banquet Saturday night at St. Aloysius School Hall.

Lipsen told his audience the unions disagree with Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona but said he "is more dangerous because he's more effective."

"No one pays any attention to Lausche," he declared.

The union official had high praise for Ohio's junior senator, Stephen Young, declaring the Cleveland man "wears no man's collar." "He is one of the most respected senators in Washington," Lipsen said.

The Washington official told union members to participate more actively in politics, urging them to register and vote.

Recalling President Kennedy's address to the United Nations in which the President referred to free trade unions as one of the bulwarks of democracy and one of the differences between democracy and communism, Lipsen said:

"Some people wrap themselves around the American flag but still try to destroy the union movement," apparently referring to those favoring the right - to - work laws.

Pamphlets were distributed outlining the aim and purposes of the ABC. The organization is sponsored by the Retail Clerks union to disseminate facts on issues and candidates.

Elmer Robinson, Trades Council president, was program chairman.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. Wilbur Beaver, pastor of the Glendale Nazarene Church near Newell. Organ music by Hal Green preceded the program.

Turkish Voting Close, Coalition Bid Waited

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's two major parties were running neck and neck today for control of Parliament, indicating that the nation faced a new political crisis.

At least 10 million Turks turned out for Sunday's parliamentary elections to restore civil government after 17 months of rule by a military junta.

The new right-wing Justice party was pressing former President Ismet Inonu's Peoples Republican party hard.

With neither major party near a majority in the assembly and the two not likely to get together to form a government, a weak coalition with the minor parties appeared likely.

Poll Officials' Class Set Tuesday At Salem

Precinct officials who will serve at the Nov. 7 general election will attend a school of instruction Tuesday night at 8 in the Salem Memorial building.

The class was set up by the County Election Board because of the large number of new precinct officials in Salem and the creation of new precincts in Salem and Perry Townships, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

However, the school is not limited to those in the northern half of the county. Any poll worker may attend, he emphasized.

Camel Driver Set For Plush Tour Of Johnson Farm

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson plans today to give a Pakistan camel cart driver the same gilt-edge treatment that has charmed heads of nations.

Bashir Ahmad, 44, who sports a flowing black mustache, and Johnson arrived at the latter's central Texas ranch Sunday night.

The camel driver then was whisked to the ranch house in a jeep flying the Pakistan flag.

The vice president planned to take Bashir on a tour similar to sightseeing trips given President Kennedy, German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Pakistan President Ayub Khan, and Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. Bashir's trip originally was scheduled for July 4 but was delayed until after the visit of the Pakistan President.

Johnson—to whom Bashir refers as "the deputy king"—first met the camel driver while the vice president was touring Pakistan last spring. As he shook hands with Bashir, Johnson said, "Come over and see me." and Bashir accepted. American business men made the trip possible under the People-to-People program.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., subcommittee chairman and author of the bill, has described the patent provisions as its most controversial part.

Among other things, they would require compulsory licensing of patents on prescription drugs after three years.

Officers List 4 Crashes On City's Streets

Four mishaps marred weekend traffic in East Liverpool, damaging six autos, but no one was injured, police reported.

A collision in the 1000 block of Dresden Ave. Saturday at 1:11 p. m. involved a 1961 four-door sedan driven by Charles H. Brewster, 50, of St. Albans, W. Va., and a 1955 two-door sedan operated by Keith Kirbaugh, 28, of Hammondsville, officers reported.

Brewster told police he was driving north on Dresden when he was forced to apply his brakes for an auto in front of him that suddenly turned off the road. Then Kirbaugh's car hit Brewster's auto in the rear, he said.

The rear of Brewster's car was damaged. There was no damage to Kirbaugh's auto.

A mishap on Park Way at 11:22 a. m. Saturday involved a 1953 two-door sedan driven by Russell W. Carnes, 33, of Grimms Bridge and a 1959 four-door sedan operated by John Barringer, 31, of 500 Princeton Ave.

Carnes told police his car was hit from the rear when he halted for a Post Office truck which had broken down in the northbound traffic lane. Barringer apparently did not see the Carnes car in time to stop, he said.

The postal truck was driven by Tom Hebron, officers said. The crash damaged the rear of Carnes' car and the front bumper of Barringer's auto, officers said.

Confusion over turn signals was blamed for a crash Saturday at 2:24 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. that damaged a 1955 four-door sedan driven by Jerry L. Alford, 24, of Wellsville R.D. 1 and a 1960 hardtop operated by Alvin T. Babb, 53, of 1547 Globe St., officers said.

Alford said he was following Babb, who switched on his left turn signal. He said he started to pass Babb on the right when Babb made a right turn and the two cars collided. Babb told police he indicated a right turn and was turning into an alley when his car was struck.

There was damage to the right front fender and right side of Babb's auto and the left front fender of Alford's car, police said.

Charles A. Bole, 34, of 130 W. 3rd St. told police the left rear of his 1953 auto was damaged Sunday about 12:20 a. m. while parked in Green Ln. An unidentified auto pulled from a parking space, hit Bole's car and continued without stopping, he said.

Sierra Leone, which recently became a country, had been an English Crown Colony since 1808.

Nation Gets Snows, Heat

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather blew hot and cold today, with freezing and snow in sections of the Northeast and summer-like temperatures in the far West.

Cool air extended across northern border areas from the Central Rockies into New England. Snow ranged up to six inches in Houlton, Maine, and four inches in Caribou, Maine. Temperatures were in the 20s and 30s in the Central Rockies, the Lake Superior district and from the Eastern Lower Great Lakes into New England.

But in the far West, it was sweltering in sections of California Sunday, with the mercury soaring to 111 degrees in Long Beach. It was a hot 102 in Los Angeles for the second straight day and San Francisco had an unseasonable reading of 94.

Generally fair weather covered most of the nation. Snow flurries and showers hit the Lower Great Lakes and the Northern Appalachians. Fog was reported along the Pacific Coast. Mostly clear skies prevailed in other areas.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers. My problem is too personal to discuss with my mother so I am writing to you for an answer.

I've been dating since I was 16. I'm almost 19 now and my boy friend is 20. We've been going steady for three months. It's becoming awfully hard to keep our emotions in check.

Several weeks ago my face began to break out. I've tried not using soap, as my girl friend suggested, but it didn't help. My steady told me last night that my pent-up emotions are making my skin break out. He says female prudishness is unnatural and that my glands are rebelling.

It sounds very logical. Is this true or false?—MISS MESS.

Dear Miss: Are the fellows still using that one? I thought it went out with the Stutz Bearcat. If your boy friend's theory was correct, I'd have to be worried about all the girls with lovely complexions.

See a dermatologist. And while you're there ask HIM if what your boy friend has in mind will help your complexion. You can then set the guy straight with the information you get from the physician.

And by all means thank him for offering himself up for purely medicinal purposes. It was indeed noble.

Another Go Round

Dear Ann: You make me sick. That letter from "Doc's Old Doll" who was married to a man younger than herself was just darling. And then you came along with that crummy answer and spoiled everything.

I happen to know of several cases where the woman is older and the marriages are wonderful. Your statement that "some women at 40 look like 50 and their young husbands are running like 60" was downright mean. Are you implying the men don't age?

I attended a 25-year high school reunion in June and I recognized every woman there. But the men had changed so much I had a hard time figuring out who was who. Women may put on a little weight, but at least they don't get bald. These men are all in their early 40s and I was shocked at the billiard-ball heads.

And by the way, Buttercup, how old is that picture of YOU at the top of your column?—FORMER FAN.

Dear Former: I made it abundantly clear in my letter to "Doc's Old Doll" that I, too, knew of some exceptions and that she and Doc certainly sounded content. As a rule, however, I don't recommend marriage between a man and an older woman.

As for me, I don't know which picture you're looking at because the newspapers change them around but no picture is more than two years old. And incidentally, I'm 43, Petunia. Any more questions?

Rugged Bumbler

Dear Ann: My husband operates a business from our home. I work in an office and I'm excellent at detailed bookkeeping. I've offered dozens of times to set up an efficient system for him. I even bught ledger cards, but he insists on doing things his own way.

"His own way" is half-baked and it takes forever. His accountant has told him his methods are sloppy and that he ought to let me help him. But the man is plain stubborn. How can I get him to change his mind?—W.B.S.

Dear W.B.S.: You can't, so give up. You and your husband sound plenty competitive and I suspect he'd prefer to stumble around forever rather than allow you to show him how to do something. Ask his accountant to help him set up an efficient system. And stay out of the act yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rocket Launch Slated To Probe Ionosphere

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Scout rocket designed to climb 4,500 miles in one hour will be fired this week. Its aim: to explore the ionosphere and send back important data for radio communications and for the tracking and guidance of space craft.

The solid fuel Scout, a four-stage rocket 72 feet high and weighing more than 18 tons, will be launched from Wallops Island, Va. It will carry aloft a 94-pound package of instruments.

The rocket's final stage will remain attached to the eight-sided scientific package. They are expected to fall into the South Atlantic, 3,900 miles from the launch site. No recovery attempt will be made.

Polls Boost Democratic Drive In East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Encouraged by their private polls, Democrats are putting new punch into efforts to defeat Republican nominee James P. Mitchell in the New Jersey governor's race.

Mitchell, former secretary of labor in the Eisenhower Cabinet, generally is regarded as the favorite over Democrat Richard J. Hughes in one of the few contests that hold national significance in this year's elections. Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner has held the office since 1953 and was not eligible to run again this year.

Democrats at national headquarters here are talking more and more confidently about the possibility of a Nov. 7 victory which would be a blow to Republican revival hopes in the industrial East. They say their polls show Hughes making significant gains.

If Mitchell can win the New Jersey governorship, the Republicans hope to go into the 1964 presidential election with New York and New Jersey state house control, which carries with it organizational benefits denied to the outs.

The Republicans already have the Massachusetts governorship, which they will seek to hold next year. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York also will be a candidate for reelection next year. There will be strong Republican bids in 1962 to turn the Democrats out in Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

In 1960 President Kennedy carried Massachusetts by more than a half million votes. But he won New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, representing 101 electoral votes, by relatively narrow margins. All had Democratic governors except New York, where Kennedy got 52.6 per cent of the popular vote. His total in New Jersey was only 50.4 per cent of the vote. It was 51.2 per cent in Pennsylvania and 53.7 per cent in Connecticut.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I improvise some finger paint for my children?

A. Boil some laundry starch and a few soap chips to a paste, tint this with some food coloring, and add a small quantity of glycerin to keep the mixture moist. Place each color in a separate bowl or dish — being sure, of course, that the paint has cooled before tiny fingers are dipped into it.

Q. How can I mend a mirror that has a scratch in the coating on its back?

A. You can usually effect a very good repair by smoothing a piece of aluminum foil over the back of the mirror, a piece the size of the scratch, then coating with plain shellac.

Q. How can I prevent dripping fat from flaring up and ruining a steak or chicken while I am doing some of my outdoor charcoal broiling?

A. By placing a few lettuce leaves over the hot coals of your fire.

Q. How can I clean some soiled photographs?

A. By sponging very lightly with a small piece of cotton dipped in alcohol, and allowing to dry by evaporation.

Governors Didn't Want To Take Chance

ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia legislature in January will take up a bill to let the attorney general appoint his 23 assistants.

The governor appoints them now, under an old law letting the executive name all but one of the assistants paid out of the attorney general's appropriation.

The theory behind the system, oldtimers say, was that governors didn't want to take a chance on the attorney general building up backing for a governor's race.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Every month, large numbers of house trailers and cargo vans float down the Columbia River into the Pacific Ocean — and it isn't because of a flood. The trailers and vans are part of a monthly cargo shipped from Portland to Anchorage, Alaska, by barge.

Ford Slates Full Output By Midweek

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. aimed today at having its 120,000 production workers back at their jobs by Wednesday, the United Auto Workers Sunday having ordered local unions to call off strikes at all but two of Ford's 85 plants.

There was doubt, however, just how far Ford could go without settlement at one of the two plants still struck — the Walton Hills stamping plant outside Cleveland, Ohio, which employs 3,300 and makes pressed metal parts for all of Ford's car divisions.

A strike at Walton Hills a year ago began to take Ford assembly lines down in six days, and a union spokesman predicted today that if this plant were not back working in nine days, all Ford assembly lines would be affected.

Beside authorizing workmen at Walton Hills to continue their strike in support of local-level demands, the UAW's international executive board told the 1,700 employes Sunday it represents in an engine factory at Wayne, Mich., they could continue their walkout for an at-the-plant settlement to supplement the national contract.

Ford and the UAW reached agreement last Thursday on a new three-year national contract that carried wage and fringe improvements which the union estimated worth more than 12 cents hourly in take-home pay. Similar benefits had been won earlier at American Motors Corp. and General Motors Corp.

Chrysler Corp. is the next target for UAW bargainers. Chrysler negotiations, as had Ford's, have been allowed to slide while the union hammered away elsewhere.

On the strength of its national contract and a series of local settlements Ford summoned about a third of its 120,000 production workers back today. It said maintenance workers would be recalled to others, that most production workers would be back on the job Tuesday and all by Wednesday, it hoped.

Tips On How To Get Room For Storage

Whether it's spring, summer, fall or winter, storage chores are admittedly unending for America's average homeowner family. For fly rods or fans, slip covers or shovels, overcoats or overnight bags, storing-away time has become one of the most difficult-to-cope-with periods during any season. It admittedly isn't easy to find space for storage when, physically, your home has a square footage problem. Yet many homeowners have found that there are innumerable ways to ease the storage strain.

A good way to start on the road to solving your storage problem is to carefully ascertain what your storage needs actually are. If you've more than two children for example, you must consider space for their clothes over and above the average space available in a typical home.

If you do lots of gardening or have a half-acre of ground you call your own, then, as a general rule, you require additional space, over and above what you normally have. Lots of furniture means lots of slip covers to many homeowners and, in addition to proper mothproofing, storage space should be ample to contain such material in a less-than-jam-packed condition.

A good way to start solving the where-to-store dilemma is by breaking down the types of storage you require into the following six categories: Exterior implements and tools; luggage; summer furniture and related items; clothes; slip covers and related (fabric) items; game or play products; miscellaneous.

In addition to closets, there are many areas in the home which can be used to service your storage requirements. Turn your eyes to the basement, the attic, under-the-stair "dead" space, end-of-the-hall unused space, exterior sheds, over-the-carport space, garage space.

Most important of all of these are the basement and the attic. In fact, the basement has recently been authorized as accredited storage space under FHA requirements.

Making space isn't nearly as difficult or time - consuming as you may have thought, for there are enough labor saving devices now available to you to make even the unhandiest handyman a professional. First off, space can be created by partitioning.

If the area partitioned is one which gets very little traffic or one which is nearly inaccessible or simply out of the way, sliding doors or folding panels can frame-in a sizeable area in which shelves will hold stored items.

Hardware such as the rocket has been made expressly for just such sliding partitions and will efficiently carry either ¾-inch or 1⅜-inch doors. Shelves can be mounted on drawer slides, enabling you to get to areas otherwise completely inaccessible. Built-in wall unit designs, broken down into step-by-step patterns are available through such sources as the Space Saving Institute.

These built-in plans are remarkable in that they find space where space did not appear to exist and they create space in areas where you would have thought it impossible to do so.

While partitioning may, in some cases, answer the storage question, other times the saving grace can turn up in the most unexpected locations. The garage or carport, for example, where a level can be constructed eight feet above the floor and more than ample storage obtained in the crawl or walk-in space above.

Usually the best provider of storage space is the basement—but the trick is not to use basement space indiscriminately — crowding items into exposed areas.

Try to partition in modular space units if possible for most attractive appearance and functional service. Whether the divisions are created by sliding doors, folding jalousie panels or even by draperies on 2200 hardware, basement space can have clean, uncluttered lines and fit comfortably with the decor of the balance of the basement.

Direct access via a basement door will allow you to store exterior materials as well in your partitioned basement space and allow quick, easy access to and from the basement as well.

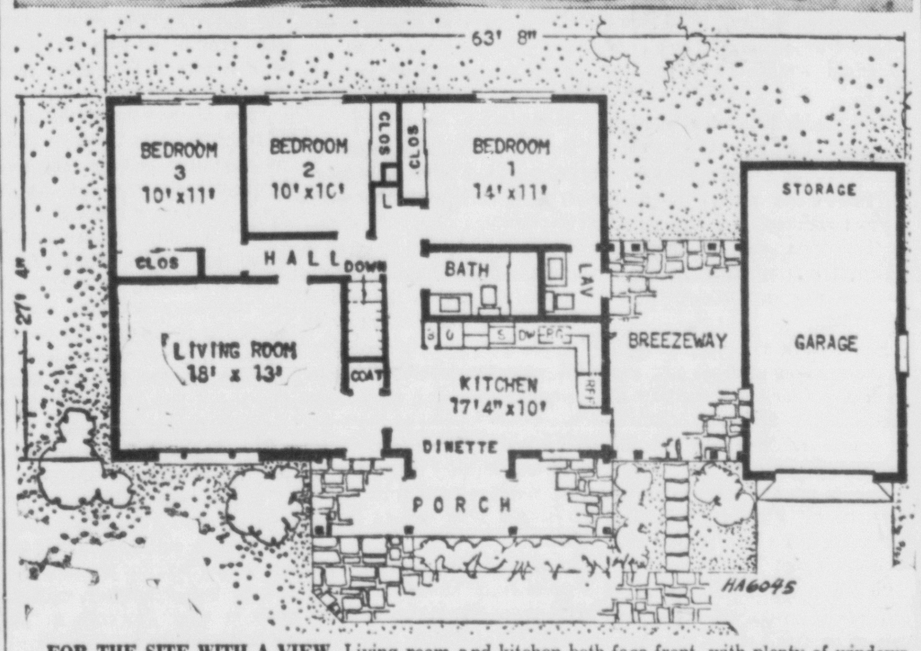

Attics too, are one of the prime storage locales, and here partitioning is again the prime means of capitalization. Whether it be in the form of building cabinets with fronts and sides (but without rear sides) or constructing full-size sliding door closets, there usually is enough space in the attic to even sub-divide closets for different categories of storage items.

Thus you can have one closet for summer furniture covers and other fabric items, another for clothes, yet a third for winter clothes, implements, sleds and skis.

Whether it is at the end of a hall, in the basement or attic, above your car in the garage, above kitchen cabinets, attached to the inside of a closet door, even in an exterior — but insulated shed, storage space isn't as difficult to find as you might believe at first glance. You've just got to look for it.

The Space Saving Institute of 18 E. 60th St., New York, N. Y. has a 24-page color booklet available free titled, "Space Saving Ideas," which will make the "deciding" chore decidedly easier!

FOR THE SITE WITH A VIEW. Living room and kitchen both face front, with plenty of windows for all-day outdoor viewing. Three bedrooms are in back for privacy. The 1,100-square-foot house, which also has attached breezeway and garage, was designed by Derick R. Kipp, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y. Plan HA6045.

Size Of Home Is Increased Almost Without Even Trying

Homeowners have been able to add as much as 100 or 200 square feet of living space to their home without so much as investing more than a few hours labor.

The trick is in being able to ascertain where the "dead" or "non-working" areas are located. Home designers at the Space Saving Institute suggest that the following home areas be checked: Under-the-stair space which, if now unused, can easily be converted to closet storage space; end-of-corridor areas which can be partioned off, again for storage space; and there's no better spot for bed linen storage than under the bed itself (mount a shelf on slides!)

If you haven't already done so, you might put a false front on the area above your kitchen shelves, but below the ceiling and use that space for storing rarely used kitchen implements, dishes, etc.

Bantam hardware will move these small sliding doors most efficiently. If you've a swinging door walk-in closet, you might put shelves on the inside of the door; or if you've given an entire wall to just one piece of furniture you can build around it and create a "framing" of sliding storage units.

"Built-In" blueprints on space saving Wall Desk, Work-Shop or Children's room wall storage unit designed by Bill Baker are available at 10c each from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60th Street, New York 22, New York.

Nail Polish Helps Remove Paint Spots

While turpentine or odorless paint thinner will remove oil or alkyd paint spots while they still are damp or soft — and water will do the same for latex paints — these solvents will not always work after the paint has dried on hands, clothing or other surfaces.

Ordinary nail polish remover often works well on such spots. Let soak for a minute or two, then wipe off. Be sure to test on a corner of the material to be sure the remover does not damage the fabric or color.

Improve Window

Streamline an old bay window by replacing old-fashioned, small-paneled windows with two sliding windows (the size of the bay opening remains the same). A black marble slab, supported by a steel beam, makes a sturdy, wide bench for plants, accessories, or seating. Curtain material is matchstick bamboo.

Painting Is Possible For Aluminum Siding

When you get tired of the color on factory-finished aluminum siding, the easiest way to bring new interest to this material is with a coat of quality house paint.

And it's easy. If the old finish is in good condition, just brush or hose off any surface dirt, dull areas of high gloss with steel wool or sandpaper. Now apply a coat of quality house paint; you have your choice of hundreds of colors in oil-based, alkyd-based or latex house paint.

Use Outdoor Fountain

Outdoor drinking fountain saves muss and fuss where children gather. A 4-foot clay bell-tile is set one foot into the ground. It acts both as support for the supply pipe and as a dry well for the waste water. Slip the tile over the water pipe, then fill with gravel.

Metals Show Price Boosts

CLEVELAND (AP)—Prices are creeping up in the metalworking industry "despite pressures from the government, foreign and domestic competition, and customers," Steel Magazine reported today.

The metalworking weekly said 30 per cent of the metalworking executives contacted in a nationwide survey reported they have raised prices in the last six months Sixty per cent plan increases in the near future.

Nearly 75 per cent of the executies polled said that if the cost of steel goes up they'll boost their prices. The 75 per cent included many who already have announced price increases.

Steel said practically all the upward pressure on prices was blamed on wage costs, which have climbed 11 per cent in the metalworking industry in the last three years.

Labor costs rose in the steel industry Oct. 1 with an automatic pay boost to members of the United steelworkers Union, and it has been widely predicted that steel prices will be increased as a result. Steel Magazine said any price increase probably will be "selective, modest and as unobtrusive as possible."

The publication forecast October shipments of finished steel will approach 6.5 million tons — an 18-month high—despite strikes in the auto industry.

"There's little doubt that automotive steel demand will accelerate later this month when Ford and General Motors are in full production," Steel said. "Until then, steelmakers expect the market to hold at its present level —sustained by requirements of the construction industry, appliance makers, shipbuilders, and capital equipment producers."

The forecast for this week was a slight increase over the estimated 2,080,000 ingot tons of steel produced last week.

You can move a wall on center-hung, continuous ball bearing heavy duty sliding door hardware.

Place Can In Cup To Avoid Paint Drip

Small cans of paint, enamel or varnish are often messy to use because the coating runs down the sides more frequently than on large containers when the brush is tapped against the inner side to remove excess paint.

One way to keep hands cleaner is to place the small can in a large coffee cup or mug.

Accent Wall For Kitchen

Kitchens with a table or dining nook should be decorated so that this area stands apart from the food preparation section.

One of the best ways to achieve this effect is to panel the wall behind the table to contrast with the general decor in the kitchen. For example, if the kitchen is done in a light pastel, the accent wall can be finished with planks in a light woodgrain.

This paneling, which comes in plain colors as well as woodgrains, can be put up right over old walls, solid backing, or framing. It has a permanent plastic surface, which can be damp-wiped clean. Heat, moisture, grease and other stains will not mar plastic-surfaced hardboard.

If this type of paneling is used throughout the kitchen, only an occasional damp wiping is necessary to retain the original finish. It never needs painting or refinishing, so future redecorating bills are eliminated.

To accent the woodgrain accent wall in the dining section, choose curtains and accessories that complement the paneling.

For Sliding Lights

For general lighting in workshop, making a sliding fluorescent fixture. Use two wooden hangers and a length of conduit. Hang the cord from clip - type cafe curtain rings. Warning: these lights can cause moving tools to appear stopped.

Woman's 'Dream Home'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If the average woman designed a dream house what would it look like?

It's a fair guess that she might dream along the lines of a house at Franklin Lakes, N. J., just planned by architect Clothiel Woodard Smith of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Smith denies that she has designed the almost - perfect house because she is a woman.

"There's no reason to think women architects are any smarter than men when it comes to planning a house that pleases a woman," she says modestly. "Or vice versa."

But it takes a woman to think of the romance of a balcony, and to plan one for every member of the family; to give each occupant a private entrance; to put the boy's room next to the laundry where he can dump his salamanders, insects and fossils, to give a teen-age girl a little garden with a fountain pool.

"It's a house where everyone can live as an individual and not step on another's toes," she says, "and when the children go off to college the lower half of the house may be closed off to ease maintenance costs and the parents can use their own floor. People don't want to move away from a house they love, just because they are left alone with it."

"The house is an upside down house," she explains. Living room, master bedroom, dining room and kitchen are upstairs. The children live below.

"There is an arrangement so that groceries can be taken out of the car and put directly into the kitchen; an enormous closet "warehouse" for cumbersome storage and paraphernalia." The architect adds, "The house is functional although that's a nasty word in these traditionally minded times."

The house was planned for an imaginary family of five — a college boy who brings his friends home to the guest room at vacation time, a 16-year-old high school girl and a 12-year-old boy who raises hamsters, designs bird houses and builds model cars. The house plan would not be good if the children were younger, Mrs. Smith points out.

There are no conventional windows. Window walls are of insulated glass.

The living and dining room become one for a large party by removing a divider of transparent cane screens.

A vacuum cleaning system sucks dirt through wall outlets to a central disposal in the garage.

The roof of Terne metal — an aloy of lead and tin on sheet steel — is maintenance free.

A motor - powered dumbwaiter connects the kitchen to the lower level where chlidren, family-guest room and laundry room are located. Guest room beds fold away into double door closets in the walls.

A compact kitchen in the family-guest room serves for snacks on the lower - level. Refrigerator, counter top burners, sink and preparation surfaces are in a small unit.

An 18-foot polished terazzo circle off the lower level of the house is for outdoor dancing. The garden and patio are landscaped for minimum maintenance. Plants are chosen for year round beauty, slow growth and long life. A tool shed is part of the garage structure.

"The major role of the architect should be to translate space for the home planner. The most frequent wails from new owners are 'I didn't know it would be that small,' or 'I didn't realize it would be so big,' " Mrs. Smith says.

She had no difficulty coping with the imaginary problems presented to her by House and Garden Magazine, for whom she designed the home, its 1962 House of Ideas. She has a boy 14, a girl 19, an airedale, turtles and fish.

The Smiths live in a five-story house in downtown Washington.

"Shoemakers children never have shoes," Mrs. Smith laughingly points out in explaining why one with a love for contemporary houses and functional existence lives in what she calls a "1922 verticle rambler."

Ceramic Tile Best Bet For Colorful Fireplace

If you want to give your living room a "new look," then look at the entire fireplace wall first — rather than the room itself.

By simplifying the design of the fireplace such as removing a protruding mantel or modernization bookcases or possibly even paneling over any existing small windows, you can give the whole room a modern appearance.

Determine whether you want to actually "modernize" or just simplify the design of your room.

Easy to install pre-finished wood wall paneling is available in Early American "pegged board" effects as well as contemporary wide-panel strips. The warmth and texture of wood will contrast beautifully with existing plaster walls in the room.

Your best bet for a colorful and practical resurfacing material for hearth and fireplace is ceramic tile.

Safety Check List Offered To Avert Tragedy At Home

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

A high percentage of the nearly 4 million deaths and disabling injuries in American homes each year can be traced to carelessness while indulging in hobbies around the house.

Most of these accidents occur in and around the workshop and the garden, two places which ordinarily contribute so much to enjoyment of leisure. In order to help cut the toll from some hobbies, Dr. John Henderson has issued a safety check list in connection with "Emergencies Don't Wait Week." (Oct. 8-15). Here are his suggestions:

Make certain there is plenty of room for equipment, tools. . .and the hobbyist. Cramped quarters lead to accidents.

Keep workshops free of litter at all times. Floors, particularly, should be cleared of scrap, oil, shavings and any obstacles that could cause tripping or uncertain footing, or fire. Sweep or mop up refuse as you go along and dispose of it safely in metal covered containers.

Keep all tools in a specific, planned, easily identified place when not in use. . .and replace them after use.

Disconnect all power tools when not in use and padlock them if possible. Workshops with power tools should be definitely out of bounds to children unless an adult is on hand to supervise.

Locate power outlets convenient to the user — but out of the easy reach of children.

Paints, acids and other inflammables should be locked safely away in clean, dry cupboards when not in use. . .and should be non-accessible to children.

Any loose clothing — particularly neckties, flowing or loose sleeves and cuffs, should be removed or roled up before workshop tools are used. Clothing caught in power tools can cause fatal accidents.

Goggles should always be used when there is danger of flying splinters or metal shavings.

Never reach toward cutting edges of any tool until power has been turned off and the machine stopped. Don't stand in front of a power saw when cutting.

Read all directions — and follow them. Never try to experiment by using tools for jobs which they were not designed to do.

Vary tasks to avoid fatigue. Monotony leads to carelessness—the prim ecause of accidents.

Take advantage of every built-in safeguard which comes with your equipment — and add more if necessary.

Be certain to have immediately available — in the workshop itself — a first-aid emergency kit.

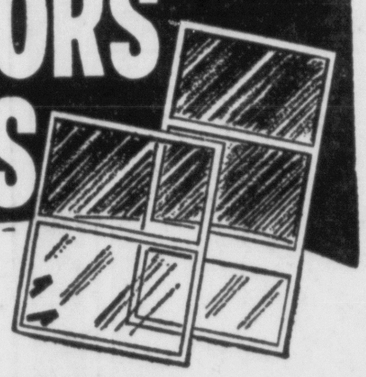

Garden tools, no less than workshop tools, should have a specific place for storage when not in use. . .and should always be returned to that place after use.

All power tools — such as mowers — have safe operating instructions attached. These should be read and not deviated from. In particular, children and pets should be kept safely out of the area where power mowers are being used.

All insecticides, fertilizers and the like should be locked in storage compartments when not in use — and guarded when in use. Poisons should be plainly labeled with written or printed instructions listing specific antidotes.

Lavatory's Not A Sink

Don't call a "lavatory" a "sink" and vice versa when you phone your plumbing contractor.

The importance of using the correct terminology for plumbing fixtures is pointed out by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau in Chicago.

It will help your plumbing contractor to give you quicker and more efficient service if you will use the terms generally used in the industry, the bureau explains.

The "lavatory" is the fixture installed in bathrooms and powder rooms for washing the hands and face. It should not be confused with the fixture in the kitchen which is properly known as a "sink."

The fixture in the bathroom and powder room has two names, both of which are correct. You may call it a "toilet" or a "water closet."

Your plumbing contractor will appreciate it very much if you will use the correct name in calling him for service. Especially if there is an emergency, your correct identification of the location of the trouble may save precious minutes. It will give your contractor a better idea of what tools he will need and what service is required.

Regardless of whether you are calling for service or other information, make sure you contact a reliable plumbing contractor. Keep the name and telephone number of your contractor handy at all times, the Bureau advises.

Home Entertainment Center Easy To Make

More and more homeowners are finding that it's wise to have an entertainment center in their home, from which they can conveniently serve their guests. If you're handy, there's no doubt but that you'll be able to construct a built-in center from plans designed by Bill Baker, nation's leading authority on built-in designs.

The magic feature of this unit will amaze your guests when you open the folding doors and slide out the serving counter. With full access in the back, you can be bartender with more than 12 cu. ft. of storage space for bottles, glasses and mixing supplies.

The upper back bar unit has sliding glass doors and a light fixture installed above it which adds a dramatic touch. The complete plan is available from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60th Street, New York 22, N. Y. Charge is 10c.

Drapery Hardware Types Are Different

A recently conducted survey by design engineers of Grant Pulley & Hardware Corporation indicates that many homeowners do not realize that there's a world of difference between drapery hardware types, and many a window is serviced by drapery hardware which is simply too light and flimsy to do an adequate job.

A 16 page color brochure showing the wide range of drapery hardware styles is available free from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60 Street, New York 22, N. Y.

Draperies Will Cut Window Heat Loss

Did you know that large expanses of window walls may be increasing upkeep due to loss of heat in the winter?

This can be avoided and the solution is easy. Draperies should be installed on these windows because they amply insulate against heat loss in the winter, hide the reflecting glass surface at night and add a decorative touch as well. A 16-page booklet on drapery hardware and its uses is available from the Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60th Street, New York 11, N. Y.

Paint White Stripe For Safety On Stairs

Here's a way to make those treacherous cellar and attic stairs safer:

Paint a one inch white strip off the edge of each tread. This will make missteps less likely.

For a neat job, use masking tape to mark off the one-inch strip and then apply a quality white floor enamel to the area. When the paint is dry, pull off the tape—there are the strips.

One thing more, be sure to provide adequate illumination.

Beautiful Cabinet

Kitchen cabinets can be as handsome as furniture. Natural finished walnut gives the dressed-up look. Suare steel tubing makes legs of contemporary design. Durability comes from the use of laminated plastic for the counter and scuff-free sliding doors on bottom cabinets.

Ever have an otherwise perfect paint job spoiled by wrinkles in the surface? The cause was probably that you applied too heavy a coat. To prevent wrinkles from forming, always brush out fully.

Surprises Plentiful In Latest Grid Action

By The Associated Press

Don't go away...the fun's just started. A college football season already replete with its fair quota of excitement and surprises steams toward the midway point, picking up momentum like a sprung-loose fullback.

This Saturday's program, for example, offers a number of highlights. Notre Dame, returned to elite status in a hurry, takes on Michigan State in a meeting of all-winning teams. Texas carries its perfect record into Arkansas, where the giant-killing Razorbacks are waiting.

Mississippi's rebels, rated first nationally, play Tulane. Third-ranked Alabama meets Tennessee in another Southeastern Conference feature, and Iowa-Wisconsin and Ohio State-Northwestern top the Big Ten card.

Michigan State and Notre Dame had impressive victories Saturday. The Spartans smothered Michigan 28-0 behind Pete Smith's smart quarterbacking. The Irish, eighth nationally, used 22 backs in rolling over and around Southern California 30-0.

Arkansas tripped ninth-ranked Baylor 23-13.

Texas' fourth-ranked Longhorns clouted Oklahoma for the fourth successive year, 28-7. Ole Miss, showing off its platoons of talent crushed Houston 47-7. Pat Trammell guided 'Bama to its 26-7 victory over North Carolina State.

Iowa, second in the nation although riddled by injuries, managed a 27-8 decision over Indiana. Ohio State overwhelmed Illinois 44-0.

In the upset category Saturday —Dick Heydt's placekicking provided Army's margin of victory in its 10-6 conquest of Penn State. California topped Washington 21-14. Two third quarter touchdowns by Roger Holdinsky enabled West Virginia to overcome Pitt 20-6.

Duke, Florida and Nebraska all suffered their first setbacks of the season. A second half surge carried Georgia Tech over Duke 21-0. Rice came from behind twice for a 19-10 victory over Florida. Syracuse beat Nebraska 28-6.

Dartmouth remained undefeated, swamping Brown 34-0. The Indians have registered 92 points to three for the opposition in three starts.

Wellsville Blanks Madonna, 21-0

★ ★ ★ Leyda Scores On 82-Yard Run; Salem Next Foe ★ ★ ★

Invigorated by halfback Mark Leyda's 82-yard touchdown run from scrimmage on the opening play of the game, Wellsville High went on to brush aside Weirton Madonna, 21-0, before a rain-soaked crowd of less than 1,000 Saturday night at Weirton.

The Tigers used long runs and a stiff defense as keys to the victory, their third in six games, in prepping for the annual battle with Salem High this week at Wellsville.

Performing in a steady downpour, Coach Ken Woods' charges struck for two first-period touchdowns and added another in the final quarter to gain the triumph.

The defeat was the fifth in six games for Coach Joe Krivak's young Madonna eleven. Madonna quarterback Stanley Zgurski suffered a broken arm early in the action.

Leyda, 135 - pound junior halfback, hoisted Wellsville ahead on its first play from scrimmage when he cut off left tackle at his own 18 and outran the opposition for an 82-yard scoring run.

Quarterback Roger Ours fired a pass to end Andy Dash for the conversion, one point under West Virginia rules.

Wellsville scored again with 7:06 left in the opening quarter as senior Dave Hall, 140 - pound center, intercepted a Madonna pass and raced it back to the Weirton 23 to provide the opportunity.

A buck moved the ball to the Weirton 21 and the next play found Wellsville halfback Alvin Thompson, 157-pound junior standout, racing 21 yards around right end for a touchdown. Leyda dashed over for the conversion.

Wellsville's third score came with 9:49 left in the game, after regular tackle Alvin Jackson, moved to fullback, sparked a drive to the Madonna 13 on runs of 10 and three yards.

Regular fullback John Euill, operating at halfback, raced around right end for the touchdown. Jackson, 200-pound senior, boomed through the line for the conversion.

Wellsville's defense, anchored by Jackson, tackle Gene Delposen, end Jack Culp, and guard Roger Miller, limited Madonna to 121 yards on the muddy turf. Madonna never threatened seriously the entire game.

Woods used substitutes liberally during the second half and most all the Tiger roster saw action. Ours, injured in the New Philly game, was used sparingly.

Leyda picked up 110 yards in six carries to lead the squad in the ground gaining department. Thompson gained 57 yards in six carries, Euill 41 in six attempts, and Jackson 13 in three charges.

Sub quarterback Jim Reed, 140-pound sophomore, gained 21 yards in four carries for the Tigers.

Canton McKinley Receives 1-Year Football Suspension

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—"Canton McKinley stole one of our football players."

This opening sentence in a letter of complaint from Portsmouth's superintendent of schools has led to a football scandal at Canton McKinley High School.

The letter from Portsmouth Supt. H. W. McKelvey went to the Ohio High School Athletic Association. The OHSAA investigated, apparently found the complaint had some basis of act, and Saturday suspended McKinley from interscholastic football for the 1962-63 school year.

The association's board of control also declared two McKinley football players permanently ineligible for interscholastic athletics at the school.

The two, brothers James and Larry Brown Austin, started practice with the Portsmouth High School football squad last August, then transferred to McKinley.

The OHSAA said the transfer involved a violation of "the undue influence rule."

But Supt. McKelvey was more direct. He said McKinley stole James Austin from right under Portsmouth's nose.

McKelvey, in his letter of Aug. 29, said the alleged theft was accomplished by offering the brothers' unemployed stepfather, Joseph Austin, a job in Canton.

"A couple of weeks ago," the letter said, "two men from Canton McKinley went to their (the Austin's Portsmouth) home and talked to the boy (James) and his stepfather. Mrs. Austin said one of the men was a football coach.

"They offered the father a job and said they would find a place for them to live in Canton. The father wanted to go as he was out of work but the mother did not want to move.

"These men had the father and boy come to Canton. They showed the boy about town, especially the high school and football facilities. They got the father a job and a place to live. The family moved to Canton last Saturday (Aug. 26)."

The OHSAA's investigation, however, showed that three men from Canton met with the Austins. Two were Don Iden Sr. and Don Iden Jr., members of the McKinley Booster Club, and the third was Joseph Cochran, McKinley's assistant football coach and a 1950 graduate of Portsmouth High School.

The text of the OHSAA's investigative report was made public by Paul A. Schott, McKinley principal. He said he plans to appeal the school's suspension "'as soon as possible or as soon as permission is granted me by the superintendent (of Canton schools) or the board of education."

Schott maintained there was no undue influence and "at the worst there can only be claimed there was influence of some type.

"Actually," he went on, "I submit there was no influence of any type exerted and the moving of the parents was a bonafide one."

He labeled the ruling by the OHSAA board of control as "unduly harsh."

Canton's Mayor Charles L. Babock, also thought the suspension was "far too severe." He said he will try to meet today with OHSAA Commissioner William J. McConnell in Columbus "in an effort to have the board lessen its penalty."

The board report summed up the case like this:

A Portsmouth man who knew Cochran told the assistant McKinley coach that Joseph Austin was out of a job and the family was going to move to Canton. The meeting with the stepfather was then set up in late July or early August.

On Aug. 10, Mr. and Mrs. Austin and her sons, James, 15, and Larry, 17, went to Canton and stayed at the home of the McKinley school custodian.

The next day was the all-star high school football game in Canton and James wanted to go. One reason he didn't, the report said, was because it was felt he might be spotted there by Howard Baughman, head football coach at Portsmouth, who was known to be at the game.

The Austin family was shown around town, then returned to Portsmouth where the two brothers started football practice Aug. 18. They worked out for the next week except for two days, when Portsmouth Supt. McKelvey said they were in Canton again. James claimed he and his brother were sick those two days.

On Aug. 26 a truck from Canton arrived at the Austin home, the OHSAA report continued, loaded up most of the family's furniture and took it to Canton. The Austins followed with the rest of their belongings in a trailer.

The report said Joseph Austin was told to seek employment at the Kempthorn Motor Co. in Canton, but it did not say who told him. On Aug. 28 Austin went to the company and was hired as a mechanic at $1.25 an hour.

John Quinn, president of the McKinley Booster Club, had a sales job at Kempthorn's. James Austin said his stepfather was promised a job by Quinn. (However, McKinley Principal Schott said James later denied this.)

The two brothers subsequently enrolled at McKinley. James a sophomore, became a fourth stringer on the football team, and Larry, a senior, became a fifth stringer, according to McKinley Coach Pete Ankney.

But Ankney said neither of the boys played in any games this year. He said James was dressed for the first game, but Larry was not in uniform for any game.

Canton Mayor Goes Before Athletic Assn.

Mayor Charles L. Babcock of Canton went to Columbus this morning to ask the Ohio High School Athletic Association to lessen the one-year suspension on Canton McKinley High School. The board of control of the athletic group Saturday handed down a one - year suspension for the 1962 season to McKinley for the "undue influence rule."

Waterford Ready To Open 43-Day Meeting Saturday

Racing returns to the area Saturday when Waterford Park opens its 43-day fall meeting.

A new post time of 1 p. m. will be observed at Waterford Park for the meeting.

Assuming cold weather during the meeting which runs into December, Waterford has installed overhead heaters in the grandstand area and the clubhouse will be heated.

Racing will be under the direction of Harry Bell, the new racing secretary, who was named to the post after Horace Wade, resigned following this year's summer meeting. Bell had served as an assistant to Wade until he was appointed to the post by President James F. Edwards.

Bell reports the stable area is filling rapidly and a good supply of horses should be on hand for the meeting.

Howard Craig, one of the nation's leading riders, has returned to Waterford Park. He hasn't ridden at the West Virginia track for several years.

Racing fans of this area will remember Craig who was Waterford Park's leading jockey when the plant opened in 1951. He booted home 91 riders in the inaugural meeting.

Craig performed one of the greatest riding feats at Waterford Park. On July 2, 1951, he rode six winners and came back to boot home the first two the following day.

Craig finished the season at River Downs as the leading jockey with a total of 92 wins.

Taylor Leads 49-17 Rout Of Browns

Packers' Fullback Nets 4 TD's, 145 Yards: Steelers Win 1st

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Taylor won his head-to-head duel with Jimmy Brown, and there won't be many dissenting opinions today as to who is the best fullback in the National Football League.

Taylor scored four touchdowns, picked up 145 yards and stretched his lead as the NFL's leading ground gainer as he led the Green Bay Packers to a 49-17 beating of the Cleveland Browns Sunday.

Brown, who has been undisputed king of the NFL rushers the past four years, didn't score and gained only 72 yards in 16 tries. He has now gained 387 yards in 96 carries, while Taylor has rolled up 581 in 81 tries.

But as much as the former Louisiana State star meant to Green Bay, Bill Kilmer did just as much for the San Francisco 49ers, also scoring four times in a 38-24 slugfest over the Minnesota Vikings. The Packers and 49ers are tied for the Western Conference lead with 4-1 records.

New York and Philadelphia are deadlocked for the lead in the East after the Giants routed Dallas 31-10 and Philadelphia won over St. Louis 20-7. Both have 4-1 records as Dallas and Cleveland dropped to second place with 3-2 marks.

Pittsburgh won its first game, 20-0 over Washington, the only NFL club without a win, while Detroit eased by Los Angeles 14-13, and Chicago's resurgent Bears clipped Baltimore 24-10.

Green Bay scored touchdowns the first four times it had the ball, and Taylor got three of them on runs of 25, 7 and 45 yards. Paul Hornung, the NFL's leading scorer, got the other and upped his point totals to 77 with six extra points.

The Browns had not allowed a touchdown on a ground play until Green Bay's tremendous offense rolled in before 75,042 at Cleveland Stadium, the day's largest NFL crowd. When it was finished, the Packers had ground out 216 yards, nailing down the triumph with three third-period touchdowns that were set up by a pass interception and two recovered Browns' fumbles.

The Giants, tied 10-10 at the half, stormed home in the second half behind its great defense. Erich Barnes 101-yard run with an interception of one of Eddie LeBaron's passes paced the assault, while Y. A. Tittle tossed a pair of touchdown passes to Alex Webster and Kyle Rote.

United Just Fails In 14-8 Defeat To League Leaders

SALEM — United made a vain attempt to pull the game out of the fire before falling to West Branch, 14-8, here Saturday night.

West Branch picked up its third straight victory in the Turnpike Conference game and shows a 5-1 record for the season.

United held an 8-6 lead late in the fourth quarter but a 13-yard pass play from West Branch quarterback Chuck Wilson to Norm Wallace netted a touchdown and Wallace tacked on the 2-point conversion.

This gave West Branch a 14-8 lead but United came back strong on a brilliant 70-yard pass play from Larry Marks to Bruce Hoyt which put United on the West Branch 10-yard line with 21 seconds remaining in the game.

Two passes failed and a third was intercepted, with only a few seconds remaining, to end any United hope.

West Branch drew first blood when Dave Knoedler went over from one-yard out in the opening period but the conversion was stopped.

United marched back to take an 8-6 lead in the third quarter. John Hanna from his quarterback position wedged his way over from one-yard out after an intercepted pass had put the Eagles deep in West Branch territory. Marks ran for the two-point conversion that gave United its lead.

The loss was the second straight for the Golden Eagles which had won its first four contests of the season.

United meets Warren St. Mary's in its homecoming game Saturday at 2 p. m.

Plum May Be Out

Brown Didn't Seem Upset

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns lost a game, the league lead and their top quarterback Sunday in a humiliating 49-17 decision to the Green Bay Packers.

But Coach Paul Brown didn't appear too upset by the triple tragedy.

"We took a pretty good shellacking—but in the standings it counts as only one game," was his reaction. "We've won a lot of 'em like that, but they don't count any more than the one-pointers."

And a shellacking it was. The Green Bays scored the first four times they had the ball; they counted six touchdowns rushing—the first this year allowed by the Browns by that method; fullback Jim Taylor scored four times and piled up 158 yards in 21 carries to run off from Cleveland's Jim Brown in the rushing race; and the Browns gave the Packers the last three scores via the pass interception and fumble route.

Milt Plum threw a 21-yard scoring pass to Gern Nagler and a 13-yarder to Ray Renfro—but that came long after Green Bay had the tussle tucked away. Lou Groza booted a 27-yard field goal and missed another from 42, giving him 8 for 10 this season—and that was the extent of the Browns' offense.

Plum, the league's No. 1 passer with 75 completions in 131 tries for 934 yards and 9 touchdowns, suffered a dislocated thumb late in the fray and probably will not see action against Pittsburgh next Sunday. Milt pulled the thumb back in place as he came off the field.

W. Va.'s Win Over Pitt 'Most Rewarding'-Corum

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia University's football team took a well-earned rest today following the Mountaineers second victory in a row, a 20-6 beating of old rival Pitt.

Coach Gene Corum said the day off was given because the season now is half over and the team could use the rest. He said it had nothing to do with beating Pitt.

A motorcycle escort met the Mountaineers at the Mason-Dixon line, about 10 miles north of here, and escorted them back to town Saturday evening.

Corum, elated by the victory, kept repeating, "I'm a happy man." He said it was the "most rewarding" game he had coached in his season-and-a-half at the WVU helm.

But Corum warned against a possible letdown at Boston University next Saturday.

The Terriers are having their troubles and own a 1-3 record, having lost to Army, Penn State and Holy Cross after an opening victory over Buffalo.

"I would rather play Boston when they have a perfect record than when they are going badly," Corum said. Last year, the two teams played to a deadlock.

Fred Colvard, one of the stars of the Pitt victory had seven stitches taken in a cut under his left eye. He was injured when tackled just before the end of the game. He had been shaken up earlier, but returned to action.

Colvard passed to Roger Holdinsky for one Mountaineer touchdown. Holdinsky, a senior speedster from Moundsville, sprinted 31 yards for another TD and Paul Gray recovered a fumble in the Pitt end zone for another.

It was the Mountaineers second straight victory after having gone 18 contests without a win. They now are 2-3 for the season.

Kannal, Campbell Score In Crestview's 16-0 Win

SALINEVILLE — Crestview punched across touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters while holding Salineville scoreless in a 16-0 victory here Saturday.

Gary Kannal scored from one-yard away in the first period and Skip Campbell raced 26 yards to tally Crestview's second touchdown in the fourth quarter.

On both TD's, Rupert added the two-point conversions on runs.

Crestview realized its second victory in six games. Salineville lost its fourth straight encounter and shows one tie for the season.

Salineville entertains Wayne next Saturday afternoon.

Dallas, Buffalo Brawl Marks Action In AFL

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The oldie that "winning isn't everything—it is the only thing" seems to be working in the American Football League for San Diego and K.S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the two-frequently losing Houston Oilers.

San Diego just goes out and wins them all so there'll be no doubt about it.

Adams demands that his team win or else there's a new coach—a tie won't get the job done.

Not even if it's a 31-31 tie that turns into about the wildest, most thrilling offensive struggle of the year.

Adams reportedly told his coach, Lou Rymkus, that he had to beat Boston last Friday night or he was through. Hence the firing of Rymkus since there was only a tie.

Another coach, Frank Filchock of Denver, may have escaped the axe when Jack Hill kicked two field goals in the final three minutes, the last with eight seconds to go, and the Broncos beat Oakland 27-24. Filchock reportedly had been in the same situation as Rymkus.

Dallas had a couple of good ones while losing to Buffalo 27-24 Sunday. It was enough for the Texans to fight about—losing to the likes of Buffalo when a victory could have put Dallas back solidly in the race.

Anyway, twice in the last minutes the benches emptied at Buffalo, and once the linemen just stood across from each other and tried to see how hard and whom they could hit.

San Diego rolled merrily onward with a 25-10 victory over New York. It was San Diego's sixth straight and was achieved like most of the others—on the passing of Jack Kemp and the running of Paul Lowe.

New York's loss did not drop the Titans out of first place in the Eastern Division, but it did cut to a half-game its margin over second-place Buffalo.
